THE Harmony of the Four Gospels in Greek, published in 1845, having been favourably received, I have been requested by many persons whose advice I could not disregard, to prepare a similar Harmony of the Gospels according to the common English Version. This I have attempted to do in the present work.

In the Gospels we have four different narratives of the life and actions of our Lord, by as many different and independent historians. The narrative of John, except during the week of the Saviour's passion, contains very little that is found in either of the other writers. That of Luke, although in its first part and at the close it has much in common with Matthew and Mark, comprises nevertheless in its middle portions a large amount of matter peculiar to Luke alone. Matthew and Mark have in general more resemblance to each other; though Matthew, being more full, presents much that is not found in Mark or Luke; while Mark, though briefer, has some things not contained in any of the rest. The Evangelists were led, under the guidance of the Spirit, to write each with a specific object in view, and for different communities or classes of readers; much as in the case of the authors of the Epistles. Hence, while the narratives all necessarily exhibit a certain degree of likeness, they nevertheless bear also each for itself the stamp of independence.

The four writers vary likewise in their chronological character. On the one hand, it appears, that Mark and John, who have little in common, follow with few exceptions the regular and true order of the events and transactions recorded by them; as may be more fully seen at the close of the Introduction to the Notes. On the other hand, Matthew and Luke manifestly have sometimes not so much had regard to chronological order, as they have been guided by the principle of association; so that in them, transactions having certain relations to each other are not seldom grouped together, though they may have happened at different times and in various places.

Some other diversities in the character and manner of the Evangelists, are pointed out in the Introduction to the Notes.

In view of the preceding considerations, it follows, that in order to obtain a full and consecutive account of all the facts of our Lord's life and ministry, the four Gospel-narratives must be so brought together, as to present as nearly as possible the true chronological order; and, where the same transaction is described by more than one writer, the different accounts must be placed side by side, so as to fill out and supply each other. Such an arrangement affords the only full and perfect survey of all the testimony relating to any and every portion of our Lord's history. In this way alone can be brought out and distinctly presented the mutual connection and dependency of the various parts, and the gradual development and completion of the great plan of redemption, so far as it was manifested in the life and ministry, the death and resurrection, of our Lord Jesus Christ. Yet without such a survey, our knowledge on all these great topics can only be fragmentary and partial.

To afford just the aid here proposed, is the object of a Harmony of the Gospels ; and by this consideration I have been governed in preparing such a work both in Greek and in English. Other uses and advantages, as also the particular objects aimed at in the present volume, are specified near the close of the Introduction to the Notes.

In all the preceding particulars, a Harmony in English is not less useful and important than one in Greek. It is mainly in respect to the verbal parallelisms of the sacred writers, that a comparison in the original language is of greater weight. These of course often disappear in a translation.

In a work of this kind, no great amount of novelty can be expected, on subjects which have more or less occupied the ablest minds of the Church during many centuries. Yet even here, knowledge has not been stationary. In a course of years, and especially within the last half century, there has been great progress in the observation and discovery of new facts and circumstances bearing upon both the social and physical history of the Hebrews and other ancient nations. These all serve to enlarge the circle of Biblical knowledge ; and they often shed light on topics which before were dark or doubtful. The accumulated facts and results of this progress, it is the duty of the Harmonist to apply to the elucidation of the narratives of the four Evangelists. This I have attempted to do in the present, as well as in my former work ; and have endeavoured every where faithfully to judge and write, according to the impressions left upon my mind by a personal inspection of most of the scenes of the Gospel history.

The Sections, and the general arrangement of the Text in this volume, are the same as in the Greek Harmony. The notation of place is every where given ; and may be regarded as a not unimportant feature of the work.

The Notes are for the most part those appended to the Greek Harmony, with such curtailments, additions, and changes, as seemed advisable in order to adapt them to the reader acquainted only with the English tongue. In using the Notes, I would particularly request the reader to search out all the scriptural references; inasmuch as very often they alone contain the evidence on which particular statements rest.

In the Text, I have inserted in two places (Matth. 6, 1. John 5, 2) the marginal reading of the English Version, for the reasons assigned in the Notes, and in accordance with all critical authority at the present day. In a few instances, a merely expletive word, added by the translators in Italic, has been silently dropped.

My hope is, that this little work may be found useful to those who love and seek the truth, in their closets, in families, in Sabbath Schools and Bible Classes. If it shall thus aid in extending the knowledge and influence of God's Holy Word, the object of my labours and prayers will be accomplished.

EDWARD ROBINSON.

UNION THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY,
New-York, July, 1846. }

NOTE.—The only point in the order of time, in which this work differs from the Greek Harmony, is in respect to our Lord's arrival at Bethany "six days before the passover," and the chronology of the passion week. In this I was formerly misled one day, by relying too implicitly upon the authority of the learned Lightfoot.

In the Text, the Dash [—] is used to mark a break or transposition in the order of the verses; and, also, to denote a break or division in single verses.

In the Notes, the work of Josephus on the Jewish Wars is quoted by the initials of its Latin title, viz. B. J. for de Bello Judaico.

PART I.

EVENTS CONNECTED WITH THE BIRTH AND CHILDHOOD OF OUR LORD.

TIME : About thirteen and a half years.

§ 1. Preface to Luke's Gospel.

LUKE I. 1—4.

<sup>2</sup> laration of those things which are most surely believed among us,<sup>1</sup> even as they delivered them unto us, which from the beginning were eye-wit-<sup>3</sup> nesses, and ministers of the word ;<sup>1</sup> it seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write unto thee <sup>4</sup> in order, most excellent Theophilus,<sup>1</sup> that thou mightest know the certainty of those things wherein thou hast been instructed.

§ 2. An Angel appears to Zacharias.—JERUSALEM.

LUKE I. 5—25.

<sup>5</sup> There was in the days of Herod the king of Judea, a certain priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abia : and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabeth. And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless. And they had no child, because that Elisabeth was barren ;
<sup>8</sup> and they both were well stricken in years. And it came to pass, that, while he executed the priest's office before God in the order of his course,
<sup>9</sup> according to the custom of the priest's office, his lot was to burn incense <sup>10</sup> when he went into the temple of the Lord. And the whole multitude of <sup>11</sup> the people were praying without, at the time of incense. And there appeared unto him an angel of the Lord, standing on the right side of the <sup>12</sup> altar of incense. And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and fear <sup>13</sup> fell upon him. But the angel said unto him, Fear not, Zacharias : for thy prayer is heard ; and thy wife Elisabeth shall bear thee a son, and thou <sup>14</sup> shalt call his name John. And thou shalt have joy and gladness, and <sup>15</sup> many shall rejoice at his birth. For he shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink ; and he shall be filled

<sup>17</sup> children of Israel shall he turn to the Lord their God. And he shall go before him in the spirit and power of Elias, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just ; to make <sup>18</sup> ready a people prepared for the Lord.<sup>a</sup> And Zacharias said unto the angel, Whereby shall I know this ? for I am an old man, and my wife well strick-<sup>19</sup> en in years. And the angel answering, said unto him, I am Gabriel, that stand in the presence of God<sup>b</sup>; and am sent to speak unto thee, and to <sup>20</sup> shew thee these glad tidings. And behold thou shalt be dumb, and not able to speak, until the day that these things shall be performed, because thou believest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

<sup>21</sup> And the people waited for Zacharias, and marvelled that he tarried so <sup>22</sup> long in the temple. And when he came out, he could not speak unto them : and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple ; for he <sup>23</sup> beckoned unto them, and remained speechless. And it came to pass, that as soon as the days of his ministration were accomplished, he departed to his own house.

<sup>25</sup> months, saying, Thus hath the Lord dealt with me in the days wherein he looked on me, to take away my reproach among men.

§ 3. An Angel appears to Mary. — NAZARETH.

LUKE I. 26—38.

<sup>26</sup> And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city
<sup>27</sup> of Galilee, named Nazareth,<sup>1</sup> to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David ; and the virgin's name was Mary.
<sup>28</sup> And the angel came in unto her, and said, Hail, thou highly favoured, the <sup>29</sup> Lord is with thee : blessed art thou among women. And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and cast in her mind what manner of <sup>30</sup> salutation this should be. And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary :
<sup>31</sup> for thou hast found favour with God. And behold, thou shalt conceive in <sup>32</sup> thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest ; and the Lord <sup>33</sup> God shall give unto him the throne of his father David. And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever ; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.<sup>b</sup>
<sup>34</sup> Then said Mary unto the angel, How shall this be, seeing I know not a <sup>35</sup> man ? And the angel answered and said unto her, The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee : therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee, shall be called <sup>36</sup> the Son of God. And behold, thy cousin Elisabeth, she hath also conceived a son in her old age ; and this is the sixth month with her who was <sup>37 38</sup> called barren :<sup>1</sup> for with God nothing shall be impossible. And Mary said, Behold the handmaid of the Lord, be it unto me according to thy word. And the angel departed from her.

LUKE I. 39—56.

<sup>39</sup> And Mary arose in those days, and went into the hill-country with haste, <sup>40</sup> into a city of Juda,<sup>1</sup> and entered into the house of Zacharias, and saluted
<sup>41</sup> Elisabeth. And it came to pass, that when Elisabeth heard the salutation <sup>42</sup> of Mary, the babe leaped in her womb: and Elisabeth was filled with the <sup>43</sup> Holy Ghost. And she spake out with a loud voice and said, Blessed art <sup>44</sup> thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb. And whence is <sup>45</sup> this to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me? For lo, as soon as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy. And blessed is she that believed: for there shall be a performance of those things which were told her from the Lord.

<sup>48</sup> rejoiced in God my Saviour. For he hath regarded the low estate of his handmaiden: for behold, from henceforth all generations shall call me <sup>49</sup> blessed. For he that is mighty hath done to me great things; and holy is
<sup>52</sup> proud in the imagination of their hearts. He hath put down the mighty <sup>53</sup> from their seats, and exalted them of low degree. He hath filled the hun-<sup>54</sup> gry with good things, and the rich he hath sent empty away. He hath <sup>55</sup> holpen his servant Israel, in remembrance of his mercy;<sup>1</sup> as he spake to our fathers, to Abraham, and to his seed, for ever.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>56</sup> And Mary abode with her about three months, and returned to her own house.

LUKE I. 57—80.

<sup>57</sup> Now Elisabeth's full time came that she should be delivered; and she <sup>58</sup> brought forth a son. And her neighbours and her cousins heard how the Lord had shewed great mercy upon her; and they rejoiced with her.
<sup>59</sup> And it came to pass, that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the <sup>60</sup> child; and they called him Zacharias, after the name of his father. And <sup>61</sup> his mother answered and said, Not so; but he shall be called John. And they said unto her, There is none of thy kindred that is called by this <sup>62</sup> name. And they made signs to his father, how he would have him called.
<sup>63</sup> And he asked for a writing-table, and wrote, saying, His name is John.
<sup>65</sup> tongue loosed, and he spake, and praised God. And fear came on all that dwelt round about them: and all these sayings were noised abroad <sup>66</sup> throughout all the hill-country of Judea. And all they that heard them, laid them up in their hearts, saying, What manner of child shall this be!
And the hand of the Lord was with him.

<sup>67</sup> And his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Ghost, and prophesied, <sup>68</sup> saying, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel; for he hath visited and redeem-

<sup>71</sup> have been since the world began : ' that we should be saved from our enemies, and from the hand of all that hate us ; ' to perform the mercy promised to our fathers, and to remember his holy covenant ; ' the oath which <sup>74</sup> he sware to our father Abraham,<sup>a</sup> ' that he would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies, might serve him without <sup>75</sup> fear, ' in holiness and righteousness before him all the days of our life. <sup>76</sup> And thou, child, shalt be called the prophet of the Highest, for thou shalt <sup>77</sup> go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways ; ' to give knowledge of <sup>78</sup> salvation unto his people, by the remission of their sins, ' through the tender mercy of our God ; whereby the day-spring from on high hath visited us, <sup>79</sup> to give light to them that sit in darkness and the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace.

<sup>80</sup> And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, and was in the deserts till the day of his shewing unto Israel.

§ 6. An angel appears to Joseph.—NAZARETH.

MATTH. I. 18—25.

<sup>18</sup> Now the birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise: When as his mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, before they came together, she was found <sup>19</sup> with child of the Holy Ghost. Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a public example, was minded to put her away <sup>20</sup> privily. But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in <sup>21</sup> her is of the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt <sup>22</sup> call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins. Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord <sup>23</sup> by the prophet, saying,<sup>b</sup> Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.

<sup>24</sup> Then Joseph, being raised from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord <sup>25</sup> had bidden him, and took unto him his wife: ' and knew her not till she had brought forth her first-born son: and he called his name JESUS.

<sup>1</sup> And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from <sup>2</sup> Cesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. (This taxing was <sup>3</sup> first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.) And all went to be <sup>4</sup> taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of <sup>5</sup> David,) ' to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child. <sup>6</sup> And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished <sup>7</sup> that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling-clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

LUKE II. 8—20.

<sup>8</sup> And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping <sup>9</sup> watch over their flock by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them ; and they were <sup>10</sup> sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not : for behold, I bring <sup>11</sup> you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. <sup>12</sup> And this shall be a sign unto you ; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling-clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel <sup>13</sup> a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men. <sup>14</sup> And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us. And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, <sup>15</sup> and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made <sup>16</sup> known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard, wondered at those things which were told them by the <sup>17</sup> shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her <sup>18</sup> heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

LUKE II. 21—38.

<sup>21</sup> And when eight days were accomplished for the circumcision of the child,<sup>a</sup> his name was called JESUS, which was so named of the angel before he <sup>22</sup> was conceived in the womb. And when the days of her purification according to the law of Moses were accomplished, they brought him to Jerusalem, to present him to the Lord ;<sup>b</sup> (as it is written in the law of the Lord,<sup>b</sup>) Every male that openeth the womb shall be called holy to the Lord ;<sup>c</sup> and to offer a sacrifice according to that which is said in the law of the Lord,<sup>c</sup> A pair of turtle-doves, or two young pigeons. <sup>23</sup> And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon ; and the same man was just and devout, waiting for the consolation of Israel : <sup>24</sup> and the Holy Ghost was upon him. And it was revealed unto him by the Holy Ghost, that he should not see death, before he had seen the Lord's Christ. And he came by the Spirit into the temple ; and when the parents <sup>25</sup> brought in the child Jesus, to do for him after the custom of the law,<sup>b</sup> then <sup>26</sup> took he him up in his arms, and blessed God, and said,<sup>b</sup> Lord, now lettest <sup>27</sup> thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word :<sup>b</sup> for mine eyes <sup>28</sup> have seen thy salvation,<sup>b</sup> which thou hast prepared before the face of all <sup>29</sup> people ;<sup>b</sup> a light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel. <sup>30</sup> And Joseph and his mother marvelled at those things which were spoken <sup>31</sup> of him. And she coming in that instant, gave thanks likewise unto the Lord, and spake of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem.

MATTH. II. 1—12.

<sup>1</sup> Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem,<sup>c</sup> saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews ? for we have seen his star in <sup>3</sup> the east, and are come to worship him. When Herod the king had heard <sup>4</sup> these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born. And they said unto him, <sup>6</sup> In Bethlehem of Judea : for thus it is written by the prophet,<sup>b</sup> And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda : for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel. <sup>7</sup> Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go, and search diligently for the young child ; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also. <sup>9</sup> When they had heard the king, they departed ; and lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the <sup>10</sup> young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding <sup>11</sup> great joy. And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him : and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts ; gold, and <sup>12</sup> frankincense, and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream, that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

<sup>13</sup> And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeareth to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word : for Herod <sup>14</sup> will seek the young child to destroy him. When he arose, he took the young <sup>15</sup> child and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt :<sup>d</sup> and was there until the death of Herod : that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying,<sup>e</sup> Out of Egypt have I called my Son.

<sup>16</sup> Then Herod, when he saw that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the children that were in Bethlehem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently inquired of the wise men.

<sup>17</sup> Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremy the prophet, saying,<sup>a</sup>

<sup>18</sup> In Rama was there a voice heard, lamentation, and weeping, and great mourning, Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they are not.

<sup>19</sup> But when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeareth in a dream to Joseph in Egypt,<sup>1</sup> saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the young child's life. And he arose, and took the young child and his mother, and came into the land of Israel. But when he heard that Archelaus did reign in Judea in the room of his father

Herod, he was afraid to go thither:

And when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their own city Nazareth. And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon him.

<sup>41</sup> Now his parents went to Jerusalem every year at the feast of the passover. <sup>42</sup> And when he was twelve years old, they went up to Jerusalem after the <sup>43</sup> custom of the feast. And when they had fulfilled the days, as they returned, the child Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and Joseph and his mother <sup>44</sup> knew not of it. But they, supposing him to have been in the company, went a day's journey; and they sought him among their kinsfolk and acquaintance. And when they found him not, they turned back again to <sup>46</sup> Jerusalem, seeking him. And it came to pass, that after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing <sup>47</sup> them, and asking them questions. And all that heard him were astonished <sup>48</sup> at his understanding and answers. And when they saw him, they were amazed: and his mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with <sup>49</sup> us? behold, thy father and I have sought thee sorrowing. And he said unto them, How is it that ye sought me? wist ye not that I must be about <sup>50</sup> my Father's business? And they understood not the saying which he spake <sup>51</sup> unto them. And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject unto them: but his mother kept all these sayings in her heart. <sup>52</sup> And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man.

ANNOUNCEMENT AND INTRODUCTION OF OUR LORD'S PUBLIC MINISTRY.

TIME: About one year.

LUKE III. 1—18.

NOW in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Cesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judea, and Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip tetrarch of Iturea and of the region of Trachonitis, and Lysanias the tetrarch of Abilene,<sup>1</sup> Annas and Caiaphas being the high priests, the word of God came unto John the son of Zacharias in <sup>3</sup> the wilderness. And he came into all the country about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance, for the remission of sins;

<sup>1</sup> as it is written in the book of the words of

one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

<sup>5</sup> Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low; and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways made smooth;

<sup>6</sup> and all flesh shall see the salvation of God.

MATTH. III. 1—12.

MARK I. 1—8.

<sup>7</sup> But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees come to his baptism, he said unto them, O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come ?

<sup>18</sup> And many other things in his exhortation preached he unto the people.

<sup>13</sup> Then cometh Jesus from Galilee to Jordan unto John to be baptized of him. But John forbade him, saying, I have need to be baptized of thee, and com-

§ 17. Preface to John's Gospel.

JOHN I. 1—18.

<sup>1</sup> In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the <sup>2</sup> Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was <sup>4</sup> made. In him was life; and the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not. <sup>6</sup> <sup>7</sup> There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through him <sup>8</sup> might believe. He was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that <sup>9</sup> Light. That was the true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh <sup>10</sup> into the world. He was in the world, and the world was made by him, <sup>11</sup> and the world knew him not. He came unto his own, and his own re-<sup>12</sup> ceived him not. But to as many as received him, to them gave he power <sup>13</sup> to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: <sup>c</sup> which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, <sup>24</sup> but of God. And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth.

JOHN I.

15 John bare witness of him, and cried, saying, This was he of whom I spake, He that cometh after me, is preferred before me; for he was before
 16 17 me. And of his fulness have all we received, and grace for grace. For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ.
 18 No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him.

§ 18. Testimony of John the Baptist to Jesus.—BETHABARA BEYOND JORDAN.

JOHN I. 19—34.

19 And this is the record of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites
 20 from Jerusalem, to ask him, Who art thou? And he confessed, and denied 21 not; but confessed, I am not the Christ. And they asked him, What then?
 Art thou Elias? And he saith, I am not. Art thou that prophet? And 22 he answered, No. Then said they unto him, Who art thou? that we may 23 give an answer to them that sent us. What sayest thou of thyself? He said, I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, Make straight the way 24 of the Lord, as said the prophet Esaias.<sup>a</sup> And they which were sent 25 were of the Pharisees. And they asked him, and said unto him, Why baptizest thou then, if thou be not that Christ, nor Elias, neither that 26 prophet? John answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there 27 standeth one among you, whom ye know not: he it is, who coming after me, is preferred before me, whose shoe's latchet I am not worthy to unloose.
 28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Jordan, where John was baptizing.

29 The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the 30 Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world! This is he of whom I said, After me cometh a man which is preferred before me; for he 31 was before me. And I knew him not; but that he should be made manifest to Israel, therefore am I come baptizing with water. And John bare 32 record, saying, I saw the Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and it 33 abode upon him. And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, the same said unto me, Upon whom thou shalt see the Spirit descending and remaining on him, the same is he which baptizeth with the 34 Holy Ghost. And I saw and bare record, that this is the Son of God.

§ 19. Jesus gains Disciples.—THE JORDAN. GALILEE?

JOHN I. 35—51.

35 36 Again the next day after, John stood, and two of his disciples; and 37 looking upon Jesus as he walked, he saith, Behold the Lamb of God! And 38 the two disciples heard him speak, and they followed Jesus. Then Jesus turned, and saw them following, and saith unto them, What seek ye? They said unto him, Rabbi, (which is to say, being interpreted, Master,) where 39 dwellest thou? He saith unto them, Come and see. They came and saw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the tenth 40 hour. One of the two which heard John speak, and followed him, was 41 Andrew, Simon Peter's brother. He first findeth his own brother Simon, and saith unto him, We have found the Messias ; which is, being interpreted, 42 the Christ. ' And he brought him to Jesus. And when Jesus beheld him, he said, Thou art Simon the son of Jona : thou shalt be called Cephas ; which is, by interpretation, a stone.

43 The day following Jesus would go forth into Galilee, and findeth Philip, 44 and saith unto him, Follow me. Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the city of 45 Andrew and Peter. Philip findeth Nathanael, and saith unto him, We have found him of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets, did write, Jesus of 46 Nazareth, the son of Joseph. And Nathanael said unto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth ? Philip saith unto him, Come and see. 47 Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him, and saith of him, Behold an Israelite 48 indeed, in whom is no guile ! Nathanael saith unto him, Whence knowest thou me ? Jesus answered and said unto him, Before that Philip called 49 thee, when thou wast under the fig-tree, I saw thee. Nathanael answered and said unto him, Rabbi, thou art the Son of God ; thou art the King of 50 Israel. Jesus answered and said unto him, Because I said unto thee, I saw thee under the fig-tree, believest thou ? thou shalt see greater things than 51 these. And he saith unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Hereafter ye shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of man.<sup>a</sup>

JOHN II. 1—12.

1 And the third day there was a marriage in Cana of Galilee ; and the mother 2 of Jesus was there. And both Jesus was called, and his disciples, to the 3 marriage. And when they wanted wine, the mother of Jesus saith unto 4 him, They have no wine. Jesus saith unto her, Woman, what have I to 5 do with thee ? mine hour is not yet come. His mother saith unto the ser- 6 vants, Whatsoever he saith unto you do it. And there were set there six 7 water-pots of stone, after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, contain- 8 ing two or three firkins apiece. Jesus saith unto them, Fill the water-pots 9 with water. And they filled them up to the brim. ' And he saith unto them, Draw out now, and bear unto the governor of the feast. And they 10 bare it. When the ruler of the feast had tasted the water that was made 11 wine, and knew not whence it was, (but the servants which drew the water 12 knew,) the governor of the feast called the bridegroom, ' and saith unto him, Every man at the beginning doth set forth good wine ; and when men have well drunk, then that which is worse : but thou hast kept the good 12 wine until now. This beginning of miracles did Jesus in Cana of Galilee, and manifested forth his glory ; and his disciples believed on him.

12 After this he went down to Capernaum, he, and his mother, and his brethren, and his disciples ; and they continued there not many days.

PART III.

OUR LORD'S FIRST PASSOVER, AND THE SUBSEQUENT TRANSACTIONS
UNTIL THE SECOND.

TIME: One year

§ 21. At the Passover Jesus drives the Traders out of the Temple.—JERUSALEM.

JOHN II. 13—25.

13 AND the Jews' passover was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem, 14 and found in the temple those that sold oxen, and sheep, and doves, and 15 the changers of money, sitting. And when he had made a scourge of small 16 cords, he drove them all out of the temple, and the sheep, and the oxen ;
17 and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew the tables ; and said unto them that sold doves, Take these things hence : make not my Father's house an house of merchandise. And his disciples remembered that it was written, The zeal of thine house hath eaten me up. <sup>a</sup>

18 Then answered the Jews, and said unto him, What sign shewest thou unto 19 us, seeing that thou doest these things ? Jesus answered and said unto 20 them, Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up. Then said the Jews, Forty and six years was this temple in building, and wilt thou 21 rear it up in three days ? But he spake of the temple of his body. When therefore he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this unto them : and they believed the scripture, and the word which Jesus had said.

22 Now when he was in Jerusalem at the passover, in the feast-day, many believed in his name, when they saw the miracles which he did. But Jesus 23 did not commit himself unto them, because he knew all men, <sup>1</sup> and needed not that any should testify of man : for he knew what was in man.

§ 22. Our Lord's discourse with Nicodemus.—JERUSALEM.

JOHN III. 1—21.

1 There was a man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews :
2 the same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that

JOHN III.

thou art a teacher come from God : for no man can do these miracles that 3 thou doest, except God be with him. Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see 4 the kingdom of God. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old ? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, 5 and be born ? Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water, and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom 6 of God. That which is born of the flesh, is flesh ; and that which is born
 7 of the Spirit, is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born 8 again. The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth : so is 9 every one that is born of the Spirit. Nicodemus answered and said unto 10 him, How can these things be ? Jesus answered and said unto him, Art 11 thou a master of Israel, and knowest not these things ? Verily, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen ;
 12 and ye receive not our witness. If I have told you earthly things, and ye 13 believe not, how shall ye believe if I tell you of heavenly things ? And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven.

14 And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, <sup>a</sup> even so must the 15 Son of man be lifted up : that whosoever believeth in him should not 16 perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him, should not perish, but 17 have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to con-18 demn the world, but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him, is not condemned : but he that believeth not, is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son 19 of God. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.
 20 For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, 21 lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth, cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God.

§ 23. Jesus remains in Judea and baptizes. Further testimony of John the Baptist.

JOHN III. 22—36.

22 After these things came Jesus and his disciples into the land of Judea ;
 23 and there he tarried with them, and baptized. And John also was baptizing in Ænon, near to Salim, because there was much water there : and they 24 came, and were baptized. For John was not yet cast into prison.
 25 Then there arose a question between some of John's disciples and the 26 Jews, about purifying. And they came unto John, and said unto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jordan, to whom thou barest witness, be-27 hold the same baptizeth, and all men come to him. John answered and 28 said, A man can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven. Ye yourselves bear me witness, that I said, I am not the Christ, but that I am 29 sent before him. He that hath the bride, is the bridegroom : but the friend of the bridegroom, which standeth and heareth him, rejoiceth greatly, because of the bridegroom's voice : this my joy therefore is fulfilled. He must increase, but I must decrease. He that cometh from above is above all : he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth : he that cometh from heaven is above all. And what he hath seen and heard, that he testifieth ; and no man receiveth his testimony. He that hath received his testimony, hath set to his seal that God is true. For he whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God : for God giveth not the Spirit by measure unto him. The Father loveth the Son and hath given all things into his hand. He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life : and he that believeth not the Son, shall not see life ; but the wrath of God abideth on him.

MATTH. IV. 12.

<sup>12</sup> Now, when Jesus had heard that John was cast into prison, he departed into Galilee.

MATTH. XIV. 3—5.

<sup>3</sup> For Herod had laid hold on John, and bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias' sake, his brother Philip's wife.

<sup>4</sup> For John said unto him, It is not lawful for thee to have

MARK I. 14.

<sup>14</sup> Now after that John was put in prison, Jesus came into Galilee.—

MARK VI. 17—20.

<sup>17</sup> For Herod himself had sent forth and laid hold upon John, and bound him in prison for Herodias' sake, his brother Philip's wife : for he had married her.

<sup>18</sup> For John had said unto Herod, It is not lawful for thee to have thy <sup>19</sup> brother's wife. Therefore Herodias had a quarrel against him, and would have killed him ; but she could not : <sup>20</sup> for Herod feared John, knowing that he was a just man and an holy, and observed him : and when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him gladly.

JOHN IV. 1—3.

§ 25. Our Lord's discourse with the Samaritan woman. Many of the Samaritans believe on him.—SHECHEM or NEAPOLIS.

JOHN IV. 4—42.

<sup>4</sup> <sup>5</sup> And he must needs go through Samaria. Then cometh he to a city of Samaria, which is called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground that Jacob gave to his son Joseph. Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore being wearied with his journey, sat thus on the well : and it was about the

JOHN IV.

7 sixth hour. There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jesus
 8 saith unto her, Give me to drink. (For his disciples were gone away unto 9 the city to buy meat.) Then saith the woman of Samaria unto him, How is it that thou, being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a woman of 10 Samaria? for the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans. Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and 11 he would have given thee living water. The woman saith unto him, Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: from whence then hast 12 thou that living water? Art thou greater than our father Jacob, which gave us the well, and drank thereof himself, and his children, and his cattle?
 13 Jesus answered and said unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water shall 14 thirst again: but whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him, shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him, shall be in him a 15 well of water springing up into everlasting life. The woman saith unto him, Sir, give me this water, that I thirst not, neither come hither to draw.
 16 17 Jesus saith unto her, Go call thy husband, and come hither. The woman answered and said, I have no husband. Jesus said unto her, Thou hast 18 well said, I have no husband: for thou hast had five husbands, and he whom thou now hast, is not thy husband: in that saidst thou truly.
 19 20 The woman saith unto him, Sir, I perceive that thou art a prophet. Our fathers worshipped in this mountain; and ye say, that in Jerusalem is the 21 place where men ought to worship. Jesus saith unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor 22 yet at Jerusalem, worship the Father. Ye worship ye know not what: we 23 know what we worship, for salvation is of the Jews. But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit 24 and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him. God is a Spirit:
 25 and they that worship him, must worship him in spirit and in truth. The woman saith unto him, I know that Messias cometh, which is called Christ; 26 when he is come, he will tell us all things. Jesus saith unto her, I that speak unto thee am he.
 27 And upon this came his disciples, and marvelled that he talked with the woman: yet no man said, What seekest thou? or, Why talkest thou with 28 her? The woman then left her water-pot, and went her way into the city, 29 and saith to the men, Come, see a man which told me all things that ever 30 I did: is not this the Christ? Then went they out of the city, and came unto him.
 31 32 In the mean while his disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eat. But 33 he said unto them, I have meat to eat that ye know not of. Therefore said the disciples one to another, Hath any man brought him ought to eat?
 34 Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to 35 finish his work. Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; 36 for they are white already to harvest. And he that receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth, and 37 he that reapeth, may rejoice together. And herein is that saying true, One 38 soweth, and another reapeth. I sent you to reap that whereon ye bestowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entered into their labours.
 39 And many of the Samaritans of that city believed on him for the saying 40 of the woman, which testified, He told me all that ever I did. So when the Samaritans were come unto him, they besought him that he would tarry 41 with them: and he abode there two days. And many more believed be-

JOHN IV. 43—45.

43 44 Now, after two days he departed thence, and went into Galilee. For Jesus himself testified, that a prophet hath no honour in his own country.

§ 27. Jesus again at Cana, where he heals the son of a Nobleman lying ill at Capernaum.—CANA OF GALILEE.

JOHN IV. 46—54.

46 So Jesus came again into Cana of Galilee, where he made the water wine. And there was a certain nobleman, whose son was sick at Caper-
47 naum. When he heard that Jesus was come out of Judea into Galilee, he went unto him, and besought him that he would come down, and heal his 48 son : for he was at the point of death. Then said Jesus unto him, Except 49 ye see signs and wonders, ye will not believe. The nobleman saith unto 50 him, Sir, come down ere my child die. Jesus saith unto him, Go thy way ; thy son liveth. And the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto 51 him, and he went his way. And as he was now going down, his servants
52 met him, and told him, saying, Thy son liveth. Then inquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday at 53 the seventh hour the fever left him. So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth : and himself
54 believed, and his whole house. This is again the second miracle that Jesus did, when he was come out of Judea into Galilee.

§ 28. Jesus at Nazareth ; he is there rejected ; and fixes his abode at Capernaum.

LUKE IV. 16—31.

16 And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up : and, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the sabbath-day, and stood up
17 for to read. And there was delivered unto him the book of the prophet Esaias. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it

And he closed the book, and he gave it again to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him. And he began to say unto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears.

<sup>22</sup> And all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth. And they said, Is not this Joseph's son ?
<sup>23</sup> And he said unto them, Ye will surely say unto me this proverb, Physician, heal thyself: whatsoever we have heard done in Capernaum, do also here in thy country. And he said, Verily I say unto you, No prophet is accepted in his own country. But I tell you of a truth, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elias, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, when great famine was throughout all the land : <sup>1</sup> but unto none of them was Elias sent, save unto Sarepta, a city of Sidon, unto a woman <sup>27</sup> that was a widow. <sup>b</sup> And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Eliseus the prophet ; and none of them was cleansed, saving Naaman the Syrian. <sup>c</sup>
<sup>23</sup> And all they in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled <sup>29</sup> with wrath, <sup>1</sup> and rose up, and thrust him out of the city, and led him unto the brow of the hill, whereon their city was built, that they might cast him down

And he entered into one of the ships, which was Simon's, and prayed him that he would thrust out a little from the land. <sup>4</sup> And he sat down, and taught the people out of the ship. <sup>1</sup> Now, when he had left speaking, he said unto Simon, Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught. § 31. The healing of Peter's wife's mother, and many others.—CAPERNAUM.

MATTH. VIII. 14—17.

he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever.

JOHN V. 1—47.

<sup>1</sup> AFTER this there was a feast of the Jews: and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. Now there is at Jerusalem, by the sheep gate, a pool, which <sup>2</sup> is called in the Hebrew tongue, Bethesda, having five porches. In these <sup>3</sup> lay a great multitude of impotent folk, of blind, halt, withered, waiting for <sup>4</sup> the moving of the water. For an angel went down at a certain season into the pool, and troubled the water: whosoever then first after the troubling of the water stepped in, was made whole of whatsoever disease he had. <sup>5</sup> And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight <sup>6</sup> years. When Jesus saw him lie, and knew that he had been now a long <sup>7</sup> time in that case, he saith unto him, Wilt thou be made whole? The impotent man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another steppeth down <sup>8</sup> before me. Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. <sup>9</sup> And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and on the same day was the sabbath. <sup>10</sup> The Jews therefore said unto him that was cured, It is the sabbath-day; <sup>11</sup> it is not lawful for thee to carry thy bed. He answered them, He that made me whole, the same said unto me, Take up thy bed, and walk. <sup>12</sup> Then asked they him, What man is that which said unto thee, Take up <sup>13</sup> thy bed, and walk? And he that was healed wist not who it was: for <sup>14</sup> Jesus had conveyed himself away, a multitude being in that place. Afterward Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art <sup>15</sup> made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee. The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus which had made him whole. <sup>16</sup> And therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the sabbath-day.

JOHN V.

17 But Jesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work.
 18 Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, because he not only had 19 broken the sabbath, but said also, that God was his Father, making himself equal with God. Then answered Jesus, and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise. For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth: and he will shew him greater works than these, that ye may 21 marvel. For as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them;
 22 even so the Son quickeneth whom he will. For the Father judgeth no 23 man; but hath committed all judgment unto the Son: 'that all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not 24 the Son, honoureth not the Father which hath sent him. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed 25 from death unto life. Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and 26 they that hear shall live. For as the Father hath life in himself, so hath 27 he given to the Son to have life in himself; ' and hath given him authority 28 to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man. Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear 29 his voice, ' and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of dam-30 nation.<sup>a</sup> I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me.

31 32 If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true. There is another that beareth witness of me, and I know that the witness which he witness-33 eth of me is true. Ye sent unto John, and he bare witness unto the truth.
 34 But I receive not testimony from man: but these things I say, that ye 35 might be saved. He was a burning and a shining light: and ye were willing for a season to rejoice in his light.

36 But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of 37 me, that the Father hath sent me. And the Father himself which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at 39 any time, nor seen his shape. And ye have not his word abiding in you:
 39 for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not. Search the scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me.
 40 And ye will not come to me, that ye might have life.

41 42 I receive not honour from men. But I know you, that ye have not the 43 love of God in you. I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me 44 not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive. How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and seek not the 45 honour that cometh from God only? Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye 46 trust. For had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me: for he 47 wrote of me. But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words?

MATTH. XII. 1—8.

1 At that time Jesus went on the sabbath-day through the corn, and his disciples were an hungered, and began to pluck the ears of corn, and to eat.*
 2 But when the Pharisees saw it, they said unto him, Behold, thy disciples do that which is not lawful to do upon
 3 the sabbath-day. But he said unto them, Have ye not read what David did, when he was an hungered, and they that were with him,<sup>b</sup>
 4 how he entered into the house of God, and did eat the shew-bread, which was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but only for 5 the priests? Or have ye not read in the law<sup>c</sup> how that on the sabbath-days the priests in the temple profane the sabbath, and
 6 are blameless? But I say unto you, that in this place is one greater 7 than the temple. But if ye had known what this meaneth, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice,<sup>d</sup> ye would not have condemned the guiltless.
 8 For the Son of man is Lord even of the sabbath-day.

MARK II. 23—28.

23 And it came to pass, that he went through the corn-fields on the sabbath-day; and his disciples began, as they went, to pluck the ears of corn.* And the Pharisees said unto him, Behold, why do they on the sabbath-day that which is not lawful?
 25 And he said unto them, Have ye never read what David did, when he had need, and was an hungered, he and they that were with him;<sup>b</sup> how he went into the house of God, in the days of Abiathar the high-priest, and did eat the shew-bread, which is not lawful to eat, but for the priests, and gave also to them which were with him?

LUKE VI. 1—5.

1 And it came to pass on the second sabbath after the first, that he went through the corn-fields; and his disciples plucked the ears of corn, and did eat, rubbing them in their hands.*<sup>a</sup> And certain of the Pharisees said unto them, Why do ye that which is not lawful to do on the sabbath-days? And Jesus answering them, said, Have ye not read so much as this, what David did, when himself was an hungered, and they which were with him;<sup>b</sup> how he went into the house of God, and did take and eat the shew-bread, and gave also to them that were with him, which it is not lawful to eat but for the priests alone?

MATTH. XII. 9—14.

9 And when he was departed thence, he went into their synagogue. And behold, there was a man which had his hand withered. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath-days? that they might accuse him.

8 that they might find an accusation against him. But he knew their thoughts, and said

11 And he said unto them, What man shall there be among you, that shall have one sheep, and if it fall into a pit on the sabbath-day, will he not lay hold on it, and 12 lift it out? How much then is a man better than a sheep? Wherefore it is lawful to do well on the sabbath-days.

13 Then saith he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth; and it was restored whole, like as the other.

14 Then the Pharisees went out, and held a council against him, how they might destroy him.

MARK III. 1—6.

1 And he entered again into the synagogue; and there was a man there which had a 2 withered hand. And they watched him, whether he would heal him on the sabbath-day; that they might accuse him.

LUKE VI. 20—49.

- <sup>1</sup> And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto <sup>2</sup> him. And he opened his mouth, <sup>3</sup> and taught them, saying, <sup>1</sup> Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is <sup>4</sup> the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall <sup>5</sup> be comforted. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the <sup>6</sup> earth.<sup>a</sup> Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. <sup>7</sup> <sup>8</sup> Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. Blessed are the peace-makers: for they shall be called the children of God. Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. <sup>11</sup> Blessed are ye when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against <sup>12</sup> you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.
- <sup>22</sup> Blessed are ye when men shall hate you, and when they shall separate you from their company, and shall reproach you, and cast out your name as evil, for the Son of man's <sup>23</sup> sake. Rejoice ye in that day, and leap for joy: for behold, your reward is great in heaven: for in the like manner did their fathers unto <sup>24</sup> the prophets. But wo unto you that are rich! for ye have received your <sup>25</sup> consolation. Wo unto you that are full! for ye shall hunger. Wo unto <sup>26</sup> you that laugh now! for ye shall mourn and weep. Wo unto you, when all men shall speak well of you! for so did their fathers to the false prophets.
- MATTH. V.
- <sup>13</sup> Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, where-with shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast <sup>14</sup> out, and to be trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. <sup>15</sup> A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid. <sup>1</sup> Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick: and it giveth light unto all <sup>16</sup> that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. <sup>17</sup> Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not <sup>18</sup> come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily, I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be

Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do, and teach them, the same shall be called <sup>20</sup> great in the kingdom of heaven. For I say unto you, that except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.

<sup>21</sup> Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time,<sup>a</sup> Thou shalt not <sup>22</sup> kill; and whosoever shall kill, shall be in danger of the judgment. But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause, shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou <sup>23</sup> fool, shall be in danger of hell-fire. Therefore, if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath aught against thee, <sup>24</sup> leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift. Agree with thine adversary quickly, while thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and <sup>26</sup> thou be cast into prison. Verily, I say unto thee, Thou shalt by no means come out thence, till thou hast paid the uttermost farthing.

<sup>43</sup> Ye have heard that it hath been said,<sup>a</sup> Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy.

<sup>44</sup> But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use taketh away thy goods, ask them not again.

<sup>27</sup> —But I say unto you which hear, Love your enemies, do good to them which hate you, bless them that curse you, and pray for them which despitefully use you.—

For if ye love them which love you, what thank have ye? for sinners also love those that love them. And if ye do good to them which do good to you, what thank have ye? for sinners also do

<sup>34</sup> even the same. And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank have ye? for sinners also lend

<sup>35</sup> to sinners, to receive as much again. But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil.

Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful.

VI.<sup>1</sup> Take heed that ye do not show your righteousness before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.

<sup>2</sup> Therefore, when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do, in the synagogues, and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily, I say unto you, They have their reward.

<sup>5</sup> And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues, and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily, I say unto you, They have their

<sup>6</sup> reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father, which is in secret; and thy

<sup>7</sup> Father, which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly. But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they

<sup>8</sup> shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask

<sup>10</sup> heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done

<sup>11</sup> <sup>12</sup> in earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And for-

<sup>14</sup> and the glory, for ever. Amen. For, if ye forgive men their trespasses, <sup>15</sup> your heavenly Father will also forgive you: ' but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

<sup>16</sup> Moreover, when ye fast, be not as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance:
 for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. Verily, <sup>17</sup> I say unto you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou fastest, <sup>18</sup> anoint thine head, and wash thy face; ' that thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father, which is in secret: and thy Father, which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

<sup>19</sup> Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth <sup>20</sup> corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: ' but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and
<sup>22</sup> there will your heart be also. The light of the body is the eye: if there-<sup>23</sup> fore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!

<sup>24</sup> No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye can-<sup>25</sup> not serve God and mammon. Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body <sup>26</sup> than raiment? Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them.

<sup>27</sup> Are ye not much better than they? ' Which of you by taking thought can <sup>28</sup> add one cubit unto his stature? And why take ye thought for raiment?
 Consider the lilies of the field how they grow; they toil not, neither do
<sup>29</sup> they spin; ' and yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory <sup>30</sup> was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to-day is, and to-morrow is cast into the oven, shall he <sup>31</sup> not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall <sup>32</sup> we be clothed? ' (for after all these things do the Gentiles seek,) for your <sup>33</sup> heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek <sup>34</sup> ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

LUKE VII. 18—35.

<sup>2</sup> Now when John had heard in the prison the works of Christ, he sent <sup>3</sup> two of his disciples, ' and said unto him, Art thou he that should come, or do we look for another?

<sup>18</sup> And the disciples of John shewed him of all these things. And John, calling unto him two of his disciples, sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look

<sup>20</sup> we for another? When the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? And in that same hour he cured many of their infirmities, and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were

<sup>4</sup> Jesus answered and said unto them, Go and shew John again those things
<sup>5</sup> which ye do hear and see: ' the blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel

MATTH. XI.

<sup>7</sup> And as they departed, Jesus began to say unto the multitudes concerning John, What went ye out into the wilderness to see ? A reed shaken <sup>8</sup> with the wind ? But what went ye out for to see ? A man clothed in soft raiment ? Behold, they that wear soft clothing are in kings' houses.

<sup>9</sup> But what went ye out for to see ? A prophet ? yea, I say unto you, and <sup>10</sup> more than a prophet. For this is he, of whom it is written,<sup>a</sup> Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before <sup>11</sup> thee. Verily, I say unto you, Among them that are born of women, there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist : notwithstanding, he that is least in the kingdom of <sup>12</sup> heaven, is greater than he. And from the days of John the Baptist, until now, the kingdom of heaven suffereth violence, and the violent <sup>13</sup> take it by force. For all the prophets and the law prophesied until <sup>14</sup> John. And if ye will receive it, this is Elias which was for to come.<sup>b</sup> <sup>15</sup> He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

<sup>19</sup> The Son of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold, a man gluttonous, and a wine-bibber, a friend of publicans and sinners. But wisdom is justified of her children.

LUKE VII.

<sup>24</sup> And when the messengers of John were departed, he began to speak unto the people concerning John, What went ye out into the wilderness for to see ? A reed shaken <sup>25</sup> with the wind ? But what went ye out for to see ? A man clothed in soft raiment ? Behold, they which are gorgeously apparelled, and live delicately, are in kings' courts. <sup>26</sup> But what went ye out for to see ? A prophet ? Yea, I say unto you, and much more than a prophet. <sup>27</sup> This is he, of whom it is written,<sup>a</sup> Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy <sup>28</sup> way before thee. For I say unto you, Among those that are born of women, there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist : but he that is least in the kingdom of God, <sup>29</sup> is greater than he. (And all the people that heard him, and the publicans, justified God, being baptized <sup>30</sup> with the baptism of John. But the Pharisees and lawyers rejected the counsel of God against themselves, being not baptized of him.)

<sup>31</sup> And the Lord said, Whereunto then shall I liken the men of this generation ? and to what are they <sup>32</sup> like ? They are like unto children sitting in the market-place, and calling one to another, and saying, We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced ; we have mourned to <sup>33</sup> you, and ye have not wept. For John the Baptist came neither eating bread, nor drinking wine, and <sup>34</sup> ye say, He hath a devil. § 45. Reflections of Jesus on appealing to his mighty Works.—CAPERNAUM?

MATTH. XI. 20—30.

20 Then began he to upbraid the cities wherein most of his mighty works 21 were done, because they repented not. Wo unto thee, Chorazin ! wo unto thee, Bethsaida ! for if the mighty works which were done in you 22 had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in 23 sackcloth and ashes. But I say unto you, It shall be more tolerable for 24 Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment, than for you. And thou, Caper-naum, which art exalted unto heaven, shalt be brought down to hell : for 25 if the mighty works which have been done in thee, had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day. But I say unto you, that it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom, in the day of judgment, than for thee.

25 At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of 26 heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes. Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in thy sight. All things are delivered unto me of my Father ; 27 and no man knoweth the Son, but the Father ; neither knoweth any man the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him.

28 Come unto me, all ye that labour, and are heavy laden, and I will give you 29 rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me : for I am meek and lowly 30 in heart ; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.

§ 46. While sitting at meat with a Pharisee, Jesus is anointed by a woman who had been a sinner.—CAPERNAUM?

LUKE VII. 36—50.

36 And one of the Pharisees desired him that he would eat with him. And 37 he went into the Pharisee's house, and sat down to meat. And behold, a woman in the city, which was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at 38 meat in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster-box of ointment, ' and stood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to wash his feet with tears, and did wipe them with the hairs of her head, and kissed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment.

39 Now, when the Pharisee which had bidden him, saw it, he spake within himself, saying, This man, if he were a prophet, would have known who, and what manner of woman this is that toucheth him : for she is a sinner.

40 And Jesus answering, said unto him, Simon, I have somewhat to say unto 41 thee. And he saith, Master, say on. ' There was a certain creditor, which had two debtors : the one owed five hundred pence, and the other 42 fifty. And when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both.

43 Tell me therefore, which of them will love him most ? ' Simon answered and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgave most. And he said unto 44 him, Thou hast rightly judged. And he turned to the woman, and said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman ? I entered into thine house, thou gavest me no water for my feet : but she hath washed my feet with tears, 45 and wiped them with the hairs of her head. Thou gavest me no kiss : but this woman, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kiss my feet.

46 Mine head with oil thou didst not anoint : but this woman hath anointed 47 my feet with ointment. Wherefore, I say unto thee, Her sins, which are

LUKE VII.

many, are forgiven ; for she loved much : but to whom little is forgiven, <sup>48</sup> the same loveth little. And he said unto her, Thy sins are forgiven.
<sup>49</sup> And they that sat at meat with him, began to say within themselves, <sup>50</sup> Who is this that forgiveth sins also ? And he said to the woman, Thy faith hath saved thee ; go in peace.

§ 47. Jesus, with the Twelve, makes a second circuit in Galilee.

LUKE VIII. 1—3.

<sup>1</sup> And it came to pass afterward, that he went throughout every city and village, preaching and shewing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God : <sup>2</sup> and the twelve were with him, <sup>1</sup> and certain women, which had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities, Mary called Magdalene, out of whom <sup>3</sup> went seven devils, <sup>1</sup> and Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others, which ministered unto him of their substance.

<sup>19</sup> <sup>20</sup> —And they went into an house. And the multitude cometh together <sup>21</sup> again, so that they could not so much as eat bread. And when his friends heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they said, He is beside himself.

MATTH. XII. 22—37.

LUKE XI. 14, 15, 17—23.

<sup>22</sup> Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind and dumb ; and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake <sup>14</sup> And he was casting out a devil, and it was dumb. And it came to <sup>23</sup> and saw. And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the son of David ? <sup>15</sup> And it was dumb. And it came to pass when the devil was gone out, the dumb spake ; and the <sup>24</sup> But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of the devils. <sup>22</sup> And the scribes which came down from Jerusalem, said, He hath Beelzebub, and by the prince of the devils cast-<sup>23</sup> eth he out devils. And <sup>17</sup> But he, knowing their thoughts, said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself, is brought to desolation ; and a house di-vided against a house, falleth. If Satan also be divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand ? because ye say that I cast out devils through Beel-<sup>25</sup> cannot stand. therefore they shall be your judges. therefore shall they be your judges.

<sup>28</sup> But if I cast out devils by the Spirit <sup>20</sup> But if I with the finger of God cast of God, then the kingdom of God out devils, no doubt the kingdom of is come unto you.

<sup>29</sup> Or else, how can one <sup>27</sup> No man can enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods, except he first bind the strong man ? and then he will spoil his house.

<sup>21</sup> When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, his goods are in except he will first bind the strong man ; and then he will spoil his house.

and overcometh him, he taketh from him all his armour wherein he trusted, and divideth his spoils.

<sup>23</sup> He that is not with me is against me : and he that gathereth not with me scattereth.

MARK III.

<sup>31</sup> Wherefore I say unto you, All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men : but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall <sup>32</sup> not be forgiven unto men. And whosoever speaketh a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him : but whosoever speaketh against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come.

<sup>33</sup> Either make the tree good, and his fruit good ; or else make the tree

<sup>36</sup> out of the evil treasure, bringeth forth evil things. But I say unto you, That every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof

<sup>37</sup> in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.

<sup>28</sup> Verily I say unto you, All sins shall be forgiven unto the sons of men, and blasphemies wherewith soever they <sup>29</sup> shall blaspheme : but he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation. Because they said, He hath an unclean spirit.

- there shall no sign be given to it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas.
<sup>40</sup> For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly; <sup>a</sup> so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart

<sup>33</sup> No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a secret place, neither under a bushel, but on a candlestick, that they which come in may see the light. The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light; but when thine eye is evil, thy body also is full of darkness. Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee be not darkness. If thy whole body therefore be full of light, having no part dark, the whole shall be full of light; as when the bright shining of a candle doth give thee light.—
<sup>48</sup> When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest, and findeth none. Then he saith, I will return into mine house from whence I came out; and when he is come, he findeth it empty, swept, and garnished.
<sup>44</sup> Then goeth he, and taketh with himself seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter in and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first. Even so shall it be also unto this wicked generation.

§ 50. The true Disciples of Christ his nearest relatives.—GALILEE.

MATTH. XII. 46—50.

<sup>46</sup> While he yet talked to the people, behold, his mother and his brethren stood without, desiring to speak with him. Then one said unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to speak with thee. But he answered and said unto him that told him, Who is my mother? and who are my brethren? <sup>49</sup> And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples, and said, Behold my mother and <sup>50</sup> my brethren! For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother.

MARK III. 31—35.

<sup>31</sup> There came then his brethren and his mother, and standing without, sent unto him, calling him. And the multitude sat about him; and they said unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren without seek for thee. <sup>33</sup> And he answered them, saying,

Who is my mother, or my brethren?

<sup>34</sup> And he looked round about on them which sat about him, and said, Behold my mother and my <sup>35</sup> brethren! For whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother, and my sister, and mother.

LUKE VIII. 19—21.

<sup>19</sup> Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come at him for the press. <sup>20</sup> And it was told him by certain, which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to see thee. <sup>21</sup> And he answered and said unto them,

My mother and my brethren are these which hear the word of God, and do it.

LUKE XI. 37—54.

<sup>37</sup> And as he spake, a certain Pharisee besought him to dine with him: and <sup>38</sup> he went in and sat down to meat. And when the Pharisee saw it, he mar-<sup>39</sup> velled that he had not first washed before dinner. And the Lord said unto him, Now do ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter; <sup>40</sup> but your inward part is full of ravening and wickedness. Ye fools, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within also? <sup>41</sup> But rather give alms of such things as ye have; and behold, all things are <sup>42</sup> clean unto you. But wo unto you, Pharisees! for ye tithe mint, and rue, and all manner of herbs, and pass over judgment and the love of God: <sup>43</sup> these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone. Wo unto you, Pharisees! for ye love the uppermost seats in the synagogues, and <sup>44</sup> greetings in the markets. Wo unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye are as graves which appear not, and the men that walk over them are not aware of them.

<sup>45</sup> Then answered one of the lawyers, and said unto him, Master, thus say-<sup>46</sup> ing, thou reproachest us also. And he said, Wo unto you also, ye lawyers! for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch <sup>47</sup> not the burdens with one of your fingers. Wo unto you! for ye build the <sup>48</sup> sepulchres of the prophets, and your fathers killed them. Truly ye bear witness, that ye allow the deeds of your fathers: for they indeed killed them, and ye build their sepulchres. Therefore also said the wisdom of God, I will send them prophets and apostles, and some of them they shall slay and persecute: <sup>1</sup> that the blood of all the prophets, which was shed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation; <sup>1</sup> from the blood of Abel unto the blood of Zacharias, which perished between the altar and the temple: <sup>2</sup> verily I say unto you, It shall be required of this generation. Wo unto you, lawyers! for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in <sup>3</sup> ye hindered. And as he said these things unto them, the scribes and the Pharisees began to urge him vehemently, and to provoke him to speak of <sup>4</sup> many things; <sup>1</sup> laying wait for him, and seeking to catch something out of his mouth, that they might accuse him.

LUKE XI.

§ 52. Jesus discourses to his Disciples and the multitude.—GALILEE.

LUKE XII. 1—59.

<sup>1</sup> In the mean time, when there were gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, insomuch that they trode one upon another, he began to say unto his disciples first of all, Beware ye of the leaven of the Pharisees, <sup>2</sup> which is hypocrisy. For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known. Therefore, whatsoever ye have spoken in darkness, shall be heard in the light; and that which ye have spoken in the ear in closets, shall be proclaimed upon the house-tops. <sup>4</sup> And I say unto you, my friends, Be not afraid of them that kill the body, <sup>5</sup> and after that, have no more that they can do. But I will forewarn you whom ye shall fear: Fear him, which after he hath killed, hath power to cast into hell; yea, I say unto you, Fear him. Are not five sparrows sold <sup>7</sup> for two farthings, and not one of them is forgotten before God? But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore: ye <sup>8</sup> are of more value than many sparrows. Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess before <sup>9</sup> the angels of God. But he that denieth me before men, shall be denied <sup>10</sup> before the angels of God. And whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but unto him that blasphemeth <sup>11</sup> against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven. And when they bring you unto the synagogues, and unto magistrates, and powers, take ye <sup>12</sup> no thought how or what thing ye shall answer, or what ye shall say: <sup>1</sup> for the Holy Ghost shall teach you in the same hour what ye ought to say. <sup>13</sup> And one of the company said unto him, Master, speak to my brother, <sup>14</sup> that he divide the inheritance with me. And he said unto him, Man, who <sup>15</sup> made me a judge, or a divider over you? And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth. And he spake a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully: <sup>17</sup> and he thought within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I <sup>18</sup> have no room where to bestow my fruits? And he said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my <sup>19</sup> fruits and my goods. And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry.

LUKE XII.

<sup>20</sup> But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be which thou hast provided? So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.

<sup>21</sup> And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on. The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment.

<sup>22</sup> Consider the ravens: for they neither sow nor reap: which neither have store-house, nor barn; and God feedeth them. How much more are ye better than the fowls? And which of you with taking thought can add to his stature one cubit? If ye then be not able to do that thing which is least, why take ye thought for the rest? Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not: and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. If then God so clothe the grass, which is to-day in the field, and to-morrow is cast into the oven; how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith? And seek not ye what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind. For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things. But rather seek ye the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you.

<sup>23</sup> Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom. Sell that ye have, and give alms: provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning; and ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their lord, when he will return from the wedding; that, when he cometh and knocketh, they may open unto him immediately. Blessed are those servants, whom the lord when he cometh shall find watching: verily, I say unto you, that he shall gird himself, and make them to sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them. And if he shall come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and find them so, blessed are those servants.

<sup>24</sup> And this know, that if the good man of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched, and not have suffered his house to be broken through. Be ye therefore ready also: for the Son of man cometh at an hour when ye think not.

<sup>25</sup> Then Peter said unto him, Lord, speakest thou this parable unto us, or even to all? And the Lord said, Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in due season? Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing. Of a truth I say unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath. But and if that servant say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming; and shall begin to beat the men-servants, and maidens, and to eat and drink, and to be drunken; the lord of that servant will come in a day when he looketh not for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him in sunder, and will appoint him his portion with the unbelievers. And that servant which knew his lord's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. But he that knew not, and did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required; and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more.

<sup>26</sup> I am come to send fire on the earth, and what will I, if it be already kindled? But I have a baptism to be baptized with; and how am I strait-

<sup>51</sup> ened till it be accomplished ! Suppose ye that I am come to give peace on <sup>52</sup> earth ? I tell you, Nay ; but rather division : for from henceforth there shall be five in one house divided, three against two, and two against three.
<sup>53</sup> The father shall be divided against the son, and the son against the father ; the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother ; the mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.

<sup>54</sup> And he said also to the people, When ye see a cloud rise out of the west, <sup>55</sup> straightway ye say, There cometh a shower ; and so it is. And when ye see the south wind blow, ye say, There will be heat ; and it cometh to <sup>56</sup> pass. Ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky, and of the earth ;
<sup>57</sup> but how is it, that ye do not discern this time ? Yea, and why even of <sup>58</sup> yourselves judge ye not what is right ? When thou goest with thine adversary to the magistrate, as thou art in the way, give diligence that thou mayest be delivered from him ; lest he hale thee to the judge, and the <sup>59</sup> judge deliver thee to the officer, and the officer cast thee into prison. I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast paid the very last mite.

LUKE XIII. 1—9.

<sup>1</sup> There were present at that season some that told him of the Galileans, <sup>2</sup> whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. And Jesus answering, said unto them, Suppose ye that these Galileans were sinners above <sup>3</sup> all the Galileans, because they suffered such things ? I tell you, Nay ; but <sup>4</sup> except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish. Or those eighteen, upon he unto the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, these three years I come seeking fruit on this fig-tree, and find none : cut it down ; why cumbereth it <sup>8</sup> the ground ? And he answering, said unto him, Lord, let it alone this <sup>9</sup> year also, till I shall dig about it, and dung it : and if it bear fruit, well :

 and if not, then after that thou shalt cut it down.

And when he sowed, some seeds fell by the way-side, and the fowls came and devoured them up. Some fell upon stony places, where they had not much earth; and forthwith they sprang up, because they had no deepness of earth: and when the sun was up, they were scorched; and because they had no root, they withered away. And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth; and immediately it sprang up, because it had no depth of earth: but when the sun was up, it was scorched; and because it had no root, it withered away. And some fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up, and choked it, and it yielded no fruit.

And other fell on good ground, and did yield fruit that sprang up, and increased, and brought forth, some thirty, and some sixty, and some an hundred.

And he said unto them, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

And when he was alone, they that were about him, with the twelve, asked of him the parable. And he said unto them, Unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God: but unto them that are without, all these things are done in parables:

And some fell upon a rock; and as soon as it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked moisture.

And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it.

And other fell on good ground, and sprang up, and bare fruit an hundred-fold.

And when he had said these things, he cried, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

And in them is fulfilled the prophecy of Esaias, which saith,<sup>a</sup> By hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand;<sup>14</sup> and shall not perceive: for this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them. <sup>25</sup> And these are they likewise which are sown on stony ground; who, when they have heard the word, immediately receive it with gladness; <sup>26</sup> and have no root in themselves, and so endure but for a time: afterward, when affliction or persecution ariseth for the word's sake, immediately they

<sup>31</sup> They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away.<sup>32</sup>

Take heed therefore how ye hear: for whosoever hath, to him shall be given; and whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he seemeth to have.

§ 55. Parable of the Tares. Other Parables.—NEAR CAPERNAUM?

MATTH. XIII. 24—53.

MARK IV. 26—34.

<sup>26</sup> And he said, So is the kingdom of God, as if a man should cast seed into the ground; <sup>1</sup> and should sleep, and rise night and day, and the seed <sup>28</sup> should spring and grow up, he knoweth not how. For the earth bringeth

MARK IV.

forth fruit of herself; first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in <sup>29</sup> the ear. But when the fruit is brought forth, immediately he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

<sup>32</sup> Another parable spake he unto them: The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened.

<sup>33</sup> All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake he not unto <sup>34</sup> them: <sup>1</sup> that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying, <sup>a</sup> I will open my mouth in parables; I will utter things which have been kept secret from the foundation of the world.

<sup>44</sup> Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field; the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

<sup>30</sup> And he said, Whereunto shall we liken the kingdom of God? or with what comparison shall we compare <sup>31</sup> it? It is like a grain of mustard-seed, which, when it is sown in the earth, is less than all the seeds that <sup>32</sup> be in the earth: <sup>1</sup> but when it is sown, it groweth up, and becometh greater than all herbs, and shooteth out great branches; so that the fowls of the air may lodge under the shadow of it.

<sup>33</sup> And with many such parables spake he the word unto them, as <sup>34</sup> they were able to hear it. But without a parable spake he not unto them: and when they were alone, he expounded all things to his disciples.

MATTH. XIII.

- <sup>50</sup> and sever the wicked from among the just, <sup>1</sup> and shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.
<sup>51</sup> Jesus saith unto them, Have ye understood all these things? They say <sup>52</sup> unto him, Yea, Lord. Then said he unto them, Therefore every scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven, is like unto a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things new and old.
<sup>53</sup> And it came to pass, that when Jesus had finished these parables, he departed thence.

<sup>34</sup> And when they were gone over, <sup>53</sup> And when they had passed over, they came into the land of Genn-
<sup>35</sup> saret. And when the men of that place had knowledge of him, they sent out into all that country round about, and brought unto him all that <sup>54</sup> saret, and drew to the shore. And when they were come out of the ship, straightway they knew him, <sup>55</sup> and ran through that whole region round about, and began to carry about in beds those that were sick, where they heard he was. And whithersoever he entered, into vil-<sup>36</sup> lages, or cities, or country, they laid the sick in the streets, and besought him that they might touch, if it were but the border of his garment: and as many as <sup>56</sup> touched were made perfectly whole.

JOHN VI. 22—71. VII. 1.

<sup>22</sup> The day following, when the people which stood on the other side of the sea saw that there was none other boat there, save that one whereinto his disciples were entered, and that Jesus went not with his disciples into the <sup>23</sup> boat, but that his disciples were gone away alone; <sup>1</sup> (howbeit there came other boats from Tiberias nigh unto the place where they did eat bread, <sup>24</sup> after the Lord had given thanks;) <sup>1</sup> when the people therefore saw that Jesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also took shipping, and came to <sup>25</sup> Capernaum, seeking for Jesus. And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither? <sup>26</sup> Jesus answered them and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Ye seek me, not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves, and <sup>27</sup> were filled. Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto <sup>28</sup> you: for him hath God the Father sealed. Then said they unto him, What <sup>29</sup> shall we do, that we might work the works of God. Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he <sup>30</sup> hath sent. They said therefore unto him, What sign shewest thou then, <sup>31</sup> that we may see, and believe thee? what dost thou work? Our fathers did eat manna in the desert; as it is written,<sup>a</sup> He gave them bread from <sup>32</sup> heaven to eat. Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Moses gave you not that bread from heaven; but my Father giveth you <sup>33</sup> the true bread from heaven. For the bread of God is he which cometh <sup>34</sup> down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world. Then said they unto <sup>35</sup> him, Lord, evermore give us this bread. And Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me, shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me, shall never thirst. But I said unto you, that ye also have <sup>37</sup> seen me, and believe not. All that the Father giveth me, shall come to <sup>38</sup> me; and him that cometh to me, I will in no wise cast out. For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent <sup>39</sup> me. And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me, I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the <sup>40</sup> last day. And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which

JOHN VI.

seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day.

<sup>41</sup> The Jews then murmured at him, because he said, I am the bread which <sup>42</sup> came down from heaven. And they said, Is not this Jesus the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? how is it then that he saith, <sup>43</sup> I came down from heaven? Jesus therefore answered and said unto them,
<sup>44</sup> Murmur not among yourselves. No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him: and I will raise him up at the last <sup>45</sup> day. It is written in the prophets,<sup>a</sup> And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, <sup>46</sup> cometh unto me. Not that any man hath seen the Father, save he which is <sup>47</sup> of God, he hath seen the Father. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that <sup>48</sup> believeth on me hath everlasting life. I am that bread of life. Your <sup>50</sup> fathers did eat manna in the wilderness, and are dead.<sup>b</sup> This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof, and not die.
<sup>51</sup> I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.

<sup>53</sup> give us his flesh to eat? Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, <sup>54</sup> ye have no life in you. Whoso eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, <sup>55</sup> hath eternal life: and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is <sup>56</sup> meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed. He that eateth my flesh, and <sup>57</sup> drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him. As the living Father <sup>58</sup> hath sent me, and I live by the Father: so he that eateth me, even he shall live by me. This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your <sup>59</sup> fathers did eat manna, and are dead: he that eateth of this bread shall live for ever. These things said he in the synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

<sup>60</sup> Many therefore of his disciples, when they had heard this, said, This is <sup>61</sup> an hard saying; who can hear it? When Jesus knew in himself that his <sup>62</sup> disciples murmured at it, he said unto them, Doth this offend you? What <sup>63</sup> and if ye shall see the Son of man ascend up where he was before? It is <sup>64</sup> the Spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life. But there are some of <sup>65</sup> you that believe not. For Jesus knew from the beginning who they were <sup>66</sup> that believed not, and who should betray him. And he said, Therefore said
 I unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it were given unto him of my Father.

<sup>68</sup> with him. Then said Jesus unto the twelve, Will ye also go away? Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast <sup>69</sup> the words of eternal life. And we believe, and are sure that thou art that <sup>70</sup> Christ, the Son of the living God. Jesus answered them, Have not I <sup>71</sup> chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil? He spake of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon: for he it was that should betray him, being one of the twelve.

VII.<sup>1</sup> After these things Jesus walked in Galilee: for he would not walk in Jewry, because the Jews sought to kill him.

Pharisaic Traditions.—CAPERNAUM.

MATTH. XV. 1—20.

THEN came to Jesus scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jerusalem, when they saw some of his disciples eat bread with defiled (that is to say, with unwashen) hands, they found fault. For the Pharisees, and all the Jews, except they wash their hands oft, eat not, holding the tradition of the elders. And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eat not. And many other things there be, which they have received to hold, as the washing of cups, and pots, and brazen vessels, and

But he answered and said unto them,—' Ye hypocrites, well did Esaias prophesied of you, saying, ' This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me. But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.

washing of pots and cups: and many other such like things ye do.

MARK VII. 1—23.

Then came together unto him the Pharisees, and certain of the scribes, which came from Jerusalem. And when they saw some of his disciples eat bread with defiled (that is to say, with unwashen) hands, they found fault. For the Pharisees, and all the Jews, except they wash their hands oft, eat not, holding the tradition of the elders. And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eat not. And many other things there be, which they have received to hold, as the washing of cups, and pots, and brazen vessels, and tables. Then the Pharisees and scribes asked him, Why walk not thy disciples according to the tradition of the elders, but eat bread with unwashen hands? He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, ' This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me. Howbeit, in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men. For laying aside the commandments of God, ye hold the tradition of men, as the <sup>3</sup>—Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition? For God commanded, saying,<sup>a</sup> Honour thy father and mother: and, He that curseth father or mother, let him die the death. But ye say, Whosoever shall say to his father or his mother, It is a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited <sup>4</sup> by me; ' and honour not his father or his mother, he shall be free.

Thus have ye made the commandment of God of none effect by your tradition.

<sup>10</sup> And he called the multitude, and said unto them, Hear, and understand: Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man.

<sup>16</sup> are they that defile the man. If any man have ears to hear, let him hear.

MATTH. XV.

<sup>12</sup> Then came his disciples, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the Pharisees were offended after they heard this saying? But he answered and said, Every plant, which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up. Let them alone: they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.

<sup>15</sup> Then answered Peter and said unto him, Declare unto us this parable. And Jesus said, Are ye also yet without understanding?

<sup>17</sup> Do not ye yet understand, that whatsoever entereth in at the mouth goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

it entereth not into

MARK VII.

<sup>9</sup> And he said unto them, Full well ye reject the commandment of God, that ye may keep your own tradition. For Moses said,<sup>a</sup> Honour thy father and thy mother; and, Whoso curseth father or mother, let him die the death. But ye say, If a man shall say to his father or mother, It is Corban, that is to say, a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited <sup>12</sup> by me; he shall be free. And ye suffer him no more to do aught for his father or his mother; ' making the word of God of none effect through your tradition, which ye have delivered: and many such like things do ye.

<sup>14</sup> And when he had called all the people unto him, he said unto them, Harken unto me every one of you, and understand. There is nothing from without a man, that entering into him, can defile him: but the things which come out of him, those

For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, ' thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness; <sup>23</sup> ' all these evils things come from within, and defile the man.

§ 68. The daughter of a Syrophenician woman is healed.—REGION OF TYRE AND SIDON

MATTH. XV. 21—28.

<sup>21</sup> Then Jesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyre and Sidon. And behold, a woman of Canaan came out of the same coasts, and cried unto him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of David; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil. But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came and besought him, saying, Send her away; for she crieth after us. <sup>24</sup> But he answered and said, I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel. Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me. But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread and to cast it to dogs. And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table. Then Jesus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilst. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.

MARK VII. 24—30.

<sup>24</sup> And from thence he arose, and went into the borders of Tyre and Sidon, and entered into an house, and would have no man know it: but he could not be hid. For a certain woman, whose young daughter had an unclean spirit, heard of him, and came and fell at his feet; (the woman was a Greek, a Syrophenician by nation;) and she besought him that he would cast forth the devil out of her daughter. <sup>27</sup> But Jesus said unto her, Let the children first be filled: for it is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it unto the dogs. And she answered and said unto him, Yes, Lord: yet the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs. <sup>29</sup> And he said unto her, For this saying, go thy way; the devil is gone out of thy daughter. And when she was come to her house, she found the devil gone out, and her daughter laid upon the bed.

And he took him aside from the multitude, and put his fingers into his ears, and he spit, and touched his tongue: and looking up to heaven, he sighed, and saith unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened. And straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plain. And he charged them that they should tell no man: but the more he charged them, so much the more a great deal they published it: and were beyond measure astonished, saying, He hath done all things well; he maketh both the deaf to hear, and the dumb to speak.

And they said, Seven, and a few little <sup>5</sup> fishes. <sup>7</sup> And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is because we have taken no bread. <sup>8</sup> Which when Jesus perceived, he said unto them, O ye of little faith, why reason ye among yourselves, because ye have brought no bread ? <sup>9</sup> Do ye not yet understand, neither remember the five loaves of the five thousand, and how many baskets ye took up ?

And he took the blind man by the hand, and led him out of the town ; and when he had spit on his eyes, and put <sup>24</sup> his hands upon him, he asked him if he saw aught. And he looked up, <sup>25</sup> and said, I see men as trees walking. After that, he put his hands again upon his eyes, and made him look up : and he was restored, and saw every <sup>26</sup> man clearly. And he sent him away to his house, saying, Neither go into the town, nor tell it to any in the town.

MATTH. XVI. 13—20.

<sup>13</sup> When Jesus came into the coasts of Cesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I, the Son of man, am ?
<sup>14</sup> And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist ; some, Elias ; and others, Jermias, or one of the prophets. He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am ? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona : for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and on this rock I will build my church : and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven : and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth, shall be bound in heaven ; and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth, shall be loosed in heaven. Then charged he his disciples that they should tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ.

MARK VIII. 27—30.

But Peter and John were heavy with sleep: and when they were awake, they saw his glory, and spake of his decease.

Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth, as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven. For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them.

<sup>21</sup> Then came Peter to him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? till seven times? Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, Until seven times; but, Until seventy times seven. <sup>22</sup> Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, which <sup>23</sup> would take account of his servants. And he would not: but went and cast him into prison, <sup>34</sup> till he should pay the debt. So when his fellow-servants saw what was <sup>35</sup> done, they were very sorry, and came and told unto their lord all that was <sup>36</sup> done. Then his lord, after that he had called him, said unto him, O thou wicked servant, I forgave thee all that debt, because thou desiredst me: <sup>37</sup> I shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellow-servant, even <sup>38</sup> as I had pity on thee? And his lord was wroth, and delivered him to the <sup>39</sup> tormentors, till he should pay all that was due unto him. So likewise <sup>40</sup> shall my heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses.

JOHN VII. 2—10.

<sup>2</sup> Now the Jews' feast of tabernacles was at hand. His brethren therefore said unto him, Depart hence, and go into Judea, that thy disciples also <sup>4</sup> may see the works that thou doest. For there is no man that doeth any thing in secret, and he himself seeketh to be known openly. If thou do <sup>5</sup> these things, shew thyself to the world. (For neither did his brethren <sup>6</sup> believe in him.) Then Jesus said unto them, My time is not yet come: <sup>7</sup> but your time is always ready. The world cannot hate you; but me it <sup>8</sup> hateth, because I testify of it, that the works therof are evil. Go ye up unto this feast: I go not up yet unto this feast; for my time is not yet full <sup>9</sup> come. THE FESTIVAL OF TABERNACLES, AND THE SUBSEQUENT TRANSACTIONS
UNTIL OUR LORD'S ARRIVAL AT BETHANY SIX DAYS BEFORE THE FOURTH PASSOVER.

JOHN VII. 11—53. VIII. 1.

<sup>11</sup> THEN the Jews sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he ?
<sup>12</sup> And there was much murmuring among the people concerning him : for some said, He is a good man : others said, Nay ; but he deceiveth the <sup>13</sup> people. Howbeit, no man spake openly of him, for fear of the Jews.
<sup>14</sup> Now about the midst of the feast, Jesus went up into the temple, and <sup>15</sup> taught. And the Jews marvelled, saying, How knoweth this man letters, <sup>16</sup> having never learned ? Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is <sup>17</sup> not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know <sup>18</sup> of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself. He that speaketh of himself, seeketh his own glory : but he that seeketh his <sup>19</sup> glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousness is in him.
<sup>20</sup> Did not Moses give you the law, and yet none of you keepeth the law ?
<sup>21</sup> Why go ye about to kill me ? The people answered and said, Thou hast <sup>22</sup> a devil : who goeth about to kill thee ? Jesus answered and said unto <sup>23</sup> them, I have done one work, and ye all marvel. Moses therefore gave unto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the fathers,) and <sup>24</sup> ye on the sabbath-day circumcise a man.* If a man on the sabbath-day receive circumcision, that the law of Moses should not be broken ; are ye <sup>25</sup> angry at me, because I have made a man every whit whole on the sabbath-
<sup>26</sup> day ? Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judg-
<sup>27</sup> ment. Then said some of them of Jerusalem, Is not this he whom they <sup>28</sup> seek to kill ? But lo, he speaketh boldly, and they say nothing unto him. Do the rulers know indeed that this is the very Christ ? Howbeit, we know this man, whence he is : but when Christ cometh, no man knoweth whence he is. Then cried Jesus in the temple, as he taught, saying, Ye both know me, and ye know whence I am: and I am not come of myself, but he that sent me is true, whom ye know not. But I know him; for I am from him, and he hath sent me. Then they sought to take him: but no man laid hands on him, because his hour was not yet come. And many of the people believed on him, and said, When Christ cometh, will he do more miracles than these which this man hath done?

The Pharisees heard that the people murmured such things concerning him: and the Pharisees and the chief priests sent officers to take him. Then said Jesus unto them, Yet a little while am I with you, and then I go unto him that sent me. Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me: and where I am, thither ye cannot come. Then said the Jews among themselves, Whither will he go, that we shall not find him? will he go unto the dispersed among the Gentiles, and teach the Gentiles? What manner of saying is this that he said, Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me: and where I am, thither ye cannot come? In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink. He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water.<sup>a</sup> But this spake he of the Spirit, which they that believe on him should receive; for the Holy Ghost was not yet given, because that Jesus was not yet glorified.

Many of the people therefore, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is the Prophet.<sup>1</sup> Others said, This is the Christ. But some said, Shall Christ come out of Galilee? Hath not the scripture said, That Christ cometh of the seed of David, and out of the town of Bethlehem, where David was?<sup>b</sup> So there was a division among the people because of him. And some of them would have taken him; but no man laid hands on him.

Then came the officers to the chief priests and Pharisees; and they said unto them, Why have ye not brought him? The officers answered, Never man spake like this man. Then answered them the Pharisees, Are ye also deceived? Have any of the rulers, or of the Pharisees believed on him? But this people who knoweth not the law are cursed. Nicodemus saith unto them, (he that came to Jesus by night, being one of them,) Doth our law judge any man before it hear him, and know what he doeth? They answered and said unto him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search, and look: for out of Galilee ariseth no prophet.

So when they continued asking him, he lifted up himself, and said unto them, <sup>8</sup> He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her. And <sup>9</sup> again he stooped down, and wrote on the ground. And they which heard it, being convicted by their own conscience, went out one by one, beginning at the eldest, even unto the last: and Jesus was left alone, and the <sup>10</sup> woman standing in the midst. When Jesus had lifted up himself, and saw none but the woman, he said unto her, Woman, where are those thine <sup>11</sup> accusers? hath no man condemned thee? She said, No man, Lord. ## JOHN VIII. 12—59.

<sup>12</sup> Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of <sup>13</sup> life. The Pharisees therefore said unto him, Thou bearest record of thy <sup>14</sup> self; thy record is not true. Jesus answered and said unto them, Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go. <sup>15</sup> Ye judge after the flesh, I judge no man. And yet if I judge, my judg- <sup>16</sup> <sup>17</sup> ment is true: for I am not alone, but I and the Father that sent me. It is also written in your law,<sup>b</sup> that the testimony of two men is true. I am one that beareth witness of myself; and the Father that sent me, beareth <sup>18</sup> witness of me. <sup>19</sup> Then said they unto him, Where is thy Father? Jesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor my Father: if ye had known me, ye <sup>20</sup> should have known my Father also. These words spake Jesus in the treasury, as he taught in the temple: and no man laid hands on him, for his hour was not yet come.

<sup>21</sup> Then said Jesus again unto them, I go my way, and ye shall seek me, <sup>22</sup> and shall die in your sins: whither I go, ye cannot come. Then said the Jews, Will he kill himself? because he saith, Whither I go, ye cannot <sup>23</sup> come. And he said unto them, Ye are from beneath; I am from above: <sup>24</sup> ye are of this world; I am not of this world. I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall <sup>25</sup> die in your sins. <sup>1</sup> Then said they unto him, Who art thou? And Jesus saith unto them, Even the same that I said unto you from the beginning. <sup>26</sup> I have many things to say, and to judge of you: but he that sent me, is true; and I speak to the world those things which I have heard of him. <sup>27</sup> They understood not that he spake to them of the Father. Then said Jesus unto them, When ye have lifted up the Son of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of myself; but as my Father <sup>28</sup> hath taught me, I speak these things. And he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone; for I do always those things that please <sup>29</sup> him. As he spake these words, many believed on him. <sup>30</sup> Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in <sup>31</sup> my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; <sup>1</sup> and ye shall know the truth, <sup>32</sup> and the truth shall make you free. They answered him, We be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man: how sayest thou, Ye

JOHN VIII.

<sup>24</sup> shall be made free? Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, <sup>25</sup> Whosoever committeth sin, is the servant of sin. And the servant abideth <sup>26</sup> not in the house for ever, but the Son abideth ever. If the Son therefore <sup>27</sup> shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed. I know that ye are Abraham's seed; but ye seek to kill me, because my word hath no place in <sup>28</sup> you. I speak that which I have seen with my Father; and ye do that <sup>29</sup> which ye have seen with your father. They answered and said unto him, Abraham is our father. Jesus saith unto them, If ye were Abraham's <sup>30</sup> children, ye would do the works of Abraham. But now ye seek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did <sup>31</sup> not Abraham. Ye do the deeds of your father. Then said they to him, <sup>32</sup> We be not born of fornication; we have one Father, even God. Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded <sup>33</sup> forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but he sent me. Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word. <sup>34</sup> Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do: he was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth; because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: <sup>35</sup> for he is a liar, and the father of it. And because I tell you the truth, ye <sup>36</sup> believe me not. Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the <sup>37</sup> truth, why do ye not believe me? He that is of God, heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God.

<sup>38</sup> Then answered the Jews, and said unto him, Say we not well that thou <sup>39</sup> art a Samaritan, and hast a devil? Jesus answered, I have not a devil; <sup>40</sup> but I honour my Father, and ye do dishonour me. And I seek not mine <sup>41</sup> own glory: there is one that seeketh and judgeth. Verily, verily, I say <sup>42</sup> unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death. Then said the Jews unto him, Now we know that thou hast a devil. Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and thou sayest, If a man keep my saying, he shall <sup>43</sup> never taste of death. Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is <sup>44</sup> dead? and the prophets are dead: whom makest thou thyself? Jesus answered, If I honour myself, my honour is nothing: it is my Father that <sup>45</sup> honoureth me, of whom ye say, that he is your God. Yet ye have not known him; but I know him: and if I should say, I know him not, I shall <sup>46</sup> be a liar like unto you: but I know him, and keep his saying. Your father <sup>47</sup> Abraham rejoiced to see my day: and he saw it; and was glad. Then said the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen <sup>48</sup> Abraham? Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am.

<sup>49</sup> Then took they up stones to cast at him: but Jesus hid himself, and went out of the temple, going through the midst of them, and so passed by.

§ 86. A Lawyer instructed. Love to our neighbour defined. Parable of the good Samaritan.—NEAR JERUSALEM.

LUKE X. 25—37.

<sup>25</sup> And behold, a certain lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, <sup>26</sup> what shall I do to inherit eternal life? He said unto him, What is written <sup>27</sup> in the law? how readeest thou? And he answering said, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy

LUKE X.

<sup>28</sup> strength, and with all thy mind ; and thy neighbour as thyself. And he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live.
<sup>29</sup> But he, willing to justify himself, said unto Jesus, And who is my neighbour ? And Jesus answering, said, A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, <sup>30</sup> and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead. And by chance there came down a certain priest that way ; and when he saw him, he <sup>31</sup> passed by on the other side. And likewise a Levite, when he was at the <sup>32</sup> place, came and looked on him, and passed by on the other side. But a <sup>33</sup> certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was : and when he <sup>34</sup> saw him, he had compassion on him, <sup>1</sup> and went to him, and bound up his <sup>35</sup> wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought <sup>36</sup> him to an inn, and took care of him. And on the morrow, when he de-<sup>37</sup> parted, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto <sup>38</sup> him, Take care of him : and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come <sup>39</sup> again, I will repay thee. Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was <sup>40</sup> neighbour unto him that fell among the thieves ? And he said, He that shewed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou like-<sup>41</sup> wise.

§ 87. Jesus in the house of Martha and Mary.—BETHANY.

LUKE X. 38—42.

<sup>38</sup> Now it came to pass, as they went, that he entered into a certain village :
<sup>39</sup> and a certain woman, named Martha, received him into her house. And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus' feet, and heard his <sup>40</sup> word. But Martha was cumbered about much serving, and came to him, and said, Lord, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve <sup>41</sup> alone ? bid her therefore that she help me. And Jesus answered, and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou art careful, and troubled about many things ;
<sup>42</sup> <sup>1</sup> but one thing is needful ; and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

LUKE XI. 1—13.

<sup>1</sup> And it came to pass, that as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said unto him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John <sup>2</sup> also taught his disciples. And he said unto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come.
<sup>3</sup> Thy will be done, as in heaven, so in earth. <sup>1</sup> Give us day by day our daily <sup>4</sup> bread. And forgive us our sins ; for we also forgive every one that is in-<sup>5</sup> debted to us. And lead us not into temptation ; but deliver us from evil.
<sup>6</sup> And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go <sup>7</sup> unto him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves : <sup>1</sup> for a friend of mine in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set be-
<sup>8</sup> fore him ? And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not : the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed ; I cannot rise and <sup>9</sup> give thee. I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him <sup>10</sup> as many as he needeth. And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given

LUKE XI.

<sup>10</sup> you ; seek, and ye shall find ; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh, receiveth ; and he that seeketh, findeth ; and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened. If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone ? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent ? Or if he shall ask an egg, will he offer him a scorpion ? If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children : how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him ?

§ 89. The Seventy return.—JERUSALEM?

LUKE X. 17—24.

<sup>17</sup> And the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils <sup>18</sup> are subject unto us through thy name. And he said unto them, I beheld <sup>19</sup> Satan as lightning fall from heaven. Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy : and <sup>20</sup> nothing shall by any means hurt you. Notwithstanding, in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you ; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven.

<sup>21</sup> In that hour Jesus rejoiced in spirit, and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes ; even so, Father ; for so <sup>22</sup> it seemed good in thy sight. All things are delivered to me of my Father : and no man knoweth who the Son is, but the Father ; and who the Father is, but the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal him.

<sup>23</sup> And he turned him unto his disciples, and said privately, Blessed are the <sup>24</sup> eyes which see the things that ye see. For I tell you, that many prophets and kings have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them ; and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them.

JOHN IX. 1—41. X. 1—21.

<sup>1</sup> And as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth. <sup>2</sup> And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man or his <sup>3</sup> parents, that he was born blind ? Jesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents : but that the works of God should be made manifest in him. I must work the works of him that sent me while it is day : <sup>5</sup> the night cometh when no man can work. As long as I am in the world, <sup>6</sup> I am the light of the world. When he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind <sup>7</sup> man with the clay, and said unto him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, which is by interpretation, Sent. He went his way therefore, and washed, and came seeing.

<sup>8</sup> The neighbours, therefore, and they which before had seen him that he <sup>9</sup> was blind, said, Is not this he that sat and begged ? Some said, This is <sup>10</sup> he : others said, He is like him : but he said, I am he. Therefore said <sup>11</sup> they unto him, How were thine eyes opened ? He answered and said, A man that is called Jesus, made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said unto me, Go to the pool of Siloam, and wash : and I went and washed, and I

JOHN IX.

<sup>12</sup> received sight. Then said they unto him, Where is he? He said, I know not.

<sup>13 14</sup> - They brought to the Pharisees him that aforetime was blind. And it was the sabbath-day when Jesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

<sup>15</sup> Then again the Pharisees also asked him how he had received his sight. He said unto them, He put clay upon mine eyes, and I washed, and do see.

<sup>16</sup> Therefore said some of the Pharisees, This man is not of God, because he keepeth not the sabbath-day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner

<sup>17</sup> do such miracles? And there was a division among them. ' They say unto the blind man again, What sayest thou of him, that he hath opened

<sup>18</sup> thine eyes? He said, He is a prophet. ' But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind, and received his sight, until they called

<sup>19</sup> the parents of him that had received his sight. And they asked them, saying, Is this your son, who ye say was born blind? How then doth he now

<sup>20</sup> see? His parents answered them and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind: ' but by what means he now seeth, we know not; or who hath opened his eyes, we know not: he is of age; ask him:

<sup>21</sup> he shall speak for himself. These words spake his parents, because they feared the Jews: for the Jews had agreed already, that if any man did confess that he was Christ, he should be put out of the synagogue. Therefore said his parents, He is of age; ask him.

<sup>24</sup> Then again called they the man that was blind, and said unto him, Give

<sup>25</sup> God the praise: we know that this man is a sinner. He answered and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not: one thing I know, that,

<sup>26</sup> whereas I was blind, now I see. Then said they to him again, What did

<sup>27</sup> he to thee? how opened he thine eyes? He answered them, I have told you already, and ye did not hear: wherefore would ye hear it again? will

<sup>28</sup> ye also be his disciples? Then they reviled him, and said, Thou art his

<sup>29</sup> disciple; but we are Moses' disciples. We know that God spake unto <sup>30</sup> Moses; as for this fellow, we know not from whence he is. The man an-

<sup>31</sup> swered and said unto them, Why, herein is a marvellous thing, that ye

<sup>32</sup> know not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes. Now we

<sup>33</sup> know that God heareth not sinners; <sup>a</sup> but if any man be a worshipper of

<sup>34</sup> God, and doeth his will, him he heareth. Since the world began was it

<sup>35</sup> not heard that any man opened the eyes of one that was born blind. If

<sup>36</sup> this man were not of God, he could do nothing. They answered and said unto him, Thou wast altogether born in sins, and dost thou teach us? And they cast him out.

<sup>35</sup> Jesus heard that they had cast him out: and when he had found him, he

<sup>36</sup> said unto him, Dost thou believe on the Son of God? He answered and

<sup>37</sup> said, Who is he, Lord, that I might believe on him? And Jesus said unto <sup>38</sup> him, Thou hast both seen him, and it is he that talketh with thee. And

<sup>39</sup> he said, Lord, I believe. And he worshipped him. ' And Jesus said, For <sup>40</sup> judgment I am come into this world; that they which see not might see,

<sup>41</sup> and that they which see, might be made blind. And some of the Pharisees which were with him heard these words, and said unto him, Are we blind

<sup>42</sup> also? Jesus said unto them, If ye were blind, ye should have no sin: but now ye say, We see; therefore your sin remaineth.

X. <sup>1</sup> Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a rob-<sup>2</sup> ber. But he that entereth in by the door, is the shepherd of the sheep.

JOHN X.

<sup>3</sup> To him the porter openeth ; and the sheep hear his voice : and he calleth <sup>4</sup> his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out. And when he putteth forth his own sheep, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him : for they <sup>5</sup> know his voice. And a stranger will they not follow, but will flee from <sup>6</sup> him : for they know not the voice of strangers. This parable spake Jesus unto them : but they understood not what things they were which he spake unto them.

<sup>7</sup> Then said Jesus unto them again, Verily, verily, I say unto you, I am the door of the sheep. All that ever came before me are thieves and robbers : <sup>8</sup> but the sheep did not hear them. I am the door: by me if any man enter <sup>10</sup> in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture. The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they <sup>11</sup> might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly. I am the good shepherd : the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep. But he that is an hireling, and not the shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, seeth the wolf coming, and leaveth the sheep, and fleeth ; and the wolf <sup>13</sup> catcheth them, and scattereth the sheep. The hireling fleeth, because he is <sup>14</sup> an hireling, and careth not for the sheep. I am the good shepherd, and <sup>15</sup> know my sheep, and am known of mine. As the Father knoweth me, even <sup>16</sup> so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the sheep. And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold : them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice ; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd. <sup>17</sup> Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might <sup>18</sup> take it again. <sup>1</sup> No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father.

<sup>19</sup> There was a division therefore again among the Jews for these sayings. <sup>20</sup> And many of them said, He hath a devil, and is mad ; why hear ye him ? <sup>21</sup> Others said, These are not the words of him that hath a devil. Can a devil open the eyes of the blind ?

JOHN X. 22—42.

<sup>22</sup> And it was at Jerusalem the feast of the dedication, and it was winter. <sup>23</sup> <sup>24</sup> And Jesus walked in the temple in Solomon's porch. Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt ? <sup>25</sup> If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly. <sup>1</sup> Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not : the works that I do in my Father's name; they bear witness of me. But ye believe not, because ye are not of my sheep, as I said <sup>27</sup> unto you. My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me : <sup>28</sup> <sup>1</sup> and I give unto them eternal life ; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand. My Father, which gave <sup>30</sup> me, is greater than all ; and no man is able to pluck <sup>31</sup> them out of my Father's hand. I and my Father are one.

<sup>31</sup> <sup>32</sup> Then the Jews took up stones again to stone him. Jesus answered them, Many good works have I shewed you from my Father ; for which of <sup>33</sup> those works do ye stone me ? The Jews answered him, saying, For a good work we stone thee not ; but for blasphemy, and because that thou, being <sup>34</sup> a man, makest thyself God. Jesus answered them, Is it not written in

JOHN X.

<sup>25</sup> your law,<sup>a</sup> I said, Ye are gods? If he called them gods, unto whom the word of God came, and the scripture cannot be broken; say ye of him whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest; because I said, I am the Son of God? If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know and believe that the Father is in me, and I in him.

<sup>29</sup> Therefore they sought again to take him; but he escaped out of their hand, and went away again beyond Jordan, into the place where John at first baptized; and there he abode. And many resorted unto him, and said, John did no miracle; but all things that John spake of this man were true.

<sup>42</sup> And many believed on him there.

JOHN XI. 1—46.

<sup>11</sup> These things said he: and after that he saith unto them, Our friend Lazarus <sup>12</sup> sleepeth; but I go that I may awake him out of sleep. Then said his dis- <sup>13</sup>ciples, Lord, if he sleep, he shall do well. Howbeit, Jesus spake of his <sup>14</sup> death: but they thought that he had spoken of taking of rest in sleep. Then <sup>15</sup> said Jesus unto them plainly, Lazarus is dead. And I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, to the intent ye may believe; nevertheless, let <sup>16</sup> us go unto him. Then said Thomas, which is called Didymus, unto his fel- low-disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.

<sup>17</sup> Then when Jesus came, he found that he had lain in the grave four <sup>18</sup> days already. Now Bethany was nigh unto Jerusalem, about fifteen fur- <sup>19</sup> longs off: and many of the Jews came to Martha and Mary, to comfort <sup>20</sup> them concerning their brother. Then Martha, as soon as she heard that Jesus was coming, went and met him: but Mary sat still in the house. <sup>21</sup> Then said Martha unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother <sup>22</sup> had not died. But I know that even now, whatsoever thou wilt ask of God, <sup>23</sup> God will give it thee. Jesus saith unto her, Thy brother shall rise again. <sup>24</sup> Martha saith unto him, I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection <sup>25</sup> at the last day. Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: <sup>26</sup> he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and who- soever liveth, and believeth in me, shall never die. Believest thou this?

JOHN XI.

<sup>27</sup> She saith unto him, Yea, Lord : I believe that thou art the Christ, the Son of God, which should come into the world. And when she had so said, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee. As soon as she heard that, she arose quickly, and came unto him.

<sup>28</sup> Now Jesus was not yet come into the town, but was in that place where <sup>29</sup> Martha met him. The Jews then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they saw Mary that she rose up hastily, and went out, <sup>30</sup> followed her, saying, She goeth unto the grave to weep there. Then when Mary was come where Jesus was, and saw him, she fell down at his feet, saying unto him, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died. <sup>31</sup> When Jesus therefore saw her weeping, and the Jews also weeping which <sup>32</sup> came with her, he groaned in the spirit, and was troubled. And said, Where have ye laid him ? They say unto him, Lord, come and see. <sup>33</sup> <sup>34</sup> <sup>35</sup> <sup>36</sup> <sup>37</sup> Jesus wept. Then said the Jews, Behold how he loved him ! And some of them said, Could not this man, which opened the eyes of the blind, have caused that even this man should not have died ?

<sup>38</sup> Jesus therefore again groaning in himself, cometh to the grave. It was <sup>39</sup> a cave, and a stone lay upon it. Jesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, saith unto him, Lord, by this time <sup>40</sup> he stinketh : for he hath been dead four days. Jesus saith unto her, Said I not unto thee, that if thou wouldest believe, thou shouldest see the glory <sup>41</sup> of God ? Then they took away the stone from the place where the dead was laid. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee that <sup>42</sup> thou hast heard me : ' and I knew that thou hearest me always : but because <sup>43</sup> of the people which stand by, I said it ; that they may believe that thou <sup>44</sup> hast sent me. And when he thus had spoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth. And he that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with grave-clothes : and his face was bound about with a napkin. Jesus saith unto them, Loose him, and let him go.

<sup>45</sup> Then many of the Jews which came to Mary, and had seen the things <sup>46</sup> which Jesus did, believed on him. But some of them went their ways to the Pharisees, and told them what things Jesus had done.

JOHN XI. 47—54.

<sup>47</sup> Then gathered the chief priests and the Pharisees a council, and said, <sup>48</sup> What do we ? for this man doeth many miracles. If we let him thus alone, all men will believe on him : and the Romans shall come, and take away <sup>49</sup> both our place and nation. And one of them, named Caiaphas, being the <sup>50</sup> high priest that same year, said unto them, Ye know nothing at all, ' nor consider that it is expedient for us, that one man should die for the people, <sup>51</sup> and that the whole nation perish not. And this spake he not of himself : but being high priest that year, he prophesied that Jesus should die for that <sup>52</sup> nation ; ' and not for that nation only, but that also he should gather together <sup>53</sup> in one the children of God that were scattered abroad. Then from that day forth they took counsel together for to put him to death.

<sup>54</sup> Jesus therefore walked no more openly among the Jews ; but went thence into a country near to the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

§ 94. Jesus beyond Jordan is followed by multitudes. The healing of the infirm Woman on the Sabbath.—VALLEY OF JORDAN? PEREA.

MATTH. XIX. 1, 2.

<sup>1</sup> And it came to pass, that when Jesus had finished these sayings, he departed from Galilee, and came into the coasts of Judea, beyond <sup>2</sup> Jordan: and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

MARK X. 1.

<sup>1</sup> And he arose from thence, and cometh into the coasts of Judea, by the farther side of Jordan: and the people resort unto him again; and, as he was wont, he taught them again.

LUKE XIII. 10—21.

<sup>10</sup> <sup>11</sup> And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the sabbath. And behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen <sup>12</sup> years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou <sup>13</sup> art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God. And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath-day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the <sup>15</sup> sabbath-day. The Lord then answered him, and said, Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the <sup>16</sup> stall, and lead him away to watering? And ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo, these eighteen years, be <sup>17</sup> loosed from this bond on the sabbath-day? And when he had said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him.

<sup>18</sup> Then said he, Unto what is the kingdom of God like? and whereunto <sup>19</sup> shall I resemble it? It is like a grain of mustard-seed, which a man took, and cast into his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree; and the fowls <sup>20</sup> of the air lodged in the branches of it. And again he said, Whereunto <sup>21</sup> shall I liken the kingdom of God? It is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened.

LUKE XIII. 22—35.

<sup>22</sup> And he went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying toward Jerusalem.

<sup>23</sup> Then said one unto him, Lord, are there few that be saved? And he <sup>24</sup> said unto them, Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto <sup>25</sup> you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. When once the Master of the house is risen up, and hath shut to the door, and ye begin to stand without, and to knock at the door, saying, Lord, Lord, open unto us; and <sup>26</sup> he shall answer and say unto you, I know you not whence ye are: then shall ye begin to say, We have eaten and drunk in thy presence, and thou <sup>27</sup> hast taught in our streets. But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are; depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets, in the kingdom of God, and you yourselves <sup>28</sup> thrust out. And they shall come from the east, and from the west, and <sup>29</sup> from the north, and from the south, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God. And behold, there are last, which shall be first ; and there are first, which shall be last.

The same day there came certain of the Pharisees, saying unto him, Get thee out, and depart hence ; for Herod will kill thee. And he said unto them, Go ye and tell that fox, Behold, I cast out devils, and I do cures to-day and to-morrow, and the third day I shall be perfected. Nevertheless, I must walk to-day and to-morrow, and the day following : for it cannot be that a prophet perish out of Jerusalem. O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the prophets, and stonest them that are sent unto thee ; how often would I have gathered thy children together, as a hen doth gather her brood under her wings, and ye would not ! Behold, your house is left unto you desolate.<sup>a</sup> And verily, I say unto you, Ye shall not see me, until the time come when ye shall say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

LUKE XIV. 1—24.

And it came to pass, as he went into the house of one of the chief Pharisees to eat bread on the sabbath-day, that they watched him. And behold, there was a certain man before him which had the dropsy. And Jesus answering, spake unto the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath-day ? And they held their peace. And he took him, and healed him, and let him go : and answered them, saying, Which of you shall have an ass or an ox fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the sabbath-day ? And they could not answer him again to these things.

And he put forth a parable to those which were bidden, when he marked how they chose out the chief rooms ; saying unto them, When thou art bidden of any man to a wedding, sit not down in the highest room,<sup>b</sup> lest a more honourable man than thou be bidden of him ; and he that bade thee and him come and say to thee, Give this man place ; and thou begin with shame to take the lowest room. But when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room ; that when he that bade thee cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, go up higher : then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee. For whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.

Then said he also to him that bade him, When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor thy rich neighbours ; lest they also bid thee again, and a recompense be made thee. But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind ; and thou shalt be blessed : for they cannot recompense thee : for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just.

And when one of them that sat at meat with him heard these things, he said unto him, Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God. Then said he unto him, A certain man made a great supper, and bade many : and sent his servant at supper-time, to say to them that were bidden, Come, for all things are now ready. And they all with one consent began to make excuse. The first said unto him, I have bought a piece of ground, and I must needs go and see it: I pray thee have me excused.

<sup>19</sup> And another said, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them:
<sup>20</sup> I pray thee have me excused. And another said, I have married a wife:
<sup>21</sup> and therefore I cannot come. So that servant came, and shewed his lord these things. Then the master of the house being angry, said to his servant, Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in <sup>22</sup> hither the poor, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind. And the servant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is <sup>23</sup> room. And the lord said unto the servant, Go out into the highways and <sup>24</sup> hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled. For I say unto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper.

§ 97. What is required of true Disciples.—PEREA.

LUKE XIV. 25—35.

<sup>25</sup> And there went great multitudes with him: and he turned, and said unto <sup>26</sup> them, ' If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he <sup>27</sup> cannot be my disciple. And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come <sup>28</sup> after me, cannot be my disciple. For which of you intending to build a tower, sitteth not down first, and counteth the cost, whether he have suffi-

<sup>30</sup> able to finish it, all that behold it begin to mock him, ' saying, This man <sup>31</sup> began to build, and was not able to finish. Or what king going to make war against another king, sitteth not down first, and consulteth whether he be able with ten thousand to meet him that cometh against him with twenty <sup>32</sup> thousand? Or else, while the other is yet a great way off, he sendeth an <sup>33</sup> ambassage, and desireth conditions of peace. So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple.

§ 98. Parable of the Lost Sheep, etc. Parable of the Prodigal Son.—PEREA.

LUKE XV. 1—32.

<sup>1</sup> Then drew near unto him all the publicans and sinners for to hear him.
<sup>3</sup> And he spake this parable unto them, saying, ' What man of you having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it?
<sup>5</sup> And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing. And when he cometh home, he called together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost.
<sup>7</sup> I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repented, more than over ninety and nine just persons which need no repentance.
<sup>8</sup> Either what woman having ten pieces of silver, if she lose one piece, doth not light a candle, and sweep the house, and seek diligently till she find

<sup>9</sup> it? And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends and her neighbours together, saying, Rejoice with me; for I have found the piece which <sup>10</sup> I had lost. Likewise, I say unto you, There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth.

<sup>11</sup> <sup>12</sup> And he said, A certain man had two sons: <sup>1</sup> and the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me.

<sup>13</sup> And he divided unto them his living. <sup>1</sup> And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, and took his journey into a far country, <sup>14</sup> and there wasted his substance with riotous living. And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that land; and he began to be in want.

<sup>15</sup> And he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country; and he sent <sup>16</sup> him into his fields to feed swine. And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat; and no man gave unto him.

<sup>17</sup> And when he came to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my <sup>18</sup> father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger! I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned <sup>19</sup> against heaven, and before thee, <sup>1</sup> and am no more worthy to be called thy <sup>20</sup> son: make me as one of thy hired servants. And he arose, and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and <sup>21</sup> had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him. And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, <sup>22</sup> and am no more worthy to be called thy son. But the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his <sup>23</sup> hand, and shoes on his feet: <sup>1</sup> and bring hither the fatted calf, and kill it; <sup>24</sup> and let us eat, and be merry: <sup>1</sup> for this my son was dead, and is alive again; <sup>25</sup> he was lost, and is found. And they began to be merry. Now his elder son was in the field: and as he came and drew nigh to the house, he heard <sup>26</sup> music and dancing. And he called one of the servants, and asked what <sup>27</sup> these things meant. And he said unto him, Thy brother is come; and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, because he hath received him safe and <sup>28</sup> sound. And he was angry, and would not go in; therefore came his father <sup>29</sup> out, and entreated him. And he answering, said to his father, Lo, these many years do I serve thee, neither transgressed I at any time thy commandment; and yet thou never gavest me a kid, that I might make merry <sup>30</sup> with my friends: <sup>1</sup> but as soon as this thy son was come, which hath de- <sup>31</sup> voyred thy living with harlots, thou hast killed for him the fatted calf. And he said unto him, Son, thou art ever with me; and all that I have is thine. <sup>32</sup> It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost, and is found.

§ 99. Parable of the Unjust Steward.—PEREA.

LUKE XVI. 1—13.

<sup>1</sup> And he said also unto his disciples, There was a certain rich man which had a steward; and the same was accused unto him that he had wasted <sup>2</sup> his goods. And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no <sup>3</sup> longer steward. Then the steward said within himself, What shall I do? for my lord taketh away from me the stewardship: I cannot dig; to beg I <sup>4</sup> am ashamed. I am resolved what to do, that when I am put out of the <sup>5</sup> stewardship, they may receive me into their houses. So he called every one of his lord's debtors unto him, and said unto the first, How much owest

LUKE XVI.

<sup>6</sup> thou unto my lord ? ! And he said, An hundred measures of oil. And he <sup>7</sup> said unto him, Take thy bill, and sit down quickly, and write fifty. Then said he to another, And how much owest thou ? And he said, An hundred <sup>8</sup> measures of wheat. And he said unto him, Take thy bill, and write fourscore. And the lord commended the unjust steward, because he had done wisely : for the children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light.

<sup>9</sup> And I say unto you, Make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness ; that when ye fail, they may receive you into everlasting <sup>10</sup> habitations. He that is faithful in that which is least, is faithful also in <sup>11</sup> much ; and he that is unjust in the least, is unjust also in much. If there-
<sup>12</sup> fore ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit <sup>13</sup> to your trust the true riches ? And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another man's, who shall give you that which is your own ? No servant can serve two masters ; for either he will hate the one, and love the other ; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.

§ 100. The Pharisees reproved. Parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus.—
 PEREA.

LUKE XVI. 14—31.

<sup>14</sup> And the Pharisees also, who were covetous, heard all these things, and <sup>15</sup> they derided him. And he said unto them, Ye are they which justify yourselves before men ; but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly <sup>16</sup> esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God. The law and the prophets were until John: since that time the kingdom of God is <sup>17</sup> preached, and every man presseth into it. And it is easier for heaven and <sup>18</sup> earth to pass, than one tittle of the law to fail. Whosoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery ; and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

<sup>19</sup> There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine
<sup>20</sup> linen, and fared sumptuously every day : ! and there was a certain beggar <sup>21</sup> named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores, ! and desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table : moreover, the <sup>22</sup> dogs came and licked his sores. And it came to pass, that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom. The rich man also <sup>23</sup> died, and was buried : ! and in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torments, <sup>24</sup> and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom. And he cried, and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may <sup>25</sup> dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue : for I am tormented in this flame. But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime receivedst thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things: but now he <sup>26</sup> is comforted, and thou art tormented. And besides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed: so that they which would pass from hence to you, cannot ; neither can they pass to us, that would come from <sup>27</sup> thence. Then he said, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldest
<sup>28</sup> send him to my father's house : ! for I have five brethren ; that he may <sup>29</sup> testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment. Abraham saith unto him, They have Moses and the prophets ; let them hear them.
<sup>30</sup> And he said, Nay, father Abraham : but if one went unto them from the <sup>31</sup> dead, they will repent. And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead.

LUKE XVII. 1—10.

<sup>1</sup> Then said he unto the disciples, It is impossible but that offences will come: but wo unto him through whom they come! It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones. Take heed to yourselves: if thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him. <sup>4</sup> And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him.<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup> And the apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith. And the Lord said, If ye had faith as a grain of mustard-seed, ye might say unto this sycamine-tree, Be thou plucked up by the root, and be thou planted in the sea; and it should obey you. But which of you having a servant ploughing, or feeding cattle, will say unto him by and by, when he is come out of the field, Go and sit down to meat? and will not rather say unto him, Make ready wherewith I may sup, and gird thyself, and serve me, till I have eaten and drunken; and afterward thou shalt eat and drink? Doth he thank that servant, because he did the things that were commanded him? <sup>10</sup> I trow not. So likewise ye, when ye shall have done all those things which are commanded you, say, We are unprofitable servants: we have done that which was our duty to do.

§ 102. Christ's coming will be sudden.—PEREA.

LUKE XVII. 20—37.

<sup>20</sup> And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God cometh not with observation. Neither shall they say, Lo here! or, Lo there! for behold, the kingdom of God is within you. And he said unto the disciples, The days will come, when ye shall desire to see one of the days of the Son of man, and ye shall not see it. And they shall say to you, See here! or, See there! go not after them, nor follow them. For as the lightning that lighteneth out of the one part under heaven, shineth unto the other part under heaven; so shall also the Son of man be in his day. But first must he suffer many things, and be rejected of this generation. And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all.<sup>b</sup> Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot: they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded; but the same day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all:<sup>c</sup> even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed. In that day, he which shall be upon the house-top, and his stuff in the house, let him not come down to take it away: and he that is in the field, let him likewise not return back. Remember Lot's wife.<sup>d</sup> Whosoever shall seek to save his life, shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life, shall preserve it. § 103. Parables: The Importunate Widow. The Pharisee and Publican.—
PEREA.

LUKE XVIII. 1—14.

<sup>1</sup> And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always <sup>2</sup> to pray, and not to faint; <sup>1</sup> saying, There was in a city a judge, which <sup>3</sup> feared not God, neither regarded man. And there was a widow in that <sup>4</sup> city; and she came unto him, saying, Avenge me of mine adversary. And he would not for a while: but afterward he said within himself, Though I <sup>5</sup> fear not God, nor regard man, <sup>1</sup> yet, because this widow troubleth me, I <sup>6</sup> will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me. And the <sup>7</sup> Lord said, Hear what the unjust judge saith. And shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with <sup>8</sup> them? <sup>1</sup> I tell you that he will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?

<sup>6</sup> And he spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves <sup>10</sup> that they were righteous, and despised others: Two men went up into the <sup>11</sup> temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. <sup>12</sup> <sup>13</sup> I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess. And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, <sup>14</sup> but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: for every one that exaltheh himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.

What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder. They say unto him, Why did Moses then command to give a writing of divorcement, and to put her away? <sup>b</sup> He saith unto them, Moses, because of the hardness of your hearts, suffered you to put away your wives; but from the beginning it was not so. And I say unto you, whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoso marrieth her which is put away, doth commit adultery.

<sup>10</sup> His disciples say unto him, If the case of the man be so with his wife, it is not good to marry. But he said unto them, All men cannot receive this saying, save they to whom it is given. For there are some eunuchs, which were so born from their mother's womb: and there are some eunuchs, which were made eunuchs of men: and there be eunuchs, which have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. <sup>1</sup> For the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an householder, which had agreed with the labourers for a penny a day, he sent them into his vine-yard. And he went out about the third hour, and saw others standing idle in the market-place, and said unto them, Go ye also into the vineyard ; and whatsoever is right, I will give you. And they went their way. Again he went out about the sixth and ninth hour, and did likewise. And about the eleventh hour he went out, and found others standing idle, and saith unto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle ? They say unto him, Because no man hath hired us. He saith unto them, Go ye also into the vineyard ; and whatsoever is right, that shall ye receive. So when even was come, the lord of the vineyard saith unto his steward, Call the labourers, and give them their hire, beginning from the last unto the first. And when they came that were hired about the eleventh hour, they received every man a penny. But when the first came, they supposed that they should have received more ; and they likewise received every man a penny. And when they had received it, they murmured against the good man of the house, saying, These last have wrought but one hour, and thou hast made them equal unto us, which have borne the burden and heat of the day. But he answered one of them, and said, Friend, I do thee no wrong : didst not thou agree with me for a penny ? Take that thine is, and go thy way : I will give unto this last, even as unto thee. Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own ? is thine eye evil because I am good ? So the last shall be first, and the first last : for many be called, but few chosen.

Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy pound hath gained ten pounds. And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant : because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities. And <sup>19</sup> the second came, saying, Lord, thy pound hath gained five pounds. And he said likewise to him, Be thou also over five cities. And another came, saying, Lord, behold, here is thy pound, which I have kept laid up in a napkin : for I feared thee, because thou art an austere man : thou takest up that thou layedst not down, and reapest that thou didst not sow. And he saith unto him, Out of thine own mouth will I judge thee, thou wicked servant. Thou knewest that I was an austere man, taking up that I laid not down, and reaping that I did not sow : wherefore then gavest not thou my money into the bank, that at my coming I might have required mine own with usury ? <sup>24</sup> And he said unto them that stood by, Take from him the pound, and give it to him that hath ten pounds. For verily I say unto you, That whosoever shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith. MATTH. XXI. 23—32.

<sup>23</sup> And when he was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this

Fourth Day of the Week.

MATTH. XXI. 33—46.

<sup>33</sup> Hear another parable: There was a certain householder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and digged a wine-press in it, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a far country.

<sup>34</sup> And when the time of the fruit drew near, he sent his servants to the husbandmen, that they might receive the fruits

MARE XII. 1—12.

<sup>1</sup> And he began to speak unto them by parables: A certain man planted a vineyard, and set an hedge about it, and digged a place for the wine-fat, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a

LUKE XX. 9—19.

<sup>9</sup> Then began he to speak to the people this parable: A certain man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen, and went into a far country for a long time.

<sup>10</sup> And at the season he sent a servant to the husbandmen, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husbandmen beat him, and sent him away empty.

And again he sent another servant: and they beat him also, and entreated him shamefully, and sent him away empty.

<sup>12</sup> And again he sent a third: and they wounded him also, and cast him out. Then said the lord of the vineyard, What shall I do? I will send my beloved son: it may be they will reverence him when they see him.

<sup>14</sup> But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned among themselves, saying, This is the heir: come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

<sup>42</sup> Jesus saith unto them, Did ye never read in the scriptures,<sup>a</sup> The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner: this is the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes?

<sup>43</sup> Therefore say I unto you, The kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof.

§ 117. Parable of the Marriage of the King's Son.—JERUSALEM.

MATTH. XXII. 1—14.

<sup>1</sup> And Jesus answered and spake unto them again by parables, and said, <sup>2</sup> The kingdom of heaven is like unto a certain king, which made a marriage for his son, <sup>3</sup> and sent forth his servants to call them that were bidden to the wedding: and they would not come. Again, he sent forth other servants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I have prepared my dinner: my oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready: come unto the marriage. But they made light of it, and went their ways, one to his farm, another to his merchandise. And the remnant took his servants,

Then saith he to his servants, The <sup>9</sup> wedding is ready, but they which were bidden were not worthy. Go ye therefore into the highways, and as many as ye shall find, bid to the mar-<sup>10</sup> riage. So those servants went out into the highways, and gathered together all as many as they found, both bad and good: and the wedding was furnished with guests.

<sup>11</sup> And when the king came in to see the guests, he saw there a man which <sup>12</sup> had not on a wedding garment: and he saith unto him, Friend, how camest thou in hither, not having a wedding-garment? And he was speechless. <sup>13</sup> Then said the king to the servants, Bind him hand and foot, and take him away, and cast him into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnash-<sup>14</sup> ing of teeth. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.

MARK XII. 28—34..

<sup>15</sup> But wo unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites ! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men : for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in. Wo unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites ! for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte ; and when he is made, ye make him two-fold more the child of hell than yourselves.

<sup>16</sup> Wo unto you, ye blind guides ! which say, Whosoever shall swear by the temple, it is nothing ; but whosoever shall swear by the gold of the temple, <sup>17</sup> he is a debtor. Ye fools, and blind ! for whether is greater, the gold, or the temple that sanctifieth the gold ? And whosoever shall swear by the altar, it is nothing ; but whosoever sweareth by the gift that is upon it, he is guilty. Ye fools, and blind ! for whether is greater, the gift, or the altar <sup>20</sup> that sanctifieth the gift ? Whoso therefore shall swear by the altar, swear-<sup>21</sup> eth by it, and by all things thereon. And whoso shall swear by the tem-<sup>22</sup> ple, sweareth by it, and by him that dwelleth therein. And he that shall swear by heaven, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon.

Ye blind guides, which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel. Wo unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites ! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extor-<sup>26</sup> tion and excess. Thou blind Pharisee, cleanse first that which is within the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be clean also.

<sup>43</sup> mites, which make a farthing. And he called unto him his disciples, and saith unto them, Verily, I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast more in, than all they which have cast into <sup>44</sup> the treasury. For all they did cast in of their abundance: but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living.

LUKE XXI. 1—4.

<sup>1</sup> And he looked up and saw the rich men casting their gifts into the treasury. And he saw also a certain poor widow, casting in thither two mites.

<sup>3</sup> And he said, Of a truth I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast in more than they all.

JOHN XII. 20—36.

20 And there were certain Greeks among them, that came up to worship at 21 the feast. The same came therefore to Philip, which was of Bethsaida of 22 Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see Jesus. Philip cometh and calleth Andrew: and again, Andrew and Philip tell Jesus.

23 And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of 24 man should be glorified. Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bring- 25 eth forth much fruit. He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that 26 hateth his life in this world, shall keep it unto life eternal. If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant 27 be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honour. Now is my soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but for 28 this cause came I unto this hour. ' Father, glorify thy name. Then came there a voice from heaven, saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again.

29 The people therefore that stood by and heard it, said that it thundered. 30 Others said, An angel spake to him. ' Jesus answered and said, This voice 31 came not because of me, but for your sakes. Now is the judgment of this 32 world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted 33 up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. (This he said, signifying 34 what death he should die.) The people answered him, We have heard out of the law that Christ abideth forever; * and how sayest thou, The son of 35 man must be lifted up? Who is this Son of man? ' Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you. Walk while ye have the light, lest darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in darkness know- 36 eth not whither he goeth. While ye have light, believe in the light, that ye may be the children of light. These things spake Jesus, and departed, and did hide himself from them.

<sup>43</sup> But know this, that if the good man of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be broken up. Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of man cometh. Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season? Blessed is that servant, whom his lord, when he cometh, shall find so doing. Verily I say unto you, that he shall make him ruler over all his goods. But and if that evil servant shall say in his heart, My Lord delayeth his coming; and shall begin to smite his fellow-servants, and to eat and drink with the drunken; the lord of that servant shall come in a day when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of, and shall cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

XXV. <sup>1</sup> Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, which took their lamps, and went forth to meet the bridegroom. And five of them were wise, and five were foolish. They that were foolish took their lamps, and took no oil with them: but the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps. While the bridegroom tarried, they all slumbered and

And the foolish said unto the wise, Give us of your oil: for our lamps are gone out. But the wise answered, saying, Not so; lest there be not enough for us and you: but go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves. And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready, went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut. Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us. But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not. Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour when the Son of man cometh.

<sup>14</sup> For the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods. And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey. Then he that had received the five talents, went and traded with the same, and made them other five talents. And likewise he that had received two, he also gained other two. But he that had received one, went and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money. After a long time the lord of those servants cometh, and reckoneth with them. And so he that had received five talents, came and brought other five talents, saying, Lord, thou deliveredst unto me five talents: behold, I have gained besides them five talents more. His lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord. He also that had received two talents came, and said, Lord, thou deliveredst unto me two talents: behold, I have gained two other talents besides them. His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy lord. Then he which had received the one talent came, and said, Lord, I knew thee that thou art an hard man, reaping where thou hast not sown, and gathering where thou hast not strewed: and I was afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: lo, there thou hast that is thine. His lord answered and said unto him, Thou wicked and slothful servant, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I have not strewed: thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury. Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents. For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not, shall be taken away even that which he hath. And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

JOHN XII.

<sup>3</sup> Then took Mary a pound of ointment of spikenard, very costly, and anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped his feet with her hair: and the house was filled with the odour of the ointment.

<sup>5</sup> This he said, not that he cared for the poor; had the bag, and bare what was put therein.

<sup>7</sup> Then said Jesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying hath she kept this. For the poor always ye have with you; but me ye have not always.

LUKE XXI.

<sup>3</sup> Then entered Satan into Judas surnamed Iscariot, being of the number of the twelve.

<sup>4</sup> And he went his way, and communed with the chief priests and captains, how he might betray him unto them.

<sup>5</sup> And they were glad, and covenanted to give him money. And he <sup>6</sup> promised, and sought opportunity to betray him unto them in the absence of the multitude.

Fifth Day of the Week.

MATTH. XXVI. 17—19.

<sup>17</sup> Now the first day of the feast of unleavened bread, the disciples came to Jesus, saying unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the passover?

<sup>18</sup> And he said, Go into the city to such a man, and say unto him, The Master saith, My time is at hand; I will keep the passover at thy house with my disciples.

Go ye into the city, and there shall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

<sup>15</sup> And he will shew you a large upper room furnished and prepared: there make ready for us.

<sup>19</sup> And the disciples did as Jesus had appointed them; and they made ready the passover.

MARK XIV. 12—16.

<sup>12</sup> And the first day of unleavened bread, when they killed the passover, his disciples said unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare, that thou mayest eat the passover?

<sup>13</sup> And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, and saith unto them,

And wheresoever he shall go in, say ye to the good man of the house, The Master saith, Where is the guest-chamber, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?

<sup>15</sup> And his disciples went forth, and came into the city, and found as he had said unto them: and they made ready the passover.

LUKE XXII. 7—13.

<sup>7</sup> Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the passover must be killed. And he sent Peter and John, saying, Go and prepare us the passover, that we may eat. And they said unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare?

<sup>10</sup> And he said unto them, Behold, when ye are entered into the city, there shall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water; follow him into the house where he entereth

<sup>11</sup> in. And ye shall say unto the good man of the house, The Master saith unto thee, Where is the guest-chamber, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?

<sup>12</sup> And he shall shew you a large upper room furnished: there make ready. And they went and found as he had said unto them: and they made ready the passover.

§ 133. The Passover Meal. Contention among the Twelve.—JERUSALEM.

Evening introducing the Sixth Day of the Week.

MATTH. XXVI. 20. MARK XIV. 17. LUKE XXII. 14-18. 24-30.

<sup>20</sup> NOW when the even <sup>21</sup> And in the evening <sup>22</sup> And when the hour was come, he sat he cometh with the was come, he sat down, down with the twelve. twelve. <sup>23</sup> and the twelve apostles

<sup>15</sup> with him. And he

<sup>16</sup> said unto them, With desire I have desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer. For I say unto you, I will not any more eat thereof, until <sup>17</sup> it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God. And he took the cup, and gave <sup>18</sup> thanks, and said, Take this, and divide it among yourselves. For I say unto you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God shall come.—

<sup>24</sup> And there was also a strife among them, which of them should be <sup>25</sup> accounted the greatest. And he said unto them, The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and they that exercise authority upon them <sup>26</sup> are called benefactors. But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth <sup>27</sup> serve. For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meat, or he that serveth? <sup>28</sup> is not he that sitteth at meat? but I am among you as he that serveth. Ye <sup>29</sup> are they which have continued with me in my temptations; <sup>1</sup> and I appoint <sup>30</sup> unto you a kingdom, as my Father hath appointed unto me; <sup>1</sup> that ye may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and sit on thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

§ 134. Jesus washes the feet of his Disciples.—JERUSALEM.

Evening introducing the Sixth Day of the Week.

JOHN XIII. 1—20.

<sup>1</sup> Now before the feast of the passover, when Jesus knew that his hour was come that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, having loved

JOHN XIII.

<sup>2</sup> his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end. And supper being ended, (the devil having now put into the heart of Judas Iscariot, <sup>3</sup> Simon's son, to betray him,) <sup>1</sup> Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God;
<sup>4</sup> he riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments, and took a towel, and <sup>5</sup> girded himself. After that, he poureth water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was <sup>6</sup> girded. Then cometh he to Simon Peter: and Peter saith unto him, Lord, <sup>7</sup> dost thou wash my feet? Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do
<sup>8</sup> thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter. Peter saith unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee <sup>9</sup> not, thou hast no part with me. Simon Peter saith unto him, Lord, not <sup>10</sup> my feet only, but also my hands and my head. Jesus saith to him, He that is washed needeth not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit:
<sup>11</sup> and ye are clean, but not all. <sup>1</sup> For he knew who should betray him: therefore said he, Ye are not all clean.

<sup>12</sup> So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you?
<sup>13</sup> <sup>14</sup> Ye call me Master, and Lord: and ye say well: for so I am. If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one <sup>15</sup> another's feet. For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I <sup>16</sup> have done to you. Verily, verily, I say unto you, The servant is not greater <sup>17</sup> than his lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him. If <sup>18</sup> ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them. I speak not of you all; I know whom I have chosen; but that the scripture may be fulfilled, <sup>a</sup> He <sup>19</sup> that eateth bread with me, hath lifted up his heel against me. Now I tell you before it come, that when it is come to pass, ye may believe that I am <sup>20</sup> he. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that receiveth whomsoever I send, receiveth me; and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me.

MATTH. XXVI.
21—25.MARK XIV.

21—23.JOHN XIII.
21—35.

<sup>21</sup> And as they <sup>18</sup> did eat, he said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

<sup>22</sup> And they <sup>19</sup> were exceeding sorrowful, and began every one of them to say unto him, Lord, is it I?

And as they sat, and did eat, <sup>21</sup> Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with me, shall <sup>19</sup> betray me. And <sup>23</sup> they began to be sorrowful, and to say unto him one by one, Is it I? and another said, Is it I?

But behold, the hand of him that betrayeth me is with me on the table.—

And they began to inquire among themselves, which of them it was that should do this thing.

<sup>21</sup> When Jesus had thus said, he was troubled in spirit, and testified, and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me. <sup>22</sup> Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.

JOHN XIII.

<sup>23</sup> Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom, one of his disciples, whom Jesus loved. Simon Peter therefore beckoned to him, that he should ask who it should be of whom he spake. He then, lying on Jesus' breast, saith unto

MATTH. XXVI.

<sup>23</sup> And he answered and <sup>20</sup> said, He that dippeth his hand with me in the dish, the same shall <sup>21</sup> betray me. The Son of man goeth, as it is written of him: but woe unto that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! it had been good for that man if he had not been <sup>25</sup> born. Then Judas, which betrayed him, answered and said, Master, is it I? He said unto him, Thou hast said.

<sup>28</sup> That thou doest, do quickly. Now no man at the table knew for what intent he spake this unto him. For some of them thought, because Judas had the bag, that Jesus had said unto him, Buy those things that we have need of against the feast; or, that he should give something to the poor. He then, having received the sop, went immediately out: and it was night. <sup>31</sup> Therefore, when he was gone out, Jesus said, Now is the Son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him. If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorify him in himself, and shall straightway glorify him. Little children, yet a little while I am with you. Ye shall seek me; and, as I said unto the Jews, Whither I go, ye cannot come, so now I say to you. A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.

JOHN XIV. 1—31.

<sup>1</sup> Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. <sup>2</sup> In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have <sup>3</sup> told you. I go to prepare a place for you. <sup>1</sup> And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself; that where <sup>4</sup> I am, there ye may be also. And whither I go ye know, and the way ye <sup>5</sup> know. Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; <sup>6</sup> and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and <sup>7</sup> the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also; and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him.

<sup>8</sup> Philip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us. <sup>9</sup> Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me, hath seen the Father; <sup>10</sup> and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you, I speak not of myself: but the Father, that dwelleth in me, he doeth the <sup>11</sup> works. Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else <sup>12</sup> believe me for the very works' sake. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater <sup>13</sup> works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father. And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it.

mandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me, shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him. Judas saith unto him, (not Iscariot,) Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself unto us, and not unto the world? Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him. He that loveth me not, keepeth not my sayings: and the word which ye hear is not mine, but the Father's which sent me.

These things have I spoken unto you, being yet present with you. But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you. Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. Ye have heard how I said unto you, I go away, and come again unto you. If ye loved me, ye would rejoice, because I said, I go unto the Father: for my Father is greater than I. And now I have told you before it come to pass, that when it is come to pass, ye might believe. Hereafter I will not talk much with you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me. But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment, even so I do. Arise, let us go hence.

§ 139. Christ the true Vine. His Disciples hated by the World.—
JERUSALEM.

Evening introducing the Sixth Day of the Week.

JOHN XV. 1—27.

I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman. Every branch in me that beareth not fruit, he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit. Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you. Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing. If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned. If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you. Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples. As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love. If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love. These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full.

This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you. Henceforth I call you not servants; for the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth: but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father, I have made known unto you. Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the

<sup>17</sup> Father in my name, he may give it you. These things I command you, <sup>18</sup> That ye love one another. If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me <sup>19</sup> before it hated you. If ye were of the world, the world would love hi-own; but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.

<sup>20</sup> Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you: if they <sup>21</sup> have kept my saying, they will keep yours also. But all these things will they do unto you for my name's sake, because they know not him that sent <sup>22</sup> me. If I had not come and spoken unto them, they had not had sin: but <sup>23</sup> now they have no cloak for their sin. He that hateth me, hateth my Father <sup>24</sup> also. If I had not done among them the works which none other man did, they had not had sin: but now have they both seen, and hated both me and <sup>25</sup> my Father. But this cometh to pass, that the word might be fulfilled that <sup>26</sup> is written in their law, <sup>a</sup> They hated me without a cause. But when the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit <sup>27</sup> of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he shall testify of me. And ye also shall bear witness, because ye have been with me from the beginning.

JOHN XVI. 1—33.

<sup>2</sup> They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that <sup>3</sup> whosoever killeth you, will think that he doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor <sup>4</sup> me. But these things have I told you, that when the time shall come, ye may remember that I told you of them. And these things I said not unto <sup>5</sup> you at the beginning because I was with you. But now I go my way to <sup>6</sup> him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou? But because I have said these things unto you, sorrow hath filled your heart.

<sup>7</sup> Nevertheless, I tell you the truth: It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if <sup>8</sup> I depart, I will send him unto you. And when he is come, he will reprove
<sup>10</sup> they believe not on me; <sup>1</sup> of righteousness, because I go to my Father, and
<sup>12</sup> judged. I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them <sup>13</sup> now. Howbeit, when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall <sup>14</sup> hear, that shall he speak: and he will shew you things to come. He shall <sup>15</sup> glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall shew it unto you. All things that the Father hath are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take <sup>16</sup> of mine, and shall shew it unto you. A little while, and ye shall not see me: and again, a little while, and ye shall see me, because I go to the Father.

<sup>17</sup> Then said some of his disciples among themselves, What is this that he saith unto us, A little while, and ye shall not see me: and again, a little

JOHN XVI.

<sup>18</sup> while, and ye shall see me: and, Because I go to the Father? They said therefore, What is this that he saith, A little while? we cannot tell what <sup>19</sup> he saith. Now Jesus knew that they were desirous to ask him, and said unto them, Do ye inquire among yourselves of that I said, A little while, and ye shall not see me: and again, a little while, and ye shall see me? <sup>20</sup> Verily, verily, I say unto you, that ye shall weep and lament, but the world shall rejoice: and ye shall be sorrowful, but your sorrow shall be turned <sup>21</sup> into joy. A woman when she is in travail hath sorrow, because her hour is come: but as soon as she is delivered of the child, she remembereth no <sup>22</sup> more the anguish, for joy that a man is born into the world. And ye now therefore have sorrow: but I will see you again, and your heart shall <sup>23</sup> rejoice, and your joy no man taketh from you. And in that day ye shall ask me nothing. Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall ask <sup>24</sup> the Father in my name, he will give it you. Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full. <sup>25</sup> These things have I spoken unto you in proverbs: but the time cometh when I shall no more speak unto you in proverbs, but I shall shew you <sup>26</sup> plainly of the Father. At that day ye shall ask in my name: and I say <sup>27</sup> not unto you, that I will pray the Father for you: ' for the Father himself loveth you, because ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out <sup>28</sup> from God. I came forth from the Father, and am come into the world: <sup>29</sup> again, I leave the world, and go to the Father. His disciples said unto <sup>30</sup> him, Lo, now speakest thou plainly, and speakest no proverb. Now are we sure that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should <sup>31</sup> ask thee: by this we believe that thou camest forth from God. Jesus an-<sup>32</sup> swered them, Do ye now believe? ' behold, the hour cometh, yea, is now come, that ye shall be scattered every man to his own, and shall leave me <sup>33</sup> alone: and yet I am not alone, because the Father is with me. These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation, but be of good cheer: I have overcome the world.

JOHN XVII. 1—26.

<sup>1</sup> These words spake Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify <sup>2</sup> thee: ' as thou hast given him power over all flesh, that he should give <sup>3</sup> eternal life to as many as thou hast given him. And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou <sup>4</sup> hast sent. I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finished the work <sup>5</sup> which thou gavest me to do. And now, O Father, glorify thou me with <sup>6</sup> thine own self, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was. <sup>7</sup> I have manifested thy name unto the men which thou gavest me out of the world: thine they were, and thou gavest them me; and they have kept <sup>8</sup> thy word. Now they have known that all things whatsoever thou hast <sup>9</sup> given me are of thee: ' for I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I <sup>10</sup> came out from thee, and they have believed that thou didst send me. I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given <sup>11</sup> me; for they are thine. And all mine are thine, and thine are mine; and I am glorified in them. And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we <sup>12</sup> are. While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy name: those that thou gavest me I have kept, and none of them is lost, but the son of <sup>13</sup> perdition; that the scripture might be fulfilled.<sup>a</sup> And now come I to thee, and these things I speak in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled <sup>14</sup> in themselves. I have given them thy word; and the world hath hated <sup>15</sup> them, because they are not of the world, even as I am not of the world. I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou <sup>16</sup> shouldest keep them from the evil. They are not of the world, even as I <sup>17</sup> am not of the world. Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth. <sup>18</sup> As thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into <sup>19</sup> the world. And for their sakes I sanctify myself, that they also might be sanctified through the truth.

<sup>20</sup> Neither pray I for these alone; but for them also which shall believe on <sup>21</sup> me through their word: ' that they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may <sup>22</sup> believe that thou hast sent me. And the glory which thou gavest me, I <sup>23</sup> have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one; ' I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them as thou hast loved me.

<sup>24</sup> Father, I will that they also whom thou hast given me be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory which thou hast given me: for thou <sup>25</sup> lovedst me before the foundation of the world. O righteous Father, the world hath not known thee: but I have known thee, and these have known <sup>26</sup> that thou hast sent me. And I have declared unto them thy name, and will declare it: that the love wherewith thou hast loved me, may be in them, and I in them.

Evening introducing the Sixth Day of the Week.

36-46. 32-42.

<sup>1</sup> When Jesus had spoken these words, he went forth with his disciples over the brook Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entered, and his disciples.

MATTH. XXVI.

- <sup>37</sup> And he took with him Peter, and the two sons of Zebedee, and began to be sorrowful and very heavy. Then saith he unto them, My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death: tarry ye here, and watch <sup>38</sup> with me. And he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt.
- <sup>39</sup> And he went forward a little, and fell on the ground, and prayed that, if it were possible, the hour might pass from him. And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible unto thee; take away this cup from me: nevertheless, not what I will, but what thou wilt.
- <sup>40</sup> And he cometh unto the disciples, and findeth them asleep, and saith unto Peter, What! could ye not watch with me one hour? <sup>41</sup> Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh <sup>42</sup> is weak. He went away again the second time, and <sup>43</sup> And he came and found them asleep again: for their eyes were heavy.
- <sup>44</sup> And he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.
- <sup>45</sup> Then cometh he to his disciples, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. <sup>46</sup> Rise, let us be going: behold, he is at hand that doth betray me.
- <sup>33</sup> And he taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and began to be sore amazed, and to be very heavy; and saith unto them, My soul is exceeding sorrowful unto death: tarry ye here, and watch.
- <sup>34</sup> And he was withdrawn from them about a stone's cast, and kneeled down, and prayed, saying, Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless, not my will, but thine, be done. And there appeared an angel unto him from heaven,
- <sup>41</sup> And he was strengthened him. And being in an agony, he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground.
- <sup>42</sup> And he cometh, and findeth them sleeping, and saith unto Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one hour? Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. The spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak. And again he went away, and prayed, <sup>43</sup> and spake the same words. And when he returned, he found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy; neither wist they what to answer him.
- <sup>41</sup> And he cometh the third time, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough, the hour is come; behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. <sup>42</sup> Rise up, let us go; lo, he that betrayeth me is at hand.

Evening introducing the Sixth Day of the Week.

JOHN XVIII. 2—12.

<sup>2</sup> And Judas also, which betrayed him, knew the place: for Jesus oftentimes resorted thither with his disciples. Judas then, having received a band of men and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees, cometh thither with lanterns, and torches, and weapons.

JOHN XVIII.

And Judas also, which betrayed him, stood with them. As soon then as he had said unto them, I am he, they went backward, and fell to the ground. Then asked he them again, Whom seek ye? And they said, Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus answered, I have told you that I am he. If therefore ye seek me, let these go their way: that the saying might be fulfilled which he spake, Of them which thou gavest me, have I lost none.

Night introducing the Sixth Day of the Week.

MATTH. XXVI. 57, MARK XIV. 53, 54, LUKE XXII. 54—62. JOHN XVIII. 13—18, 58, 69—75. 66—72.

Morning of the Sixth Day of the Week.

JOHN XVIII. 19—24.

<sup>19</sup> The high priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.
<sup>20</sup> And Jesus answered him, I spake openly to the world; I ever taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, whither the Jews always resort; and in <sup>21</sup> secret have I said nothing. Why askest thou me? ask them which heard <sup>22</sup> me, what I have said unto them: behold, they know what I said. And when he had thus spoken, one of the officers which stood by, struck Jesus <sup>23</sup> with the palm of his hand, saying, Answerest thou the high priest so? Jesus answered him, If I have spoken evil, bear witness of the evil: but if <sup>24</sup> well, why smitest thou me? Now Annas had sent him bound unto Caia phas the high priest.

MATTH. XXVI. 59—68.

<sup>69</sup> Now the chief priests, and elders, and all the council, sought false witness against Jesus, to put him <sup>60</sup> to death; but found none: yea, though many false witnesses came, <sup>61</sup> yet found they none. At the last came two false witnesses, <sup>62</sup> and said,

This fellow said, I am able to de-

MARK XIV. 55—65.

<sup>65</sup> And the chief priests, and all the council, sought for witness against Jesus to put him to death; and <sup>66</sup> found none. For many bare false witness against him, but their wit- <sup>67</sup> ness agreed not together. And there arose certain, and bare false <sup>68</sup> witness against him, saying, 'We have heard him say, I will destroy this temple that is made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands. <sup>62</sup> And the high priest arose, and said unto him, Answerest thou nothing? what is it which these witness against thee? But Jesus held his peace. And the high priest answered and said unto him, I adjure thee by the living God, that thou tell us whether thou be the Christ <sup>63</sup> the Son of God? Jesus saith unto him, Thou hast said: nevertheless, I say unto you, Hereafter shall ye see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven. Then the high priest rent his clothes, saying, He hath spoken blasphemy; what further need have we of witnesses? behold, now ye have heard his blasphemy.

<sup>65</sup> Then did they spit in his face, and buffeted him; and others smote him with the palms of their hands, <sup>66</sup> saying, Prophesy unto us, thou Christ, Who is he that smote thee?

<sup>67</sup> And some began to spit on him, and to cover his face, and to buffet him, and to say unto him, Prophesy: and the servants did strike him with the palms of their hands.

<sup>60</sup> And the high priest stood up in the midst, and asked Jesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is it which these witness against thee? <sup>61</sup> But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Again the high priest asked him, and said unto him, Art thou the Christ the Son of the Blessed? And Jesus said, I am: and ye shall see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven. Then the high priest rent his clothes, and saith, What need we any further witnesses? Ye have heard the blasphemy: what think ye? And they all condemned him to be guilty of death.

§ 159. Morning of the Resurrection.—JERUSALEM.

First Day of the Week.

MARK XVI. 1.

AND when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him.

MATTH. XXVIII. 2—4.

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, 3 and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment 4 white as snow. And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

First Day of the Week.

MATTH. XXVIII. 1. MARK XVI. 2—4. LUKE XXIV. 1—3. JOHN XX. 1, 2.

1 In the end of <sup>2</sup> the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary, to see the sepulchre. <sup>3</sup> And very early in the morning, the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun: <sup>1</sup> and they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sep-

<sup>6</sup> And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye : for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here : for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly, and tell his disciples, that he is risen from the dead, and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee ; there shall ye see him : lo, I have told you.

<sup>6</sup> And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted : ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified : he is risen ; he is not here : behold the place where they laid him. But go your way, tell his disciples and Peter, that he goeth before you into Galilee : there shall ye see him, as he said unto you.

<sup>5</sup> And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye the living among the dead ?

<sup>6</sup> He is not here, but is risen. Remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee, saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day

<sup>8</sup> rise again. And they remembered his words.

§ 162. The Women return to the City. Jesus meets them.—JERUSALEM.

First Day of the Week.

MATTH. XXVIII. 8—10.

MARK XVI. 8.

<sup>7</sup> And they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with fear and great joy ; and did run to bring his disciples word.

<sup>8</sup> And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came, and held him by the feet, and worshipped him. Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid : go tell my brethren, that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

<sup>8</sup> And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre ; for they trembled, and were amazed : neither said they any thing to any man ; for they were afraid.

LUKE XXIV. 9—11.

<sup>9</sup> And they returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things unto the <sup>10</sup> eleven, and to all the rest. It was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which <sup>11</sup> told these things unto the apostles. And their words seemed to them as idle tales, and they believed them not.

§ 163. Peter and John run to the Sepulchre.—JERUSALEM.

First Day of the Week.

JOHN XX. 3—10.

<sup>8</sup> Peter therefore went forth, and that other disciple, and came to the <sup>9</sup> sepulchre. So they ran both together: and the other disciple did outrun <sup>10</sup> Peter, and came first to the sepulchre. And he stooping down, and looking <sup>11</sup> in, saw the linen clothes lying;

LUKE XXIV. 12.

<sup>12</sup> Then arose Peter, and ran unto the sepulchre, and stooping down, he beheld the linen clothes laid by themselves,—

<sup>6</sup> yet went he not in. Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth <sup>7</sup> the linen clothes lie; <sup>8</sup> and the napkin that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but

<sup>9</sup> wrapped together in a place by itself. Then went in also that other disciple which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw, <sup>10</sup> and believed. For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead.

<sup>11</sup> —and departed, wondering in himself at that which was come to pass. <sup>12</sup> Then the disciples went away again unto their own home.

First Day of the Week.

JOHN XX. 11—18.

<sup>11</sup> But Mary stood without at the sepulchre weeping: and as she wept she <sup>12</sup> stooped down and looked into the sepulchre, <sup>13</sup> and seeth two angels in white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body <sup>14</sup> of Jesus had lain. And they say unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith unto them, Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

<sup>9</sup> Now when Jesus was risen early, <sup>10</sup> the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils. <sup>11</sup> And when she had thus said, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was

Jesus. Jesus saith unto her, Woman,

why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take <sup>12</sup> him away. <sup>13</sup> Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself, and saith <sup>14</sup> unto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master. Jesus saith unto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto my Father and your Father, and to my God and your God.

<sup>15</sup> And she went and told them that <sup>16</sup> Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken these things unto her.

§ 165. Report of the Watch.—JERUSALEM.

First Day of the Week.

MATTH. XXVIII. 11—15.

<sup>11</sup> Now when they were going, behold, some of the watch came into the city, and shewed unto the chief priests all the things that were done. And when they were assembled with the elders, and had taken counsel, they <sup>13</sup> gave large money unto the soldiers, <sup>1</sup> saying, Say ye, His disciples came by <sup>14</sup> night, and stole him away while we slept. And if this come to the governor's ears, we will persuade him, and secure you. So they took the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

<sup>12</sup> After that, he appeared in another form unto two of them, as they walked, and went into the country. <sup>14</sup> And they talked together of all these things which had happened. And it came to pass, that, while they communed together, and reasoned, Jesus <sup>16</sup> himself drew near, and went with them. But their eyes were holden, that <sup>17</sup> they should not know him. And he said unto them, What manner of communications are these that ye have one to another, as ye walk, and are <sup>18</sup> sad? And the one of them, whose name was Cleopas, answering, said unto him, Art thou only a stranger in Jerusalem, and hast not known the <sup>19</sup> things which are come to pass here in these days? And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him, Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, which was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God, and all <sup>20</sup> the people: <sup>1</sup> and how the chief priests and our rulers delivered him to be <sup>21</sup> condemned to death, and have crucified him. But we trusted that it had been he which should have redeemed Israel: and besides all this, to-day is the <sup>22</sup> third day since these things were done. Yea, and certain women also of <sup>23</sup> our company made us astonished, which were early at the sepulchre. And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seen <sup>24</sup> a vision of angels, which said that he was alive. And certain of them which were with us, went to the sepulchre, and found it even so as the <sup>25</sup> women had said: but him they saw not. Then he said unto them, O fools, <sup>26</sup> and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken! Ought not <sup>27</sup> Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory? And beginning at Moses, and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all <sup>28</sup> the scriptures the things concerning himself. And they drew nigh unto the village whither they went: and he made as though he would have gone <sup>29</sup> further. But they constrained him, saying, Abide with us: for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent. And he went in to tarry with them.

<sup>30</sup> And it came to pass, as he sat at meat with them, he took bread, and <sup>31</sup> blessed it, and brake, and gave to them. And their eyes were opened, <sup>32</sup> and they knew him: and he vanished out of their sight. And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us while he talked with us <sup>33</sup> by the way, and while he opened to us the scriptures? And they rose up the same hour, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered

JOHN XX. 24—29.

<sup>25</sup> Jesus came. The other disciples therefore said unto him, We have seen the Lord. But he said unto them, Except I shall see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thrust my hand into his side, I will not believe.

<sup>26</sup> And after eight days again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them : then came Jesus, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, Peace be unto you. Then saith he to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands ; and reach hither thy hand, and thrust it into my side ; and be not faithless, but believing. And Thomas answered and said unto him, My Lord and my God. Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed : blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed.

§ 169. The Apostles go away into Galilee. Jesus shews himself to seven of them at the Sea of Tiberias.—GALILEE.

MATTH. XXVIII. 16.

<sup>16</sup> Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee.—
<sup>1</sup> After these things Jesus shewed himself again to the disciples at the sea of Tiberias : and on this wise
<sup>2</sup> shewed he himself. There were together Simon Peter and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and <sup>3</sup> two other of his disciples. Simon Peter saith unto them, I go a fishing. They say unto him, We also go with thee. They went forth, and entered <sup>4</sup> into a ship immediately ; and that night they caught nothing. But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore ; but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus. Then Jesus saith unto them, Children, have ye any meat ? They answered, No. <sup>1</sup> And he said unto them, Cast the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes.

JOHN XXI. 1—24.

JOHN XXI.

<sup>7</sup> Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved saith unto Peter, It is the Lord. Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord; he girt his fisher's coat unto him, for he was naked, and did cast himself into the sea.

<sup>8</sup> And the other disciples came in a little ship (for they were not far from land, but as it were two hundred cubits) dragging the net with fishes. As soon then as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread. Jesus saith unto them, Bring of the fish which ye have now caught. Simon Peter went up, and drew the net to land full of great fishes, an hundred and fifty and three: and for all there were so many, yet was not the net broken. <sup>9</sup> Jesus saith unto them, Come and dine. And none of the disciples durst ask him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord. Jesus then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fish likewise. This is now the third time that Jesus shewed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen from the dead.

<sup>10</sup> So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord: thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs. <sup>11</sup> He saith to him again the second time, Simon son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord: thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep. He saith unto him the third time, Simon son of Jonas, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep. Verily, verily, I say unto thee, When thou wast young, thou girdedst thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and carry thee whither thou wouldest not. This spake he, signifying by what death he should glorify God. And when he had spoken this, he saith unto him, Follow me.

<sup>12</sup> Then Peter, turning about, seeth the disciple whom Jesus loved, following; which also leaned on his breast at supper, and said, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee? Peter seeing him, saith to Jesus, Lord, and what shall this man do? Jesus saith unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? Follow thou me. <sup>13</sup> Then went this saying abroad among the brethren, that that disciple should not die: yet Jesus said not unto him, He shall not die; but, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee?

<sup>14</sup> This is the disciple which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things: and we know that his testimony is true.

NOTES

ON THE

HARMONY OF THE FOUR GOSPELS.

INTRODUCTION.

THE following Notes relate chiefly to the mode and order of harmonizing the narratives of the four Evangelists; and touch only incidentally upon other topics. They do not claim, in any sense, to be a Commentary upon the Gospels.

The Gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke, along with many diversities, have nevertheless a striking affinity with each other in their general features of time and place. But, when compared with John's Gospel, there is seen to be a diversity no less striking between them and the latter, not only in respect to chronology, but likewise as to the part of the country where our Lord's discourses and mighty works mainly occurred. Matthew, Mark, and Luke speak only of one Passover, that at which Jesus suffered; and from this it would follow, that our Lord's ministry continued at most only about six months. John expressly enumerates three Passovers, and more probably four, during Christ's ministry; which therefore must have had a duration of at least two and a half years, and more probably of three and a half. Again, Matthew, Mark, and Luke place the scene of Jesus' public ministrations chiefly in Galilee; whence he goes up to Jerusalem only just before his death. John, on the other hand, narrates the miracles and discourses of our Lord as occurring principally at Jerusalem, on various former occasions as well as at his last visit.

The apparent difficulty arising from the first difference, is at once set aside by the remark, that although the three Evangelists do expressly mention only one Passover, yet they do not anywhere, nor in any way, affirm, or even imply, that there were no more; while the testimony of John is express and definite. And further, the incident, narrated by all the three writers, of the disciples' plucking ripe ears of grain as they went through the fields, necessarily presupposes the recent occurrence of a Passover during our Lord's ministry, different from the one at which he suffered; and this is further confirmed by Luke's mention of the "second sabbath after the first" in the same connection. See Matth. 12, 1. Mark 2, 23. Luke 6, 1. See also the Note on § 37.

This difference being thus satisfactorily explained, the existence of the second difference is of course accounted for. If John is right in enumerating several Passovers, he is right in narrating what took place at Jerusalem on those occasions. But, more than this, we find in the other Evangelists several things in which they too seem to allude to earlier visits and labours of Jesus in the Holy City. So the language in which our Lord laments over Jerusalem, as having rejected his efforts, Matth. 23, 37. Luke 13, 34; and, further, his intimate relations with the family of Lazarus, which imply a longer acquaintance than a few weeks, Luke 10, 38. 39; comp. John 11, 1. 2.

For these reasons, I do not hesitate to follow, with most Commentators, the chronology of John's Gospel, and assign to our Lord's ministry four Passovers, or a duration of three and a half years. The second of these Passovers, which is less certain than the rest, and depends upon the interpretation of John 5, 1, will be considered in its place; see Note on § 36.

In view of the same circumstances, it follows also that the Gospel of John was intended to be supplementary to the others, and to narrate only such facts and events as had not been recorded by the other Evangelists. This, too, is manifest on the pages of the Harmony; since up to the last week of our Lord's life, the language of John is in only a single instance parallel to that of the other Gospels, viz. in the feeding of the five thousand, and the accompanying incidents; see §§ 64, 65.

The Gospels, and especially the first three, can in no sense be regarded as methodical annals. It is therefore difficult, and perhaps impossible, so to harmonize them, in respect to time, as in all cases to arrive at results which shall be entirely certain and satisfactory. There is often in them no definite note of time; and then we can proceed only upon conjecture, founded on a careful comparison of all the circumstances. In such cases, the decision must depend very much upon the judgment and taste of the Harmonist; and what to one person may appear probable and appropriate, may seem less so to another.

It is the aim of the present work, not so much to ascertain and exhibit the true chronological order, (although this object is not neglected,) as to place side by side the different narratives of the same events, in an order which may be regarded as at least a probable one. In so doing I may hope to exhibit the legitimate uses of a Harmony, and accomplish a three-fold purpose, viz. to make the Evangelists their own best interpreters; to show how wonderfully they are supplemental to each other in minute as well as important particulars; and in this way to bring out fully and clearly the fundamental characteristic of their testimony, UNITY IN DIVERSITY.

In the arrangement of the Harmony, made in accordance with the probable sequence of the events, and without ascribing any preference to the order of either Evangelist, this unexpected result has been brought out, viz. that the order of both Mark and John remains every where undisturbed; with the exception of four short passages in Mark and of three in John; in all which cases the reasons for a change of order are apparent. See Mark 2, 15-22, in § 58. Mark 6, 17-20, in § 24. Mark 14, 22-25, in § 137. Mark 14, 66-72, in § 144. John 12, 2-8, in § 131. John 18, 25-27, in § 144. John 20, 30. 31, in § 173. Besides these there are a few slight transpositions of single verses for the sake of closer parallelism; e. g. in §§ 112, 142, 153, etc.

§ 2. Zacharias was an ordinary priest of the class of Abia, one of the twenty-four classes instituted by David for the service of the temple, which relieved each other in succession every Sabbath; see 1 Chr. 24, 3-19. 2 Chr. 8, 14. Joseph. Ant. 7. 14. 7. Their service included the daily burning of incense on the altar of incense in the first or outer sanctuary; and this was what Zacharias was now doing; Luke 1, 9. Ex. 30, 6-8. 1 Chr. 23, 13.—It follows, that no inference whatever can hence be drawn as to the year, or season of the year, when the vision took place. Nor is it said how long a time elapsed between the vision and Elizabeth's conception; the expression "after those days" in v. 24 being quite indefinite.

§ 3. The sixth month here refers back, not to the vision, but to the conception of Elizabeth; see v. 36.

§ 4. The conjecture of Reland is probably correct, viz. that Juda in v. 39 is a softened form for Juta, i. e. Jutah or Juttah in Hebrew, a city of the priests in the mountains of Judah, south of Hebron; Josh. 15, 55. 21, 16. The place still exists under the same name. See Reland Palæst. p. 870. Bibl. Researches in Palest. II. p. 628.

§ 6. Mary remained with Elizabeth about three months, or nearly until the full time of the latter; and then returned to Nazareth; Luke 1, 56. It was after this and after the birth of John, when Mary was now in her fourth or fifth month, and her pregnancy had become perceptible, that Joseph was minded to put her away.

§ 7. The precise year of our Lord's birth is uncertain. Several data however exist, by which an approximation may be made, sufficiently accurate to show that our present Christian era is not entirely correct.

1. According to Matth. 2, 1-6, Jesus was born during the lifetime of Herod the Great, and not long before his death. Herod died in the year of Rome (A. U.) 750, just before the Passover; see Jos. Antiq. 17. 8. 1. ib. 17. 9. 3. This has been verified by calculating the eclipse of the moon, which happened just before his death; Jos. Ant. 17. 6. 4. Ideler Handb. of Chronol. II. p. 391 sq. If now we make an allowance of time for the purification, the visit of the Magi, the flight into Egypt, and the remaining there till Herod was dead,—for all which not less than six months can well be required,—it follows, that the birth of Christ cannot in any case be fixed later than the autumn of A. U. 749.

2. Another note of time occurs in Luke 3, 1, 2, where John the Baptist is said to have entered upon his ministry in the fifteenth year of Tiberius; and again in Luke 3, 23, where Jesus is said to have been "about thirty years of age" at his baptism. Now if both John and Jesus, as is quite probable, entered upon their ministry at the age of thirty, in accordance with the Levitical custom (Num. 4, 3. 35. 39. 43. 47), then by reckoning back thirty years we may ascertain the year of John's birth, and of course also that of Jesus. Augustus died Aug. 29th, A. U. 767; and was succeeded by Tiberius, who had already been associated with him in the government for at least two years, and probably three. If now we reckon from the death of Augustus, the fifteenth year of Tiberius commenced Aug. 29th, A. U. 781; and going back thirty years, we find that John must have been born not earlier than August, A. U. 751, and our Lord of course not earlier than A. U. 752;—a result disagreeing with that obtained from Matthew by three years. If, on the other hand, we reckon from the time when Tiberius was admitted as co-regent of the empire, which is shown to have been certainly as early as A. U. 765, and probably in A. U. 764; then the fifteenth year of Tiberius began in A. U. 778, and it follows that John may have been born in A. U. 748, and our Lord in A. U. 749. In this way the results obtained from Matthew and Luke are more nearly coincident.

3. A third note of time is derived from John 2, 20, "Forty and six years was this temple in building." Josephus says, in one place, that Herod began to build the temple in the eighteenth year of his reign; while in another he specifies the fifteenth year; Ant. 15. 11. 1. B. J. 1. 21. 1. He also assigns the length of Herod's reign at thirty-seven or thirty-four years; according as he reckons from his appointment by the Romans, or from the death of Antigonus; Ant. 17. 8. 1. B. J. 1. 33. 8. Herod was first declared king of Judea in A. U. 714; Jos. Ant. 14. 14. 4, 5. B. J. 1. 14. 4. comp. Ant. 14. 16. 4. Ideler Handb. of Chron. II. p. 390. Hence the eighteenth year of his reign, when Herod began to rebuild the temple, would coincide with A. U. 732; and our Lord's first Passover, in the forty-seventh year following, would fall in A. U. 779. If now our Lord at that time was thirty and a half years of age, as is probable, this would carry back the year of his birth to the autumn of A. U. 748.

4. Further, according to a tradition preserved by the Latin Fathers of the first five centuries, our Lord's death took place during the consulate of the two Gemini, C. Rubellius and C. Fufius, that is, in A. U. 782. So Tertullian, Lactantius, Augustine, etc. See Tertull. adv. Jud. § 8. Augustin. de Civ. Dei XVIII. 54. If now the duration of his ministry was three and a half years, then, as before, the year of his birth would be carried back to the autumn of A. U. 748.

5. Some modern writers, taking into account the abode in Egypt and also the "two years" of Matth. 2, 16, have supposed that Jesus must have been from two to three years old at Herod's death; and hence they assume that he was born in A. U. 747. The same year, A. U. 747, is also fixed upon as the date of Christ's birth, by those who regard the star in the east as having been the conjunction of the planets Jupiter and Saturn, which occurred in that year. So Keppler, Münter, Ideler Handb. of Chronol. Berlin 1826.

From all these data it would appear, that while our Lord's birth cannot have taken place later than A. U. 749, it may nevertheless have occurred one or two years earlier.

The present Christian era, which was fixed by the abbot Dionysius Exiguus in the sixth century, assumes the year of Christ's birth as coincident with A. U. 754. It follows then from the preceding statements, that this our common era begins in any case more than four years too late; that is, from four to five years, at the least, after the actual birth of Christ. This era was first used in historical works by the Venerable Bede, early in the eighth century; and was not long after introduced in public transactions by the Frank kings Pepin and Charlemagne.

In respect to the time of the year when Jesus was born, there is still less certainty. John the Baptist would seem to have entered upon his ministry in the spring; perhaps when the multitudes were collected in Jerusalem at the Passover. The crowds which followed him imply that it was not winter. The baptism of Jesus in the Jordan, probably six months later, would then have occurred in autumn. It could not well have been in the winter, for John was still followed by crowds; nor does a winter seem to have intervened. If now we may assume, as is most probable, that John entered on his office when he had completed his thirtieth year; then the time of his birth was also the spring; and that of our Lord, six months later, was the autumn. Archbishop Newcome, referring to Lardner, has the following remark: "Jesus was born, says Lardner, between the middle of August and the middle of November, A. U. 748 or 749. We will take the mean time, October 1." See Lardner's Works, Vol. I. p. 370, 372. Lond. 1835.—There is, on this point, no valid tradition. According to the earliest accounts, the sixth of January, or Epiphany, was celebrated by the eastern churches, in the third and fourth centuries, as the festival of the birth and baptism of Jesus; Cassian. Collat. X. c. 2. In the western churches, after the middle of the fourth century, the twenty-fifth of December (Christmas) began to be kept as the festival of Christ's nativity; this day having been fixed upon, partly at least, as being the then current winter solstice. Thus, as late as the time of pope Leo the Great, (ob. 461,) there were many in Rome, "by whom this day of solemnity was regarded as honourable, not so much on account of the nativity of Christ, as because of the rising of the new sun, as they called it." Leon. Magn. Serm. XXI. c. 6. See the Church Hist. of Neander, Vol. I; also that of Gieseler, Vol. I. The observance of this latter festival (Christmas) spread into the East; while that of the Epiphany, as the baptismal day, was adopted in the West.

§ 10. The visit of the Magi at Bethlehem naturally follows the presentation in the temple; since, after the jealousy of Herod had been once roused, this public presentation could not well have taken place. Joseph and Mary return from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, distant five English miles, where they had now been detained for nearly two months. Luke indeed does not allude to this return (2, 39); but neither does he mention the flight into Egypt.

§ 13. The genealogy in Luke is inverted, for the sake of more convenient comparison. The words "which was the son," so often repeated in the English Version, is an addition by the translators merely to fill out the connection.

I. In the genealogy given by Matthew, considered by itself, some difficulties present themselves.

1. There is some diversity among commentators in making out the three divisions, each of fourteen generations, v. 17. It is, however, obvious, that the first division begins with Abraham and ends with David. But does the second begin with David, or with Solomon? Assuredly with the former; because, just as the first begins from Abraham, so the second also is said to begin from

David. The first extends to David, and includes him; the second extends until the carrying away into Babylon, i.e. to an epoch and not to a person; and therefore the persons who are mentioned as coeval with this epoch (about the time of the carrying away, v. 11), are not reckoned before it. After the epoch the enumeration begins again with Jechoniah, and ends with Jesus. In this way the three divisions are made out thus:

1. Abraham.	1. David.	1. Jechoniah.
2. Isaac.	2. Solomon.	2. Salathiel.
3. Jacob.	3. Roboam.	3. Zorobabel.
4. Judah.	4. Abiah.	4. Abiud.
5. Phares.	5. Asa.	5. Eliakim.
6. Esrom.	6. Josaphat.	6. Azor.
7. Aram.	7. Joram.	7. Sadoc.
8. Aminadab.	8. Uzziah (Ozias).	8. Achim.
9. Naasson.	9. Jotham.	9. Eliud.
10. Salmon.	10. Ahaz.	10. Eleazar.
11. Boaz.	11. Hezekiah.	11. Matthan.
12. Obed.	12. Manasseh.	12. Jacob.
13. Jesse.	13. Amon.	13. Joseph.
14. David.	14. Josiah.	14. Jesus.

2. Another difficulty arises from the fact, that between Joram and Ozias, in v. 8, three names of Jewish kings are omitted, viz. Ahaziah, Joash, and Amariah; see 2 K. 8, 25 and 2 Chr. 22, 1.—2 K. 11, 2. 21 and 2 Chr. 22, 11.—2 K. 12, 21, 14, 1 and 2 Chr. 24, 27. Further, between Josiah and Jechoniah in v. 11, the name of Jehoiakim is also omitted; 2 K. 23, 34. 2 Chr. 36, 4. comp. 1 Chr. 3, 15, 16. If these four names are to be reckoned, then the second division, instead of fourteen generations, will contain eighteen, in contradiction to v. 17. To avoid this difficulty, Newcome and some others have regarded v. 17 as a mere gloss, “a marginal note taken into the text.” This indeed is in itself possible; yet all the external testimony of manuscripts and versions is in favour of the genuineness of that verse. It is better therefore to regard these names as having been customarily omitted in the current genealogical tables, from which Matthew copied. Such omissions of particular generations did sometimes actually occur, “because they were wicked and impious,” according to the Rabbins; see Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on Matth. 1, 8. A striking example of an omission of this kind, apparently without any such reason, is found in Ezra 7, 1-5, compared with 1 Chr. 6, 3-15. This latter passage contains the lineal descent of the high priests from Aaron to the captivity; while Ezra, in the place cited, in tracing back his own genealogy through the very same line of descent, omits at least six generations. The two accounts stand thus:

1 Chr. 6, 3-15.	Ezra 7, 1-5.	1 Chr. 6, 3-15.	Ezra 7, 1-5.
1. Aaron.	Aaron.	13. Azariah.	Azariah.
2. Eleazar.	Eleazar.	14. Johanan.	Amariah.
3. Phinehas.	Phinehas.	15. Azariah.	Amariah.
4. Abishua.	Abishua.	16. Amariah.	Amariah.
5. Bukki.	Bukki.	17. Ahitub.	Ahitub.
6. Uzzi.	Uzzi.	18. Zadok.	Zadok.
7. Zerahiah.	Zerahiah.	19. Shallum.	Shallum.
8. Meraioth.	Meraioth.	20. Hilkiah.	Hilkiah.
9. Amariah.		21. Azariah.	Azariah.
10. Ahitub.		22. Seraiah.	Seraiah.
11. Zadok.		23. Jehozadak.
12. Ahimaaz.		24.	Ezra.

A similar omission is necessarily implied in the genealogy of David, as given Ruth 4, 20–22. 1 Chr. 2, 10–12. Matth. 1, 5. 6. Salmon was cotemporary with the capture of Jericho by Joshua, and married Rahab. But from that time until David, an interval of at least four hundred and fifty years (Acts 13, 20), there intervened, according to the list, only four generations, averaging of course more than one hundred years to each. But the highest average in point of fact is three generations to a century; and if reckoned by the eldest sons they are usually shorter, or three generations for every seventy-five or eighty years. See Sir I. Newton's Chronol. p. 53. Lond. 1728.

We may therefore rest in the necessary conclusion, that as our Lord's regular descent from David was always asserted, and was never denied even by the Jews; so Matthew, in tracing this admitted descent, appealed to genealogical tables, which were public and acknowledged in the family and tribe from which Christ sprang. He could not indeed do otherwise. How much stress was laid by the Jews upon lineage in general, and how much care and attention were bestowed upon such tables, is well known. See Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on Matth. 1, 1. In the N. T. also, see Phil. 3, 4. 5.

II. Other questions of some difficulty present themselves, when we compare together the two genealogies.

1. Both tables at first view purport to give the lineage of our Lord through Joseph. But Joseph cannot have been the son by natural descent of both Jacob and Heli (Eli), Matth. 1, 16. Luke 3, 23. Only one of the tables therefore can give his true lineage by generation. This is done apparently in that of Matthew; because, beginning at Abraham, it proceeds by natural descent, as we know from history, until after the exile; and then continues on in the same mode of expression until Joseph. Here the phrase is changed; and it is no longer Joseph who "begat" Jesus, but Joseph "the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus who is called Christ."

2. To whom then does the genealogy in Luke chiefly relate? If in any way to Joseph, as the language purports, then it must be because he in some way bore the legal relation of son to Heli, either by adoption or by marriage. If the former simply, it is difficult to comprehend, why, along with his true personal lineage as traced by Matthew up through the royal line of Jewish kings to David, there should be given also another subordinate genealogy, not personally his own, and running back through a different and inferior line to the same great ancestor. If, on the other hand, as is most probable, this relation to Heli came by marriage with his daughter, so that Joseph was truly his son-in-law (comp. Ruth 1, 8. 11. 12); then it follows, that the genealogy in Luke is in fact that of Mary the mother of Jesus. This being so, we can perceive a sufficient reason, why this genealogy should be thus given, viz. in order to show definitely, that Jesus was in the most full and perfect sense a descendant of David; not only by law in the royal line of kings through his reputed father, but also in fact by direct personal descent through his mother.

That Mary, like Joseph, was a descendant of David, is not indeed elsewhere expressly said in the New Testament. Yet a very strong presumption to that effect is to be drawn from the address of the angel in Luke 1, 32; as also from the language of Luke 2, 5, where Joseph, as one of the posterity of David, is said to have gone up to Bethlehem to enrol himself with Mary his espoused wife; for this is the meaning of the Greek. The ground and circumstances of Mary's enrolment must obviously have been the same as in the case of Joseph himself. Whether all this arose from her having been an only child and heiress, as some suppose, so that she was espoused to Joseph in accordance with Num. 36, 8, 9, it is not necessary here to inquire.

It is indeed objected, that it was not customary among the Jews to trace back descent through the female line, i. e. on the mother's side. There are however examples to show that this was sometimes done; and in the case of Jesus, as we have seen, there was a sufficient reason for it. Thus in 1 Chr. 2, 22, Jair is enumerated among the posterity of Judah by regular descent. But the grandfather of Jair had married the daughter of Machir, one of the heads of Manasseh, 1 Chr. 2, 21, 7, 14; and therefore, in Num. 32, 40, 41, Jair is called the son (descendant) of Manasseh. In like manner, in Ezra 2, 61 and Neh. 7, 63, a certain family is spoken of as "the children of Barzillai;" because their ancestor "took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called after their name."

3. A question is raised as to the identity, in the two genealogies, of the Salathiel and Zorobabel named as father and son, Matth. 1, 12. Luke 3, 27. The Zorobabel of Matthew is no doubt the chief, who led back the first band of captives from Babylon, and rebuilt the temple, Ezra c. 2-6. He is also called the son of Salathiel in Ezra 3, 2. Neh. 12, 1. Hagg. 1, 1, 2, 2, 23. Were then the Salathiel and Zorobabel of Luke the same persons? Those who assume this, must rest solely on the identity of the names; for there is no other possible evidence to prove, either that they were cotemporary, or that they were not different persons. On the other hand, there are one or two considerations, of some force, which go to show that they were probably not the same persons.

First, if Salathiel and Zorobabel are indeed the same in both genealogies, then Salathiel, who according to Matthew was the son of Jechoniah by natural descent, must have been called the son of Neri in Luke either from adoption or marriage. In that case, his connection with David through Nathan, as given by Luke, was not his own personal genealogy. It is difficult therefore to see, why Luke, after tracing back the descent of Jesus to Salathiel, should abandon the true personal lineage in the royal line of kings, and turn aside again to a merely collateral and humbler line. If the mother of Jesus was in fact descended from the Zorobabel and Salathiel of Matthew, she, like them, was descended also from David through the royal line. Why rob her of this dignity, and ascribe to her only a descent through an inferior lineage?

Again, the mere identity of names under these circumstances, affords no proof; for nothing is more common in Scripture, even among cotemporaries. Thus we have two Ezras; one in Neh. 12, 1. 13. 33; from whom Ezra the scribe is expressly distinguished in v. 36. We have likewise two Nehemiahs; one who went up with Zorobabel, Ezra 2, 2; and the other the governor who went later to Jerusalem, Neh. 2, 9 sq. So too, as cotemporaries, Joram son of Ahab king of Israel, and Joram (Jehoram) son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah; 2 K. 8, 16. comp. v. 23. 24. Also, Joash king of Judah and Joash king of Israel; 2 K. 13, 9. 10. Further we find in succession among the descendants of Cain the following names: Enoch, Irad, Mehujael, Methusael, Lamech, Gen. 4, 17. 18; and later among the descendants of Seth these similar ones: Enoch, Methuselah, Lamech, Gen. 5, 21-25.

Various artificial theories of inheritances and intermarriages have at different times been proposed, in order to explain and harmonize the two genealogies. But in the view here taken all these become unnecessary. See Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on Luke 3, 23.

PART II.

§§ 14—20.

§ 14. For the time when John the Baptist entered upon his public ministry, see Note on § 7. p. 169.—On Matth. 3, 11 and the parallel passages, see the next Note.

§ 15. For the time of our Lord's baptism, see Note on § 7.—We may here, once for all, make a remark upon the difference of the words from heaven, as quoted Matth. 3, 17 and the parallel passages. A like difference is seen in the four copies of the title on the cross, Matth. 27, 37. Mark 15, 26. Luke 23, 38. John 19, 19. And still more, in the solemn words of our Lord at the institution of the cup, Matth. 26, 28. Mark 14, 24. Luke 22, 20. 1 Cor. 11, 25. Similar varieties of expression in the different reports of the same language are found in the following passages, as well as very many others : Matth. 3, 11. Mark 1, 7. Luke 3, 16. John 1, 27.—Matth. 9, 11. Mark 5, 16. Luke 5, 30.—Matth. 15, 27. Mark 7, 28.—Matth. 16, 6—9. Mark 8, 17—19.—Matth. 20, 33. Mark 10, 51. Luke 18, 41.—Matth. 21, 9. Mark 11, 9. Luke 19, 38.—Matth. 26, 39. Mark 14, 36. Luke 22, 42.—Matth. 28, 5, 6. Mark 16, 6. Luke 24, 5, 6.—All these examples go only to show, that where the Evangelists profess to record the expressions used by our Lord and others, they usually give them according to the sense, and not according to the letter; and this must be regarded as a general principle of interpretation in the Gospels and elsewhere.

§ 16. That the temptation of Jesus took place directly after his baptism, appears from the word "immediately" in Mark 1, 12; and also from a comparison of John 1, 29. 35. 44.—According to Mark and Luke, Jesus was subjected to temptation during the forty days. Matthew and Luke specify three instances of temptation, but in a different order. One of these apparently must have occurred at the end of the forty days. The order of Matthew is perhaps the most natural of the two; though, as the accounts were probably derived from the recital of our Lord himself, given at various times, in his intercourse with his disciples, the true order may have been different from either.

§ 18. In v. 21 the Baptist declares that he was not Elias; meaning that he was not Elias risen from the dead. In Matth. 17, 12 Jesus says that "Elias is come already;" meaning that John had come "in the spirit and power of Elias;" Luke 1, 17.

In v. 33, John the Baptist says he knew not Jesus; though in Matth. 3, 14

(§ 15) he appears to have known who he was. That is to say: John must have been acquainted with the events of his own childhood and that of Jesus; he had now come preaching and baptizing as his forerunner, v. 31; but he knew not Jesus personally before he came to be baptized; at which time God had promised him a sign, by which he might know certainly that Jesus was the Messiah.

§ 20. The third day refers back to John 1, 44. The journey in returning to Galilee did not require more than two days; the distance being, in any position of Bethabara, not over about fifty miles. Cana, now Kâna el-Jelîl, was situated about seven miles north of Nazareth, and about three miles N. by E. of Sephoris; see Bibl. Res. in Palest. III. p. 204.

PART III.

OUR LORD'S FIRST PASSOVER, AND THE SUBSEQUENT TRANSACTIONS UNTIL THE SECOND.

§§ 21—35.

§ 21. This our Lord's first Passover is mentioned only by John; though the language of the other Evangelists implies, that he had been again in Judea; Matth. 4, 12. Mark 1, 14.

John connects with this first Passover the cleansing of the temple and the casting out of the traders; while the other Evangelists describe a like transaction at his last Passover, Matth. 21, 12 sq. Mark 11, 15 sq. Luke 19, 45 sq. The question is raised, whether these were different transactions; and whether there is not here a neglect of the order of time, either by John or in the other Gospels. As the language and the note of time in all the Evangelists in respect to both the instances, is entirely definite and specific, the answer may be said to depend upon a further question, viz. Whether our Lord would be likely to repeat a highly symbolic and important public act, after an interval of two or three years? That he was accustomed to repeat the substance of his discourses, or at least the more striking parts of them, at different times and before different persons, is sufficiently obvious. Compare Luke 11, 37–54 uttered in Galilee, with Matth. 23, 1–39 delivered at Jerusalem; likewise Matth. 5, 13 in the Sermon on the Mount, with Mark 9, 50 and Luke 14, 34. 35, spoken elsewhere; and also the different examples of the Lord's prayer, Matth. 6, 9–13. Luke 11, 2–4. Further, Matth. 5, 29. 30 compared with Mark 9, 43–47; and Matth. 6. 25–33, with Luke 12, 22–31. Such examples indeed may be multiplied almost indefinitely, as the pages of the Harmony every where show. Now if this is true in respect to the discourses of Christ, why might he not just as well have repeated, after a long interval and before different persons, a public symbolical act, so significant in itself, and so expressive of his character and authority as the Messiah? The Jews, it seems, did not question his right to perform such an act, provided he was a true prophet. They only demanded some sign of his authority; John 2, 18. This Jesus gave, and had already given in his mighty works, wrought at the same Passover, v. 23; works which drew from Nicodemus, a Pharisee and a member of the Sanhedrim, the admission, that he was “a teacher come from God;” John 3, 2.

On the “three days” in John 2, 20, see Note on § 49.

§§ 23, 24. The order is here determined by comparing John, 3, 24 with Matth. 4, 12. Mark 1, 14. Jesus goes out with his disciples from Jerusalem into the country of Judea; where he remains until after John was cast into prison. See the next Note.

§ 25. John 4, 35 contains a specification of time which is tolerably definite: “Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest?” According to Lev. 23, 5-7. 10. 11. 14. 15, and Jos. Antiq. 3. 10. 5, the first-fruits of the barley-harvest were presented on the second day of the paschal week; while the wheat harvest was two or three weeks later; see Bibl. Res. in Palest. II. p. 99 sq. Hence this journey of our Lord must have been made in the latter part of November or in December, about eight months after the preceding Passover. It follows, that the public ministry of John the Baptist had continued for at least a year and six months, before his imprisonment; that is to say, on the supposition that he commenced his labours about the time of the Passover in the preceding year. See Note on § 7, last paragraph.

§ 28. The visit to Nazareth is inserted here on the testimony of Luke 4, 16 sq. which is supported by Matth. 4, 13. The visit mentioned in Matth. 13, 54 sq. Mark 6, 1 sq. was later, and took place after the raising of Jairus’ daughter.

Our Lord’s escape from the crowd, Luke 4, 30, does not seem necessarily to imply any thing directly supernatural; see the similar circumstances narrated, John 8, 59. 10, 39.

§ 29. That the call of the four Apostles belongs here, in accordance with Mark’s order, is obvious; since they were afterwards present with Jesus at the healing of the demoniac and of Peter’s wife’s mother, §§ 30, 31.—The three accounts all evidently relate to the same transaction. Luke relates more particularly the former part, including the putting off upon the lake in Simon’s boat and also the miraculous draught of fishes; and passes lightly over the latter part. Matthew and Mark, on the other hand, narrate the former part only generally; but the latter part with more detail. In the one part, Luke introduces circumstances which the others omit; in the other part, Matthew and Mark mention facts which Luke has not noted. The remark of Spanheim is here just: “The facts narrated by Luke are not contradicted by Matthew, but only passed over. Nothing is more common than that circumstances omitted by one, should be supplied by another; lest the sacred writers should seem to have written by compact, or lest the readers should cleave to one and neglect the others.” Dubia Evang. Tom. III. Dub. 72. vii.

OUR LORD'S SECOND PASSOVER, AND THE SUBSEQUENT TRANSACTIONS UNTIL THE THIRD.

§ 36. In John 5, 2, the marginal reading of the English version is adopted, viz. "sheep gate" instead of "sheep market." We know there was such a gate, Neh. 3, 1. 12, 39; but there is no mention of such a market.

On the phrase "a feast [festival] of the Jews," John 5, 1, turns mainly the question as to the duration of our Lord's public ministry. John notes distinctly three Passovers; John 2, 13. 6, 4. 12, 1. If now this festival be another Passover, then our Lord's public labours continued during three and a half years; if not, then the time of his ministry must in all probability be reckoned one year less.

The only reasonable ground of doubt in this case, is the absence (in the Greek) of the definite article before the word signifying feast, or rather festival. Did the text read "the feast of the Jews," (as is actually the case in some Manuscripts and Editions,) then, as most admit, it would with sufficient definiteness denote the Passover; comp. Matth. 26, 5. Luke 2, 42. John 4, 45. 11, 56. etc. At any rate, even as the text now stands, it may assuredly in itself just as well denote the great Jewish festival, as any other. The following considerations seem to show, that it does most probably thus stand for a Passover, viz. the second in our Lord's public ministry.

1. The same word without the article is put definitely for the Passover, in the phrase "at the feast," where our English version from necessity inserts the or that, Matth. 27, 15. Mark 15, 6. Luke 23, 17. Comp. John 18, 39.

2. It is not probable, that John means here to imply that the festival was indefinite or uncertain. Such is not his usual manner. The Jewish festivals were to him the measures of time; and in every other instance they are definitely specified. So the Passover, John 2, 23. 12, 1; even when Jesus does not visit it, 6, 4; and also when it is expressed only by the feast, 4, 45. 11, 56. 12, 12. 20. So too the festival of Tabernacles, 7, 2; and of the Dedication, 10, 22. This is all natural in him; for an indefinite festival could afford no note of time.

3. The plucking of the ears of grain by the disciples (§ 37 and Note), shows that a Passover had just been kept; which tallies accurately with this visit of our Lord to Jerusalem.

4. This feast could not have been the festival either of Pentecost or of Tabernacles next following our Lord's first Passover. He returned from Judea to Galilee not until eight months after that Passover, when both these festivals were already past; see Note on § 25.—That it might by possibility have been the Pentecost after a second Passover not mentioned, and before that in John 6, 4, cannot perhaps be fully disproved; but such a view has in itself no probability, and is apparently entertained by no one. At any rate it also would give the same duration of three and a half years to our Lord's ministry.

5. Nor can we well understand here the festival of Purim, which occurred on the fourteenth and fifteenth of the month Adar (March), one month before the Passover; see Esth. 9, 21. 22. 26-28. Against this the following considerations present themselves: (a) The Jews did not go up to Jerusalem to celebrate the festival of Purim. The observance of it among that people throughout the world, consisted solely in reading the Book of Esther in their synagogues on those days, and making them "days of fasting and joy, and of sending portions [dishes] one to another, and gifts to the poor;" Esth. 9, 22. Jos. Ant. 11. 6. 13. But the "multitude," John 5, 13, seems to imply a concourse of strangers at one of the great festivals.—(b) It is very improbable, that Jesus would have gone up to Jerusalem at the Purim, to which the Jews did not go up, rather than at the Passover, which occurred only a month later. His being once present at the festival of Dedication (John 10, 22) is not a parallel case; since he appears not to have gone up for that purpose, but this festival occurred while he remained in or near Jerusalem after the festival of Tabernacles, John 7, 2 sq.—(c) The infirm man was healed on the Sabbath, John 5, 9; which Sabbath belonged to the festival, as the whole context shows, John 5, 1. 2. 10-13. But the Purim was never celebrated on a Sabbath; and, when it happened to fall on that day, was regularly deferred; see Reland Antiq. Heb. IV. 9.

6. The main objection urged against taking this festival as a Passover, is the circumstance, that in such case, as our Lord did not go up to the Passover spoken of in John 6, 4, but only at the subsequent festival of Tabernacles in John 7, 2 sq. he would thus have absented himself from Jerusalem for a year and six months; a neglect, it is alleged, inconsistent with his character and with a due observance of the Jewish law. But a sufficient reason is assigned for this omission, viz. "because the Jews sought to kill him," John 7, 1. comp. 5, 18. It obviously had been our Lord's custom to visit the Holy City every year at the Passover; and because, for the reason assigned, he once let this occasion pass by, he therefore went up six months afterwards at the festival of Tabernacles. All this presents a view perfectly natural; and covers the whole ground. Nor have we any right to assume, as many do, that our Lord regularly went up to Jerusalem on other occasions, besides those specified in the New Testament.

In this instance, the most ancient view is that which interprets the festival as a Passover. So Irenæus in the third century; and the same view was adopted by Eusebius, Theodoret, and others; and in later times has been followed by Luther, Scaliger, Grotius, Lightfoot, Le Clerc, Lampe, Hengstenberg, etc. Cyril and Chrysostom held to a Pentecost; and so, in modern times, Erasmus, Calvin, Beza, Bengel, etc. The festival of Purim was first suggested by Keppler; and at the present day this is the only view, aside from the Passover, that finds advocates. Those who hold it, as Hug, Neander, Olshausen, Tholuck, Meyer, (Lücke and De Wette leave the question undecided,) regard John 6, 4 as having reference to the second Passover during our Lord's ministry; which latter thus becomes limited to two and a half years.

§ 37. The circumstances here narrated show that a Passover had just been celebrated; see Note on § 25. The phrase "second sabbath after the first" in Luke 6, 1, is more properly translated “the second-first sabbath,” and was probably a sort of proper name for the first Sabbath after the second day of the Passover or of unleavened bread; that is, the first of the seven Sabbaths reckoned between that day and Pentecost; see the Greek Lexicons, also Scaliger Emendat. Tempp. VI. 557. Our Lord would seem to have hastened away from Jerusalem; for which a reason is found in John 5, 16. 18.

§ 40. The appointment of the Twelve follows here according to Mark and Luke. Matthew gives their names in c. 10, 24, as having been already appointed. Lebbeus, called also Thaddeus by Matthew and Mark, is the same as Jude the brother of James in Luke. The epithet Zelotes, Zealot, is the Greek translation of the Hebrew word, Cananite, Zealot. Nathaniel, who is mentioned with the Apostles in John 21, 2, was probably the same as Bartholomew, who elsewhere also is coupled with Philip; see John 1, 45 sq.

§ 41. The Sermon on the Mount finds its proper place here, in accordance with the order of Luke. The correctness of this order, so far as it respects Matthew, depends on the question: Whether the discourse as reported by the two Evangelists is one and the same, and was delivered on the same occasion? The question is answered at the present day by interpreters, with great unanimity, in the affirmative; and mainly for the following reasons.

1. The choice of the Twelve by our Lord, as his ministers and witnesses, furnished an appropriate occasion for this public declaration respecting the spiritual nature of his kingdom, and the life and character required of those who would become his true followers. Luke expressly assigns this as the occasion; and although Matthew is silent here and elsewhere as to the selection of the Apostles, yet some passages of the discourse as reported by him, seem to presuppose their previous appointment as teachers; see Matth. 5, 13. 14. 7, 6.

2. The beginning and the end of both discourses, and the general course of thought in both, exhibit an entire accordance one with the other.

3. The historical circumstances which follow both discourses are the same, viz. the entrance into Capernaum and the healing of the Centurion’s servant.

The main objection which has been felt and urged against the identity of the two discourses, is the fact, that Matthew’s report contains much that is not found in Luke; while, on the other hand, Luke adds a few things not found in Matthew, as vv. 24–26. 38–40. 45; and, further, his expressions are often modified and different, as in vv. 20. 29. 35. 36. 43. 44. 46. But this objection vanishes, if we look at the different objects which the two Evangelists had in view. Matthew was writing chiefly for Hebrew Christians; and it was therefore important for him to bring out, in full, the manner in which our Lord enforced the spiritual nature of his dispensation and doctrine, in opposition to the mere letter of the Jewish law and the teaching and corrupt practice of the Scribes and Pharisees. This he does particularly, and with many examples, in Matth. 5, 18–38. 6, 1–34. Luke, on the contrary, was writing mainly for Gentile Christians; and hence he omits the long passages of Matthew above referred to, and dwells only upon those topics which are of practical importance to all, whether Jew or Gentile. In other respects, the discourses, as given by the two writers, do not differ more than is elsewhere often the case in different reports of the same discourse. Compare Matth. 24, 1–42 with Mark 13, 1–37 and Luke 21, 5-36; also Matth. 28, 5-8 with Mark 16, 6-8 and Luke 24, 5-8. See also Note on § 15.

Some, in order to avoid the like difficulty, have supposed that our Lord first held the longer discourse in Matthew before his disciples on the top of the mountain; and afterwards descended and delivered the same in the briefer form of Luke to the multitudes below. But this is unnecessary; and the order of circumstances would seem rather to have been the following: Our Lord retires to the mountain and chooses the Twelve; and with them descends to the multitudes on the level place or plain, where he heals many. (§ 40.) As they press upon him, he again ascends to a more elevated spot, where he can overlook the crowds and be heard by them; and here, seating himself with the Twelve around him, he addresses himself to his disciples in particular and to the multitudes in general. See Matth. 5, 1. 2. Luke 6, 20; also Matth. 7, 28. Luke 7, 1.

The mountain where these events took place, was doubtless some part of the high ground on the west of the Lake of Tiberias, not far from Capernaum. The Romish church has the tradition, that the singular hill called Tell Hattîn, or Kûrûn Hattîn, was the spot; and that hill is hence known to travellers as the Mount of Beatitudes. But this eminence is seven or eight miles distant from the probable site of Capernaum; which seems inconsistent with Matth. 8, 5. Luke 7, 1. And further, this tradition is current only among foreign Latin monks, and cannot be traced back, even among them, beyond the twelfth century; while Christians of the Greek church, which has been native upon the soil from the earliest centuries, know nothing of it; and have indeed no tradition whatever connected with the Sermon on the Mount. See Bibl. Researches in Palestine, III. p. 240.

In Matth. 6, 1, p. 34, the marginal reading of the English version is inserted in the text, viz. "righteousness" instead of "alms." This is in accordance with all the critical editions of the Greek Testament, and also with the context; for the word "righteousness" is here general, including the subsequent specifications of alms v. 2, prayer v. 5, and fasting v. 16.

§ 42. In Matthew, the Centurion seems to come in person to Jesus; in Luke, he sends the elders of the Jews. This diversity is satisfactorily explained by the old law-maxim: Qui facit per alium, facit per se, "What one does by another, he does himself." Matthew narrates briefly; Luke gives the circumstances more fully. In like manner, in John 4, 1, Jesus is said to baptize, when he did it by his disciples. In John 19, 1, and elsewhere, Pilate is said to have scourged Jesus; certainly not with his own hands. In Mark 10, 35, James and John come to Jesus with a certain request; in Matth. 20, 20, it is their mother who prefers the request. In 2 Sam. 24, 1, God moves David to number Israel; in 1 Chr. 21, 1, it is Satan who provokes him.

§ 44. Matthew places this narrative after the sending out of the Twelve, Matth. 11, 1. 2. This appears to be too late; for, during the absence of the Twelve, John was beheaded; see Mark 6, 30. Matth. 14, 13. The order of Luke is therefore retained. Our Lord was probably at or near Capernaum; comp. § 45.

§ 48. The order of Mark is here resumed, who places these transactions next after the appointment of the Twelve, omitting the Sermon on the Mount and other intervening matters. The narrative of Luke is obviously parallel; although given by him in a different place and order. See in Introd. Note to Part VI. p. 185.

§ 49. The specification in Matth. 12, 40, that Jesus should be “three days and three nights” in the sepulchre, seems at first view not to harmonize with the accounts of his burial and resurrection. From these latter it appears, that he was laid in the tomb before sunset on the sixth day of the week or Friday, and rose quite early on the first day of the week or Sunday; having lain in the grave not far from thirty-six hours. See §§ 159, 160, and Notes. This accords with the usual formula which our Lord employed in speaking of his resurrection, viz. that “he should rise on the third day;” Matth. 16, 21, 20, 19. Mark 9, 31. 10, 34. Luke 9, 22. 18, 33. etc. Equivalent to this is also the expression, “after three days I will rise again,” Math. 27, 63. Mark 8, 31. John 2, 19. etc. This latter idiom is found also in John 20, 26, where eight days is put for a week. So too in German, the expression: nach drey Tagen, “after three days,” is always the same as: am dritten Tage, “on the third day;” the day after to-morrow; and acht Tage, “eight days,” is the more common phrase instead of eine Woche, “a week.”

In the present instance, Matth. 12, 40, the apparent difficulty arises from the form of the expression “three days and three nights,” which our Lord uses here, and here alone, because he is quoting from Jonah 1, 17. The phrase “day and night” doubtless in itself implies a day and night of twenty-four hours. But the Hebrew form of expression for three days and three nights, was likewise used generally and indefinitely for three days simply; as is obvious from 1 Sam. 30, 11. 12 (compared with v. 13), and from the circumstances there narrated. Such also is manifestly the case here.

§ 51. The order here connects back with Luke 11, 36, in § 49. Jesus receives the invitation of the Pharisee while he was speaking. See Introd. Note to Part VI. p 185.

§ 53. The order is here fixed by v. 1.

§ 54. The order here depends on Matth. 13, 1; comp. in § 50. The intervening events in §§ 51–53 are supplied by Luke. The place may be Capernaum; but this is not certain.

§ 56. Mark here fixes the order of time, “the same day at evening.” The incident of the Scribe and of another disciple, which Matthew gives definitely here, is related by Luke in a wholly different connection without any note of time. It is transferred hither, because it is of such a nature that it cannot well be supposed to have occurred twice in circumstances so exactly parallel. The conversation takes place, as our Lord was on his way from the house (Matth. 13, 36) to the boat.

§ 57. Origen says that a city Gergesa anciently stood on the eastern shore of the lake of Tiberias; Opp. IV. p. 140. Gadara was a larger city, whose district or jurisdiction apparently extended to the lake, and included Gergesa. In Matth. 8, 28, some critical editions read Gerasenes, and others Gadarenes.

Mark and Luke speak of only one demoniac; Matthew of two. Here the maxim of Le Clerc holds true: Qui plura narrat, pauciora complectitur; qui pauciora memorat, plura non negat; which may here be thus applied: "He who speaks of two, includes also the one; he who mentions only one, does not deny the two." Something peculiar in the circumstances or character of one of the persons, may have rendered him more prominent, and led the two former Evangelists to speak of him particularly. But their language does not exclude another.—A familiar example will illustrate the principle. In the year 1824, Lafayette visited the United States; and was every where welcomed with honours and pageants. Historians will describe these as a noble incident in his life. Others writers will relate the same visit as made, and the same honours as enjoyed, by two persons, viz. Lafayette and his son. Will there be any contradiction between these two classes of writers? Will not both record the truth? See Bibliotheca Sacra, 1845. No. I. p. 169.

§§ 58, 59. The call of Levi or Matthew is placed by the three Evangelists immediately after the healing of the paralytic in Capernaum; see §§ 34, 35. Very naturally too, they all three connect with his call an account of the feast which he afterwards made for Jesus; in order to bring together and present at once all that was personal to Matthew. But from Matth. 9, 18, it appears, that while our Lord was reclining and discoursing at that feast, Jairus comes to beseech him to visit his daughter lying at the point of death; and Jesus goes with him. Now this last transaction, according to Mark and Luke, did not happen until immediately after the return from the eastern shore of the lake. Hence the narrative of the feast is to be transferred to this place; and that too with the more certainty, because the Twelve appear to have been also present at it; Matth. 9, 10. Mark 2, 15.

§§ 63, 64. While the Twelve are absent preaching in the name of Christ, Herod causes John the Baptist to be beheaded in the castle of Machaerus at the southern extremity of Perea, near the Dead Sea; Jos. Ant. 18. 5. 2. In consequence of the preaching of the Apostles, Herod hears the fame of Jesus; is conscience-smitten; and declares him to be John, risen from the dead. The disciples of John come and tell Jesus; and the Twelve also return with the same intelligence; upon which Jesus retires to the northeastern coast of the lake, not far from the northern Bethsaida or Julias; see Eibl. Res. in Palest III. p. 308. All these events seem to have taken place near together.

Matthew and Mark narrate the death of the Baptist in explanation of Herod's declaration. The account of his imprisonment, which is retrospective in these two Evangelists, is transferred to § 24.

According to John 6, 4, the Passover was now at hand, viz. the third during our Lord's ministry. John therefore had lain in prison not far from a year and six months; and was beheaded about three years after entering upon his public ministry. See Note on § 25.

§§ 65, 66. From the region of the northern Bethsaida or Julias, the disciples embark for Bethsaida of Galilee, Mark 6, 45; or for Capernaum according to John 6, 17. They land on the plain of Gennesareth, Matth. 14, 34. Mark 6, 53. The next day the multitudes follow in boats to Capernaum seeking for Jesus, and find him there; John 6, 24. 25. 59. It follows, as a necessary conclusion, that Capernaum was on or near the plain of Gennesareth; most probably at its northeastern extremity. For the topography of this region, see Bibl. Res. in Palest. III. p. 288 sq. comp. p. 282 sq.

In John 7, 1, a reason is assigned why Jesus did not go up at this time to the Passover mentioned in John 6, 4. This was the third Passover during his ministry.

P A R T V.

FROM OUR LORD'S THIRD PASSOVER UNTIL HIS FINAL DEPARTURE FROM GALILEE AT THE FESTIVAL OF TABERNACLES.

§§ 67—82.

§ 67 sq. The order of events, as far as to § 79 inclusive, is in accordance with both Matthew and Mark; with whom Luke also coincides, so far as he touches upon the same transactions.

§ 68. Jesus retires from Galilee, first to the region of Tyre and Sidon; then he returns to the Decapolis; and goes afterwards to the district of Cesarea Philippi, now Bâniâs. All these were districts not under the jurisdiction of Herod; whose domain included only Galilee and Perea. Not improbably Jesus may have withdrawn from Galilee at this particular time, because the attention of Herod had been thus turned to him after the death of John the Baptist; and perhaps too on account of Herod's temporary presence in that province, by which his own personal danger would naturally be increased. See Note on §§ 63, 64.

§ 69. The Decapolis was a region comprising ten cities, situated chiefly on the S. and S. E. of the Lake of Tiberias. It included Scythopolis (Bethshean), Gadara, Hippo, Pella, Gerasa. The names of the other cities are less certain. Our Lord in returning from Tyre and Sidon had probably passed through Galilee. The feeding of the four thousand obviously took place in the Decapolis; since Jesus immediately afterwards passes over the lake to Magdala on its western shore.

§ 72. The healing of the blind man at the northern Bethsaida, is related only by Mark. It took place on the way from the eastern shore of the lake toward Cesarea Philippi, now Bâniâs.

§ 74. The phrase “after three days” of Mark 8, 31, is equivalent to “the third day” of Matth. 16, 21. Luke 9, 22. See Note on § 49.

§ 75. On Matth. 17, 12, see Note on § 18.

naum; see vv. 13. 15. It comes therefore here in its order, before our Lord leaves Galilee to go up to the festival of Tabernacles. The words "after these things" in v. 1, refer to the general series of events narrated in the preceding chapter; not to v. 51 sq. in particular. The incident of the Scribe, which there follows (v. 57 sq.) was in fact much earlier; see in § 56 and Note.

According to Luke 10, 1, the Seventy were to go to every city and place, whither our Lord himself would come. To what part of the country, then, were they sent? Not throughout Galilee; for Jesus apparently never returned to that province; and besides, both himself and the Twelve had already preached in all the towns and villages. Not in Samaria; for he merely passes through that district without making any delay. Possibly into some parts of Judea, whither our Lord himself afterwards came; but more probably along the great valley of the Jordan and throughout the populous region of Perea, which our Lord traversed and where he taught after the festival of Dedication, and as he for the last time went up to Jerusalem; see John 10, 40. Matth. 19, 1. Mark 10, 1. Luke 13, 22.—In accordance with this view, the return of the Seventy took place in Jerusalem or Judea, not long before the festival of Dedication (§ 89); immediately after which festival Jesus withdrew into Perea to follow up their labours, John 10, 40 sq. See Introd. Note to Part VI. p. 185, 186.

Our Lord's instructions to the Seventy have a striking resemblance to those given to the Twelve; see in § 62.

§ 81. Our Lord evades the hypocritical urgency of his relatives, and afterwards goes up to the festival more privately; that is, with less of public notoriety and without being followed as usual by crowds. The journey mentioned in Luke 9, 51 was obviously his last journey from Galilee to Jerusalem; and v. 53 shows that he was passing on rapidly and without delay. In both these circumstances, Luke accords with John; and the two accounts are therefore properly arranged together. See more in Introd. Note to Part VI. p. 184.

§ 82. The healing of the ten lepers evidently connects itself with the same journey through Samaria; and is narrated by Luke out of its proper order. Compare the incident of the Scribe and another, Luke 9, 57 sq. and see Note on § 56.

P A R T V I .

THE FESTIVAL OF TABERNACLES, AND THE SUBSEQUENT TRANSACTIONS UNTIL OUR LORD'S ARRIVAL AT BETHANY SIX DAYS BEFORE THE FOURTH PASSOVER.

§§ 83—111.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.—ORDER OF LUKE AND JOHN.

In this interval of time, from the festival of Tabernacles to our Lord's last arrival at Bethany, we encounter one of the most difficult portions of the whole Gospel Harmony.

According to John's narrative, Jesus, after leaving Galilee to go up to the festival of 'Tabernacles in October (John 7, 10), did not return again to Galilee; but spent the time intervening before the festival of Dedication in December, probably in Jerusalem, or, when in danger from the Jews, in the neighbouring villages of Judea; John 8, 59. Luke 10, 38 sq. Had Jesus actually returned to Galilee during this interval, it can hardly be supposed that John, who had hitherto so carefully noted our Lord's return thither after each visit to Jerusalem, would have failed to give some hint of it in this case also, either after c. 8, 59, or after c. 10, 21. But neither John, nor the other Evangelists, afford any such hint.—Immediately after the festival of Dedication, Jesus withdrew from the machinations of the Jews beyond Jordan; whence he was recalled to Bethany by the decease of Lazarus; John 10, 40. 11, 7. He then once more retired to Ephraim; and is found again at Bethany six days before the Passover, John 11, 54. 12. 1.

Matthew and Mark contain no allusion at all to the festival of 'Tabernacles; nor do we find any express mention of it in Luke. Yet Luke 9, 51 is most naturally referred to our Lord's journey at that time; and it implies also that this was his final departure from Galilee; see Note on § 81. Luke and John are therefore here parallel. The circumstances of danger, which had induced Jesus during the summer to retire from Galilee in various directions (see Note on § 68), as well as the approach of the time when "he should be received up," are reasons of sufficient weight to account for his having transferred, at this time, the scene of his ministry and labours from the north to Jerusalem and Judea, including excursions to the country on and beyond the Jordan.

In regard to the transactions during the whole interval of time comprised in this Part, Matthew and Mark are silent; except where they relate that our Lord, after his departure from Galilee, approached Jerusalem for the last time through Perea and by way of Jericho, where he was followed by multitudes; Matth. 19, 1. 2. 20, 29. Mark 10, 1. 46. With the transactions recorded by these two Evangelists during this last approach, Luke also has some things parallel; Luke 18, 15–43. The arrival at Bethany is common to the three; and in this they all accord with John; Matth. 21, 1. Mark 11, 1. Luke 19, 29. John 12, 1. 12 sq.

There exists consequently no difficulty in harmonizing Matthew and Mark, and so much of Luke as is parallel to them (18, 15 sq.) with John. But in Luke, from c. 9, 51, where Jesus leaves Galilee, to c. 18, 14, where the record again becomes parallel with Matthew and Mark, there is a large body of matter peculiar for the most part to Luke, and relating prima facie to the time subsequent to our Lord's departure from Galilee. How is this portion of Luke's Gospel to be arranged and distributed, in order to harmonize with the narrative of John? The difficulty of course does not exist in the case of those Harmonists, who, like Calvin, Griesbach, and others, attempt to bring together only the first three Evangelists.

Those Harmonists who have likewise included John's Gospel, have hitherto generally, and perhaps universally, assumed a return of our Lord to Galilee after the festival of 'Tabernacles; and this avowedly in order to provide a place for this portion of Luke's Gospel. But the manner in which it has been arranged, after all, is exceedingly various. Some, as Le Clerc, insert nearly the whole during this supposed journey. Others, as Lightfoot, assign to this journey only what precedes Luke 13, 23; and refer the remainder to our Lord's sojourn beyond Jordan. In like manner Schleiermacher, Neander, Olshausen, and others, assume a return to Galilee before the festival of Dedication; but differ greatly in their distribution of this part of Luke.

If now we examine more closely the portion of Luke in question (9, 51—18, 14), we perceive, that although an order of time is discoverable in certain parts, yet as a whole it is wanting in exact chronological arrangement. This indeed is admitted, at the present day, by all Harmonists and Commentators. It would seem almost, as if, in this portion peculiar to Luke, that Evangelist, after recording many of the earlier transactions of Jesus in Galilee in accordance with Matthew and Mark, had here, upon our Lord's final departure from that province, brought together this new and various matter of his own, relating partly to our Lord's previous ministry in Galilee, partly to this journey, and still more to his subsequent proceedings, until the narrative (in c. 18, 15) again becomes parallel to the accounts of Matthew and Mark. Such, for example, is the incident of the Scribe and of another in Luke 9, 52 sq.—an occurrence of such a nature that we cannot well suppose it to have happened twice, and which Matthew narrates at Capernaum, on the occasion of our Lord's first excursion across the lake; see § 56. The sending forth also the Seventy evidently took place at or near Capernaum, c. 10, 1 sq. see § 80 and Note. The transactions narrated in c. 10, 17—11, 13, have marks of chronological connection; and the scene of them is obviously Jerusalem or its vicinity; see § 86—89 and Notes. The healing of a demoniac and the consequent blasphemy of the Scribes and Pharisees in Luke 11, 14. 15. 17 sq. is parallel with the same events in Matthew and Mark, which these two Evangelists describe as having occurred in Galilee; see § 48 and Note. With this passage again Luke 11, 37—54 is immediately connected; see § 51 and Note. The transition to the next chapter (c. 12) is made by a phrase marking proximity of time; § 52 and Note. And, further, the words introducing Luke 13, 1, show that the conversation there given (vv. 1—9) immediately followed.—The remainder of this portion of Luke, c. 13, 10—18, 14 (with the exception of c. 17, 11—19, which obviously connects itself with the journey in c. 9, 51), contains absolutely no definite notation of time or place; nor any thing, indeed, to show that the events happened in the order recorded, or that they did not take place at different times and in different parts of the country. The only passage to which this remark does not perhaps fully apply, is c. 13, 22—35.

For these reasons, like Newcome, I have distributed Luke 9, 51—10, 16, and 11, 14—13, 9, (as also 17, 11—19,) in Parts IV, V, as already specified, among the transactions of our Lord's ministry in Galilee, between his second Passover and his journey to the festival of Tabernacles. The remainder of this whole portion of Luke, viz. c. 10, 17—11, 13, and 13, 10—17, 10, as also 17, 20—18, 14, remains to be disposed of in the present Part.

With many leading modern Commentators, I prefer here to follow the narrative of John, and infer that our Lord did not again return to Galilee after the festival of Tabernacles. So Lücke, Tholuck, Hengstenberg, De Wette, Meyer, and others. On this principle, therefore, the present Harmony is constructed. Hence, Luke 10, 17—11, 13 is inserted between the festival of Tabernacles and that of Dedication; see the particulars in the Notes on §§ 86—89.

More difficult is it to assign the proper place for Luke 13, 10—17, 10; the transactions recorded in which all cluster around or follow c. 13, 22, where Jesus is represented as travelling leisurely through the cities and villages towards Jerusalem. Now this journey cannot have been the same with that in Luke 9, 51 and John 7, 10; because there Jesus went up privately, while here he is accompanied by multitudes, Luke 14, 25. Nor can it have been a later journey from Galilee; for that in Luke 9, 51 was the final one. Nor indeed were the Jews accustomed to go up from the country to Jerusalem at the festival of Dedication; see Note on § 91. Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on John 10, 22. Besides, Luke 13, 22 stands in connection with the warning received by our Lord against Herod, vv. 31-33; which under the attendant circumstances cannot well be regarded as having been given in Galilee, and much less in Jerusalem. But Herod was lord also of Perea; and in that province he had imprisoned and put to death John the Baptist; Joseph. Ant. 18. 5. 2. It would therefore be natural, that our Lord, who had been less known in that region, and who now appeared there followed by multitudes, should receive warning of the danger he was thus incurring. Hence, I have ventured to assign this part of Luke (13, 10—17, 10) to that period of our Lord's life and ministry, which was passed in Perea after the festival of Dedication.

Our Lord first withdrew soon after that festival from the plots of the Jews into Perea, the province beyond Jordan: "He went away again beyond Jordan, into the place where John at first baptized; and there he abode. And many resorted unto him and believed;" John 10, 40-42. How long Jesus remained in that region before he was recalled by the death of Lazarus, can be only matter of conjecture. In that interval Lightfoot places all this part of Luke after c. 13, 22; see Opp. II. p. 39. In this I am unable to accord with that profound scholar; because the language of John does not necessarily imply that our Lord at this time made any journey or circuit in Perea itself. At least, it could not then and there be said of him in any sense, that "he went through their cities and villages, teaching, and journeying towards Jerusalem," Luke 13, 22; for he had just departed from Jerusalem, and was recalled to Bethany by a special message from the sisters of Lazarus, John 11, 3. 7. All this would seem to imply rather, that Jesus remained during this excursion, at least mainly, in the district "where John had baptized;" so that Martha and Mary knew at once where to send for him. It follows also as a natural inference, that this first sojourn beyond Jordan could not well have been a long one, nor probably have occupied more than a few weeks out of the four months intervening between the festival of Dedication and the Passover.

After the raising of Lazarus, Jesus again retired from the machinations of the Jews to "a country near to the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples;" John 11, 54. The Evangelist John records nothing more of his movements, until he again appears in Bethany six days before the Passover; John 12, 1. But the expression used by John as to his sojourn at Ephraim, (literally: there he passed the time,) does not preclude the idea of excursions from that place, nor of a circuitous route on his return to Bethany and Jerusalem at the Passover. Now Matthew, Mark, and Luke affirm expressly, that on his return Jesus went up to Bethany from Jericho; and the two former narrate, as expressly, that in thus reaching Jericho he had come "into the coasts of Judea by the farther side of Jordan," where great multitudes followed him, and he healed them and taught them, as he was wont; Matth. 19, 1. 2, Mark 10, 1. With all this the language of Luke 13, 22 accords perfectly: "And he went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying towards Jerusalem;" as does also the mention of the multitudes in Luke 14, 25. With this too accords Luke 13, 31–35, including the warning against Herod and our Lord's reply; as also the touching lamentation over Jerusalem, where Jesus was so soon to suffer. With this accords, further, the fact, that the narrative of Luke subsequent to the portion in question, viz. Luke 18, 15 sq. is parallel with that of Matthew and Mark during the same journey; see §§ 105–109.

After long consideration, therefore, I do not hesitate to refer Luke 13, 22, with the transactions and discourses of which it forms the nucleus, mainly to a journey of our Lord through the populous region of Perea, on his return to Bethany after sojourning in Ephraim. There may also have been excursions from that city to the neighbouring villages of Judea, or even to the Jordan valley. This city Ephraim I hold to be probably identical with Ephron and Ophrah of the Old Testament; and therefore apparently represented by the modern Taiyibeh, situated nearly twenty Roman miles N. N. E. of Jerusalem, and five or six Roman miles N. E. of Bethel, on the borders of the desert which stretches along on the west of the Dead Sea and the Valley of Jordan; see Note on § 93. It occupies a lofty site; and from it one overlooks the adjacent desert, the Jordan with its great valley, and the mountains of Perea beyond, with the Saracenic castle er-Rübûd, near Ajlûn, in the northern part of Perea, bearing about N. E. Even at the present day the hardy and industrious mountaineers of this place have much intercourse with the valley, and till the rich fields and reap the harvests of Jericho; see Bibl. Res. in Palest. II. p. 121. p. 276. It was therefore quite natural and easy for our Lord, from this point to cross the valley and the Jordan, and then turn his course towards Jericho and Jerusalem; while at the same time he exercised his ministry among the cities and villages along the valley and in the eastern region. Thither, indeed, he not improbably had sent before him the Seventy disciples (see Note on § 80); and some parts of the same district he himself had already visited.

I have therefore inserted the whole of Luke 13, 11–17, 10, after the mention of our Lord's sojourn at Ephraim; as belonging naturally to that period and to this return-journey through Perea. And then it only remained to let Luke 17, 20–18, 14 follow directly afterwards; because there is no mark nor authority for placing it any where else; and because too it immediately precedes, and thus connects with, that portion of Luke which is subsequently parallel to Matthew and Mark. Not that I would by any means assert, that all the events and the discourses of our Lord here given, are recorded by Luke in their exact chronological order; for this portion of his Gospel presents very much the appearance of a collection of discourses and transactions in themselves disconnected. Yet, as there are no marks nor evidence, internal or external, by which to arrange them differently, it seems hardly advisable, on mere conjecture, to abandon the order in which they have been left to us by Luke himself.

If it be objected, that this arrangement crowds too many incidents and discourses into this journey through Perea, the reply is not difficult. Matthew and Mark confine their previous narratives chiefly to Galilee; and give comparatively little of what took place later in Perea. Luke, besides recounting the like events in Galilee, has a large amount of matter peculiar to himself, without any definite notation of time and place; and it is therefore not unnatural to suppose, that an important portion of it may relate to this last journey. Again, there is room for allowing to this journey in Perea an interval of time, amply sufficient for all these transactions, and indeed many more. If we assume, that our Lord's first sojourn beyond Jordan, his return to Bethany, and the subsequent departure to Ephraim, occupied even two months (which is a large allowance), there still remained nearly two months before the Passover, in which to make excursions from Ephraim, and also traverse leisurely the distance through Perea to Bethany, requiring in itself, at the utmost, not more than five days of travel. If now we compare the transactions thus spread out over these two months (or not improbably over a longer interval), with those recorded during the following six days next before the Passover (see Part VII), we shall hardly be very strongly impressed with the idea, that too much in proportion is thus allotted to this journey.

§§ 86, 87. Our Lord had left the temple, and apparently the city ; John 8, 59. The healing of the blind man occurred later; see Note on § 90. While thus absent from the city, and yet in its vicinity, Jesus visits Bethany and is received by Martha and Mary, with whom very probably he may have been earlier acquainted. This visit is placed by Luke in immediate connection with the incident of the lawyer and the parable of the Good Samaritan ; which therefore are inserted here. The scene of that parable also implies, that it was spoken in the vicinity of Jerusalem and Bethany.

§ 88. Jesus repeats on this occasion the same model-form of prayer taught in the Sermon on the Mount, § 41. Luke's order is here retained ; as there is no evidence by which to assign any other.

§ 89. Luke relates the return of the Seventy in immediate connection with their appointment (Luke 10, 1-16), evidently by anticipation. Their appointment appears to have been one of our Lord's last acts in Galilee ; and they went forth, probably into Perea and elsewhere, while he proceeded to Jerusalem ; see Note on § 80. Their return to him at or near Jerusalem, is therefore here placed as late as may be, before the festival of Dedication.

§ 90. With the healing of the blind man the discourse in John 10, 1 sq. stands in immediate connection ; see c. 9, 40. And in the words of our Lord, John 10, 26, spoken at the festival of Dedication, there is a direct allusion to the figurative representation of the shepherd and his sheep in the same discourse. This implies that the same audience was then present, at least in part ; and consequently, that the discourse in question had been delivered not long before. For these reasons the healing of the blind man would seem also to have taken place near the beginning of the festival of Dedication, or at least not long before.

§ 91. The festival of Dedication was instituted by Judas Maccabeus to commemorate the purification of the temple and the renewal of the temple-worship, after the three years' profanation by Antiochus Epiphanes. It was held during eight days, commencing on the 25th day of the month Kislev, which began with the new moon of December. See 1 Macc. 4, 52–59. 2 Macc. 10, 5–8. Josephus calls it the festival of lights or lanterns, and speaks of it as a season of rejoicing; Antiq. 12. 7. 6, 7. It was celebrated by the Jews, not at Jerusalem alone, like the great festivals of the law; but at home, throughout the whole country, by the festive illumination of their dwellings; see Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on Joh. 10, 22.—According to John's narrative, Jesus was now at Jerusalem, not because the Jews were accustomed to go up thither at this festival, but because he had remained in the vicinity since the festival of Tabernacles; see Introd. Note to Part VI. p. 183, 184.

The place “where John at first baptized” (10, 40) was Bethabara beyond Jordan; or Bethany beyond Jordan, according to some manuscripts and editions; see John 1, 28. Nothing more is known as to its situation. On our Lord's sojourn here, and also the probable length of it, see Introd. Note to Part VI. pp. 184, 186.

§ 93. As the Sanhedrim had now determined, in accordance with the counsel of Caiaphas, that Jesus should be put to death, he therefore withdraws from Jerusalem to a city called Ephraim “near to the wilderness;” John 11, 54. This place has only recently been identified with any modern site. There is, however, little reason to doubt, that it was the same with the Ephraim or Ephron of 2 Chr. 13, 19, and also with the Ephron of Eusebius and Jerome, nearly twenty Roman miles north of Jerusalem. It lay also near the desert; and corresponds, therefore, in all these particulars with the modern Taiyibeh, a most remarkable and commanding site. See Bibl. Res. in Palest. II. p. 121–124.

Indeed, the coincidence of circumstances leaves little room for question, that Ephron and also Ophrah of the Old Testament, and Ephraim of the New, were all identical, and are all represented by the modern Taiyibeh. This then was the place to which our Lord withdrew.

For our Lord's sojourn in Ephraim, and his return thence through Perea to Bethany, see Introd. Note to Part VI. p. 187. For a fuller discussion respecting the identity of Ephraim with Taiyibeh, see Greek Harmony, p. 203, 204.

§ 94. Matthew and Mark, having omitted all mention of our Lord's presence and teaching in Jerusalem at the festivals of Tabernacles and of Dedication, as likewise all notice of the raising of Lazarus and other intervening events, here resume their narrative by relating, that after Jesus had left Galilee he approached Jerusalem, as the Passover drew nigh, by passing through the country beyond Jordan. Both Evangelists speak of the great multitudes that followed Jesus.

Luke 13, 10–21 is inserted here, because it immediately precedes, and is thus connected with, the notice of our Lord's journeying towards Jerusalem in Luke 13, 22; see § 95 and Note.

§ 95. For the reasons why Luke 13, 22 is arranged in this connection, see Introd. Note to Part VI. pp. 185, 186. For the appropriateness of this arrangement, so far as it respects vv. 31–35, see the same Note, p. 186, 187.

The lamentation over Jerusalem in v. 34 arises naturally from the mention of that city in v. 33. In Matth. 23, 37 sq. (§ 123) the same lamentation is repeated in connection with our Lord's denunciation of the Scribes and Pharisees in Jerusalem. Luke's phrase, "Ye shall not see me, etc." is explained by the like phrase of Matthew, "Ye shall not see me henceforth, etc." implying that he was now about to withdraw from the world, and that Jerusalem, which then rejected him, would not again behold him and enjoy the privilege of his presence, until compelled by his glorious manifestation to acknowledge him as the true Messiah.

§ 96–103. These sections are placed here for the reasons assigned in the Introd. Note to Part VI. p. 187.

§ 104. This section properly comes in here before § 105, where Luke is again parallel with Matthew and Mark.

§ 107. This discourse probably took place in Perea; as Jesus had not yet arrived at Jericho. The expression to go up, is used of any journey to Jerusalem or Judea; see Luke 2, 4. John 7, 8. 12, 20. Acts 18, 22.

§ 108. In Matthew it is the mother of James and John who makes the request; in Luke it is the two disciples themselves; see Note on § 42.

§ 109. Mark and Luke here speak of one blind man; Matthew of two. The case is similar to that of the demoniacs of Gadara; see Note on § 57.

More difficult is it to harmonize the accounts as to the place where the miracle was wrought. Matthew and Mark narrate it as having occurred when Jesus was departing from Jericho; while Luke seems to describe it as happening during his approach to the city. Several ways of solving this difficulty have been proposed.

1. The language of Mark is, "They came to Jericho." This, it is said, may be understood as implying, that Jesus remained some days at least in Jericho, where he would naturally visit points of interest in the vicinity; as, for example, the fountain of Elisha, a mile or more distant. The miracle, therefore, may have been wrought, not when he was finally leaving Jericho for Jerusalem; but when he was occasionally going out of, and returning to, Jericho. So Newcome, Harm. Note on § 108.

2. The Greek verb here rendered to come nigh, it is said, may signify not only to draw nigh, but also to be nigh or near. Hence, the language of Luke may include also the idea expressed by Matthew and Mark, i. e. while he was still near the city. So Grotius, Comm. on Matth. 20, 30. Passow in his Lexicon gives a like definition of the Greek verb, i. e. to be near, to draw near; but neither he nor Grotius brings forward any references to classic authors in support of such a meaning. Indeed, it is very doubtful, whether this definition can be fully sustained by classic authority. Yet in the New Testament and Septuagint there are several passages, which go to imply such a usage of the Greek word. Thus, Luke 19, 29 compared with Matth. 21, 1. So Phil. 2, 3 he was nigh unto death. The usage of the LXX is still more definite; e. g. of Naboth's vineyard, 1 K. 21, 2 because it is near unto my house. Also Deut. 21, 3, the city next [nigh] unto the slain man. v. 6. 22, 2; and trop. Jer. 23, 23. Ruth 2, 20.

2 Sam. 19, 42. These instances seem sufficient to bear out the proposed interpretation in Luke; which is also adopted by Le Clerc, Doddridge, Pilkington, and others.—Nor is this method of explanation “made useless for the purpose of reconciling the Evangelists, by Luke 19, 1,” as Newcome asserts. In connection with Jericho, Luke first of all relates this striking miracle; then goes back and mentions that Jesus “entered and passed through Jericho;” and lastly records the visit to the house of Zaccheus, apparently within the city. Luke 19, 1 therefore is not more at variance with this view respecting the miracle, than it is with the visit to Zaccheus. It is a passing announcement of a general fact, in connection with which other more important circumstances are related, not indeed in the order of time, but partly by anticipation.

3. Less probable than either of the above is the solution of Lightfoot and others, who assume that Jesus healed one blind man before entering the city, and another on departing from it. See Lightfoot Opp. II. p. 42.

§ 111. The phrase “out of the country,” John 11, 55, does not refer to the region of Ephraim; for those coming from that vicinity would hardly have made such inquiries. The phrase therefore signifies from the country generally, as distinguished from Jerusalem; compare in Luke 21, 21.

“Six days before the Passover” is equivalent to “the sixth day” before that festival; see Note on § 49. As our Lord ate the paschal supper on the evening following Thursday, (which evening was reckoned in the Jewish manner to Friday,) the sixth day before the Passover was the first day of the week or Sunday, reckoning back from Friday itself as one day, as is done in all like cases. Jesus then came to Bethany on the first day of the week, from Jericho.

John 12, 2-8, where the supper at Bethany is described, is postponed in accordance with the order of Matthew and Mark; see Note on § 131.

PART VII.

OUR LORD'S PUBLIC ENTRY INTO JERUSALEM, AND THE SUBSEQUENT TRANSACTIONS BEFORE THE FOURTH PASSOVER.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.—SCHEDULE OF DAYS.

THE Jewish day of twenty-four hours was reckoned from sunset to sunset, as is still the case in oriental countries. The paschal lamb was killed on the fourteenth day of Nisan towards sunset; and was eaten the same evening, after the fifteenth day of Nisan had begun; Ex. 12, 6. 8. Our Lord was crucified on the day before the Jewish Sabbath, that is, on Friday, Mark 15, 42; and as he had eaten the Passover on the preceding evening, it follows that the fourteenth of Nisan fell that year on Thursday, reckoned from the preceding sunset. Hence, the sixth day before the Passover, when Jesus came to Bethany, was the first day of the week or Sunday (see Note on § 111); and the transactions of the week, comprised in Parts VII and VIII, may be distributed according to the following Schedule; which differs somewhat from the Schema of Lightfoot; see his Hor. Heb. on Joh. 12, 2.

Day of Nisan.
Day of Week.

SCHEDULE OF DAYS.

9. 7. SAT. reckoned from sunset. The Jewish Sabbath. Jesus remains at Jericho.
10. 1. SUND. from sunset. Jesus arrives at Bethany from Jericho, John 12, 1.
11. 2. MOND. from sunset. Jesus makes his public entry into Jerusalem, § 112; and returns at night to Bethany, Mark, 11, 11.
12. 3. TUESD. from sunset. Jesus goes to Jerusalem; on his way the incident of the barren fig-tree. He cleanses the temple, § 113; and again returns to Bethany, Mark 11, 19.
13. 4. WEDN. from sunset. Jesus returns to the city; on the way the disciples see the fig-tree withered, Mark 11, 20. Our Lord discourses in the temple, § 115-126; takes leave of it; and, when on the Mount of Olives, on his way to Bethany, foretells his coming to destroy the city, and proceeds to speak also of his final coming to judgment, §§ 127-130.
14. 5. THURS. from sunset. The rulers conspire against Christ. On the eve of this day, (i. e. the evening following Wednesday,) our Lord had partaken of the supper at Bethany; where Mary anointed him, and where Judas laid his plan of treachery, which he made known to the chief priests in the course of this day.
15. 6. FRID. from sunset. At evening, in the very beginning of the fifteenth of Nisan, Jesus partakes of the paschal supper; institutes the Lord's Supper; is betrayed and apprehended; §§ 133-143. He is brought first before Caiaphas, and then in the morning before Pilate; is condemned, crucified, and before sunset laid in the sepulchre; §§ 144-158.
16. 7. SAT. The Jewish Sabbath. Our Lord rests in the sepulchre.
17. 1. SUND. Jesus rises from the dead at early dawn; see § 159 and Note.

§ 112. The time is specified in John 12, 12. The other Evangelists do not notice the fact, that Jesus had remained at Bethany the preceding night.

§ 113. Mark 11, 11. 12 specifies the time very exactly. On the cleansing of the temple, see Note on § 21.

Luke 21, 37. 38 is inserted here, because in Luke's order it is only retrospective; being placed after our Lord's discourses on the Mount of Olives, when he had already taken leave of the temple, to which he returned no more.

§§ 114-130. These sections include the numerous discourses and transactions of the fourth day of this week.

§ 114. The account of the withering away of the fig-tree might in itself well be connected with the preceding Section. But according to Mark 11, 20, this occurrence took place on the subsequent day.

§ 123. In Matthew, verses 13 and 14 are transposed, as in the best critical editions.

125. This incident of the Greeks is inserted here on the fourth day of the week, rather than on the second, because of John 12, 36; which implies that Jesus afterwards appeared no more in public as a teacher. He immediately takes leaves of the temple.

§ 126. The Evangelist John here gives his own reflections upon the unbelief of the Jews. From v. 44 we are not to understand, that Jesus, after having left the temple, returned and uttered this additional discourse. It is rather the vivid manner of the Evangelist himself; who thus introduces Jesus as speaking, in order to recapitulate the sum and substance of his teaching, which the Jews had rejected.

§§ 127-130. The topics of these Sections are more fully discussed in an article by the author of this work, in the Bibliotheca Sacra, 1843, No. III. pp. 531 sq.

§ 127. Our Lord takes leave of the temple, to which he returns no more; at the same time foretelling its impending destruction. On his way to Bethany, he seats himself for a time upon the Mount of Olives, over against the temple, where the city was spread out before him as on a map; and here four of his disciples put to him the question, "When shall these things be?" According to Matthew they add: "And what the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?" They were still in darkness; and believed, like the other Jews, that the Messiah was yet to go forth as an exalted temporal prince, to subvert the then present order of things, to overthrow their enemies and subdue all nations, and thus restore pre-eminency and glory to the Jewish people, and reign in peace and splendour over the world; see Luke 24, 21. Acts 1, 6. This was the expected coming and the end of the world, or present state of things, referred to in Matth. 24, 3; as also in Luke 17, 20 sq. 19, 11. See Biblioth. Sacra, ib. pp. 531-535.

Jesus does not directly answer the question of the four Apostles; but speaks of deceivers and calamities and persecutions, that should arise. His language here is strictly introductory to the next Section.

§ 128. That the "abomination of desolation" Matth. 24, 15 etc. refers to the Roman armies by which Jerusalem was besieged and destroyed, is shown conclusively by Luke 21, 20.

The subsequent desolation and calamity spoken of in Matth. 24, 29-31 and the parallel passages, may be most appropriately referred to the overthrow and complete extirpation of the Jewish people fifty years later under Adrian; when they were sold as slaves and utterly driven out from the land of their fathers. See Münter's Jewish War, translated by W. W. Turner in the Biblioth. Sacra, 1843. No. III. p. 393 sq. Compare ibid. p. 550 sq. This was the final war and catastrophe of the Jewish nation under the celebrated and mysterious Bar-Cochba, "Son of a Star." It was a catastrophe far more terrible than that of the destruction of Jerusalem; though the latter, in consequence of the vivid description of it by Josephus, has come to be usually considered as the last act in this great tragedy. Such, however, it was not.

The figurative language of these verses (Matth. 24, 29-31, etc.) is similar to that of many passages in the Old Testament, which refer to civil commotions and historical events, of far less importance than the destruction of Jerusalem and the overthrow of the Jewish state; see Is. 13, 9 sq. 19, 1. 5 sq. 34, 2. 4 sq. Ezek. 32, 2. 7. Ps. 18, 7-14. 68, 1 sq. etc. See also Biblioth. Sac. 1843, No. III. p. 545 sq. Further, Luke 21, 28 shows decisively, that these verses cannot have reference to the general judgment of the great and final day; the language of Luke directly expresses temporal deliverance, and that only. That some near catastrophe is meant, appears also from the limitation to "this generation," in Matth. 24, 34 and the parallel passages.

Matth. 24, 36-42 connects itself directly with what precedes, see v. 36; and refers likewise to the overthrow of the Jewish people and dispensation; comp. Luke 17, 20-37. But with v. 42 of Matthew, all direct reference to the Jewish catastrophe terminates. This appears from the nature of the language; and also further from the fact, that thus far both Mark and Luke give parallel reports; while at this very point their reports cease, and all that follows belongs to Matthew alone. This goes to show, that the discourse of our Lord up to this point is to be regarded as a whole, which is here completed; having reference to his coming for the overthrow of Judaism. At this point a new topic is introduced.

§§ 129, 130. Our Lord here makes a transition, and proceeds to speak of his final coming at the day of judgment. This appears from the fact, that the matter of these Sections is added by Matthew, after Mark and Luke have ended their parallel reports relative to the Jewish catastrophe; and Matthew here commences with v. 43, the same discourse which Luke has given on another occasion, in Galilee; Luke 12, 39 sq. § 52. (See Note on § 21.) This discourse in Luke has reference obviously to our Lord's final coming; and that it has here the same reference, is apparent from the appropriateness of the subsequent warnings, and their intimate connection with Matth. 25, 31-46; which latter all interpreters of note agree in referring to the general judgment. See Biblioth. Sac. l. ib. 553 sq.

§ 131. On the fifth day of the week the chief priests and others, after deliberation, came to the formal conclusion to seize Jesus and put him to death; Matth. 26, 3. 4. etc. As the means by which this purpose was aided and accomplished, the first three Evangelists narrate the treacherous intent of Judas; which again Matthew and Mark introduce by describing the circumstances under which it arose during the supper at Bethany. According to Matthew and Mark this supper would most naturally seem to have taken place on the preceding evening; that is, the evening which ushered in, and was reckoned to, the fifth day of the week. John's order would apparently assign it to the evening after the day on which Jesus came to Bethany.

As in the accounts of this supper itself, neither of the Evangelists has specified any note of time, we are left to infer from other circumstances, whether it more probably took place on the evening after the arrival of Jesus at Bethany, as John seems to imply; or, on the evening following the fourth day of the week, in accordance with Matthew and Mark, after our Lord had taken his final leave of the temple. The following are some of these circumstances.

1. The formal determination of the chief priests to put Jesus to death, was made early on the fifth day of the week, Matth. 26, 1-5. Mark 14, 1. etc. It was not until afterwards that Judas came to them with his proposal of treachery, which they received with joy, Matth. 26, 14. Mark 14, 10, 11. etc.

2. Matthew and Mark relate the supper as the occasion which led to the treachery of Judas. Stung by his Master's rebuke, he is represented as going away to the chief priests and offering to betray him. This act would then seem to have been done under the impulse of sudden resentment; and this view of the matter receives also some support from his subsequent remorse and suicide. All this accords well with the order of Matthew and Mark. But if the supper took place on the evening after Jesus came to Bethany, then Judas had already cherished this purpose of treachery in his heart for several days without executing it; and that too while our Lord was daily teaching in the temple, and there was abundant opportunity to betray him. Such a supposition, under the circumstances, is against probability.

3. The language of Matthew, "then Judas went," v. 14, seems necessarily to connect the visit of Judas to the chief priests immediately with the supper, which therefore must have taken place on the preceding evening. On the other hand, it would be very natural for John to anticipate the time of the supper and narrate it where he does, in order there to bring together and complete all that he had to say further of Bethany; which indeed he mentions no more.

There is no sufficient reason for supposing, with Lightfoot and others, that the supper in John is a different one from that in Matthew and Mark. The identity of circumstances is too great, and the alleged differences too few, to leave a doubt on this point. Matthew and Mark narrate it as in the house of Simon the leper; John does not say where it took place, but he speaks of Lazarus as one of those who reclined at the table, implying that the supper was not in his own house. It was not, and is not now, customary in the East, for females to eat with the males; and therefore Lazarus, in his own house, would have been the master and giver of the entertainment. In the two former Evangelists, the woman anoints the head of Jesus; in the latter his feet; yet neither excludes the other. Matthew and Mark do not here name Mary; nor have they any where else mentioned her or Martha or Lazarus. Nor do they in this connection name Judas; whom we know as the fault-finder only from John.

§ 132. "The first day of unleavened bread" is here the fourteenth of Nisan; on which day, at or before noon, the Jews were accustomed to cease from labour and put away all leaven out of their houses; Ex. 12, 15-17. Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on Mark 14, 12. On that day towards sunset the paschal lamb was killed; and was eaten the same evening, after the fifteenth of Nisan had begun; at which time, strictly, the festival of unleavened bread commenced and continued seven days. In popular usage, however, the fourteenth day, being thus a day of preparation, was spoken of as belonging to the festival; and therefore is here called the “first” day. That such a usage was common, appears also from Josephus; who, having in one place expressly fixed the commencement of the festival of unleavened bread on the fifteenth of Nisan (Antiq. 3. 10. 5), speaks nevertheless in another passage of the fourteenth as the day of that festival, B. J. 5. 3. 1. comp. Ant. 11. 4. 8. In this way, further, the same historian could say, that the festival was celebrated for eight days; Jos. Ant. 2. 15. 1.

On this fifth day of the week, as the circumstances show, our Lord, after sending Peter and John to the city to prepare the Passover, himself followed them thither with the other disciples, probably towards evening.

PART VIII.

THE FOURTH PASSOVER; OUR LORD'S PASSION; AND THE ACCOMPANYING EVENTS UNTIL THE END OF THE JEWISH SABBATH.

§§ 133—158.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.—THE PASSOVER.

As the events of our Lord's Passion were intimately connected with the celebration of the Passover, it seems proper here to bring together, in one view, those circumstances relating to that festival, which may serve to illustrate the sacred history. A more complete article upon this whole subject, was published by the author of these Notes in the Bibliotheca Sacra for August 1845, pp. 405–436; to which the reader is referred. See also Greek Harmony, p. 211 sq.

I. Time of killing the Paschal Lamb. The paschal lamb (or kid Ex. 12, 5) was to be selected on the tenth day of the first month, Ex. 12, 3. On the fourteenth day of the same month, (called Abib in the Pentateuch, and later Nisan, Deut. 16, 1. Esth. 3, 7,) the lamb thus selected was to be killed, at a point of time designated by the expression between the two evenings, as in the marginal reading of our version, Ex. 12, 6. Lev. 23, 5. Num. 9, 3. 5; or, as is elsewhere said, at evening about the going down of the sun, Deut. 16, 6. The same phrase, between the two evenings, is put for the time of the daily evening sacrifice, Ex. 29, 39. 41. Num. 28, 4. The time thus marked was regarded by the Samaritans and Karaites, as being the interval between sunset and deep twilight; while the Pharisees and Rabbinists held the first evening to commence with the declining sun, and the second evening with the setting sun. Hence, according to the latter, the paschal lamb was to be killed in the interval between the ninth and eleventh hour, equivalent to our three and five o'clock, p. m. That this was in fact the practice among the Jews in the time of our Lord, appears from the testimony of Josephus; B. J. 6. 9. 3. The daily evening sacrifice also was offered at the ninth hour or three o'clock, p. m. Jos. Antiq. 14. 4. 3. See Acts 3. 1.

The true time, then, of killing the Passover in our Lord's day, was between the ninth and eleventh hour, or towards sunset, near the close of the fourteenth day of Nisan.

II. Time of eating the Passover. This was to be done the same evening. "And they shall eat the flesh in that night, roast with fire, and unleavened bread, and with bitter herbs shall they eat it," Ex. 12, 8. The Hebrews in Egypt ate the first Passover, and struck the blood of the victims on their door-posts, on the evening before the last great plague; at midnight the Lord smote all the first-born; and in the morning the people broke up from Rameses on their march towards the Red Sea, viz. "on the fifteenth day of the first month, on the morrow after the Passover," Num. 33, 3.

It hence appears, very definitely, that the paschal lamb was to be slain in the afternoon of the fourteenth day of the month; and was eaten the same evening; that is, on the evening which was reckoned to and began the fifteenth day.

III. Festival of unleavened Bread. From Ex. 12, 17. 18, comp. Deut. 16, 3. 4; and from Lev. 23, 6, comp. Num. 28, 17; it appears, that the festival of unleavened bread began strictly with the passover-meal, at or after sunset following the fourteenth day, and continued until sunset at the end of the twenty-first day. Comp. Jos. Ant. 3. 10. 5.

We have already seen that it was customary for the Jews, on the fourteenth day of Nisan, to cease from labour at or before mid-day; to put away all leaven out of their houses before noon; and to slay the paschal lamb towards the close of the day; see above and Note on § 132. Hence, in popular usage, the fourteenth day very naturally came to be reckoned as the beginning or first day of the festival, Matth. 26, 17. Mark 14, 12; and Josephus also could say, that the festival was celebrated for eight days; see Note on § 132.

It is hardly necessary to remark, that in consequence of the close mutual relation between the Passover and the festival of unleavened bread, these terms are often used interchangeably, especially in Greek, for the whole festival, including both the paschal supper and the seven days of unleavened bread; see Luke 22, 1. John 6, 4. Acts 12, 3. 4. Jos. Ant. 2. 1. 3. comp. B. J. 5. 3. 1.

IV. Other Paschal Sacrifices. 1. In Num. 28, 18-25, it is prescribed, that on the first and last days of the festival, the fifteenth and twenty-first of Nisan, there should be a holy convocation, in which, "no manner of servile work" should be done. And on each of the seven days, besides the ordinary daily sacrifices of the Sanctuary, there was to be "a burnt offering unto the Lord; two young bullocks, and one ram, and seven lambs of the first year;" also a meat-offering, and "one goat for a sin-offering." The first and last days of the festival, therefore, were each a day of convocation and of rest, and hence were strictly sabbaths; distinct from the weekly Sabbath, except when one of them happened to fall upon this latter.

2. On the morrow after this first day of rest or sabbath, that is, on the sixteenth day of Nisan, the first fruits of the harvest were offered, together with a lamb as a burnt-offering; Lev. 23, 10-12. This rite is expressly assigned by Josephus, in like manner, to the second day of the festival, the sixteenth of Nisan; Antiq. 3. 10. 5. The grain offered was barley; this being the earliest ripe, and its harvest occurring a week or two earlier than that of wheat; Jos. ib. Bibl. Res. in Palest. II. p. 99. Until this offering was made, no husbandman could begin his harvest; nor might any one eat of the new grain; Lev. 23, 14. It was therefore a rite of great importance; and in the time of our Lord and later was performed with many ceremonies. See Biblioth. Sacra, ib. p. 408.

Comp. Lev. 2, 14–16. Jos. Ant. 3. 10. 5. Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on John 19, 31. Reland Antiqq. Sac. 4. 3. 8.

3. There was also another sacrifice connected with the Passover, known among the later Hebrews as the Khagigah, or festival; of which there are traces likewise in the Old Testament. It was a festive thank-offering, (Engl. Vers. peace-offering,) made by private individuals or families, in connection with the Passover, but distinct from the appointed public offerings of the temple. Such voluntary sacrifices or free-will offerings were provided for and regulated by the Mosaic law. The fat only was burned on the altar (Lev. 3, 3. 9. 14); the priest had for his portion the breast and right shoulder (Lev. 7, 29–34. 10, 14); and the remainder was eaten by the bringer with his family and friends in a festive manner, on the same or the next day; Lev. 7, 16–18. 22, 29. 30. Deut. 12, 17. 18. 27. 27, 7. These private sacrifices were often connected with the public festivals, both in honour of the same, and as a matter of convenience; Num. 10, 10. Deut. 14, 26. 16, 11. 14. comp. 1 Sam. 1, 3–5. 24. 25. 2, 12–16. 19. They might be eaten in any clean place within the city (Lev. 10, 14. Deut. 16, 11. 14); but those only might partake of them, as likewise of the Passover, who were themselves ceremonially clean; Num. 18, 11. 13. John 11, 55. comp. Num. 9, 10–13. 2 Chr. 30, 18. Jos. B. J. 6. 9. 3.

Such voluntary private sacrifices in connection with the Passover seem to be implied in the Old Testament, in Deut. 16, 2. 2 Chr. 30, 22. 24. 35, 7–9; see more in Biblioth. Sacra, ib. p. 409 sq. Hence, as being a sacrifice, thus connected with a festival, these private free-will offerings were themselves called, at least among the later Hebrews, by the name Khagigah, i. e. festival. The earlier Rabbins connect the Khagigah directly with Deut. 16, 2, as above; Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on John 18, 28. There was, however, some difference of opinion among them, as to the particular day of the paschal festival, on which the Khagigah ought to be offered, whether on the fourteenth or fifteenth of Nisan; but the weight of authority was greatly in favour of the fifteenth day. Yet the later accounts of the mode of celebrating the paschal supper seem to imply, that a Khagigah was ordinarily connected with that meal. Indeed, mention is made of a “Khagigah of the fourteenth day,” so called in distinction from the more important and formal ceremonial Khagigah of the passover-festival; which latter was not regularly offered until the fifteenth day, when the paschal supper had already been eaten. The former was then a mere voluntary oblation of thanksgiving, made for the purpose of enlarging and diversifying the passover-meal. See Lightfoot Ministerium Templi 13. 4. ib. c. 14. Reland Antiqq. Sac. 4. 2. 2.

V. The Paschal Supper. For a full account of this meal, both in its original institution and as it was probably celebrated in the time of our Lord, see Biblioth. Sacra, ib. p. 411 sq. That the Jews in the course of ages had neglected some of the original precepts, and also introduced various additional ceremonies, is evident from the manner in which our Lord celebrated the supper, as narrated by the Evangelists. What all these additions were, we have no specific historical account from cotemporary writers; yet the precepts preserved in the Mishnah and Talmud of Jerusalem, (compiled in the third century from earlie. traditions,) probably refer to the most important of them, and serve to throw light upon some of the circumstances connected with the institution of the Lord’s Supper. See Lightfoot Minist. Templi c. 13. Hor. Heb. on Matth. 26.

26. 27. Werner de poculo Benedict. in Ugolini Thesaur. T. XXX. See too Biblioth. Sac. ib. p. 411 sq.

According to these authorities, four cups of red wine, usually mingled with one fourth part of water, were drunk during the meal, and served to mark its progress. The first was merely preliminary, in connection with a blessing invoked upon the day and upon the wine; and this corresponds to the cup mentioned in Luke 22, 17. Then followed ablutions, and the bringing in of bitter herbs, the unleavened bread, the roasted lamb, and also the Khagigah of the fourteenth day, and a broth or sauce made with spices. After this followed the instructions to the son, etc. respecting the Passover; and the first part of the Hallel or song of praise (Pss. 113. 114) was repeated. The second cup was now drunk. Next came the blessing upon each kind of food; and the guests partook of the meal reclining; the paschal lamb being eaten last. Thanks were then returned, and the third cup drunk, called the cup of blessing; comp. 1 Cor. 10, 16. The remainder of the Hallel (Pss. 115–118) was now repeated and the fourth cup drunk; which was ordinarily the end of the celebration. Sometimes a fifth cup might be added, after repeating the great Hallel, Pss. 120–137.

The institution of the Lord's Supper probably took place at the close of the proper meal, immediately before the third cup, or cup of blessing, which would seem to have made part of it; comp. 1 Cor. 10, 16.

VI. Did our Lord, the night in which he was betrayed, eat the Passover with his Disciples? Had we only the testimony of the first three Evangelists, not a doubt upon this question could ever arise. Their language (see § 132) is full, explicit, and decisive, to the effect, that our Lord's last meal with his disciples was the regular and ordinary paschal supper of the Jews, introducing the festival of unleavened bread; on the evening after the fourteenth day of Nisan. Mark says expressly, 14, 12: when THEY killed the passover; which, whether the subject they refer to the Jews or be indefinite, implies at least the regular and ordinary time of killing the paschal lamb. Luke's language is, if possible, still stronger, 22, 7: “Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the passover must be killed,” i. e. according to law and custom. This marks of course the fourteenth day of Nisan; and on that same evening our Lord and his disciples sat down to that same passover-meal, which had thus by his own appointment been prepared for them, and of which Jesus speaks expressly as the Passover, v. 15. Philologically considered, there cannot be a shadow of doubt, but that Matthew, Mark, and Luke, intended to express, and do express, in the plainest terms, their testimony to the fact, that Jesus regularly partook of the ordinary and legal passover-meal on the evening after the fourteenth of Nisan, at the same time with all the Jews.

When, however, we turn to the Gospel of John, we seek in vain in this Evangelist for any trace of the paschal supper, as such, in connection with our Lord at that time. John narrates indeed (c. 13) our Lord's last meal with his disciples; which the attendant and subsequent circumstances show to have been the same with that, which the other Evangelists describe as the Passover. Upon just that point, however, John is silent; but from this silence the inference can never be rightfully drawn, that this last meal was not the Passover; any more than John's similar silence in respect to the Lord's Supper warrants the conclusion that no such rite was ever instituted. John, as all admit, wrote his Gospel as a supplement to the others; and hence, in speaking of this last meal, he narrates only such circumstances as had not been fully set forth by the other Evangelists. He does not describe this meal as being the Passover, nor make any mention of the Eucharist, because this had been done, in both cases, in the most explicit manner, by Matthew, Mark, and Luke. In this way the difference in the two reports of the same occasion, is satisfactorily accounted for.

But there are a few expressions in John's Gospel, in connection with this meal, and especially with our Lord's Passion, which taken together might, at first view, and if we had only John, seem to imply, that on Friday, the day of our Lord's crucifixion, the regular and legal Passover had not yet been eaten, but was still to be eaten on the evening after that day.

The point of the whole inquiry relates simply to the time of the Passover. According to all the four Evangelists, our Lord was crucified on Friday, the day before the Jewish Sabbath; and his last meal with his disciples took place on the preceding evening, the same night in which he was betrayed. The simple question, therefore, at issue is, Did this Friday fall upon the fifteenth day of Nisan, or upon the fourteenth? Or, in other words, did our Lord on the evening before his crucifixion eat the Passover, as is testified by the first three Evangelists; or was the Passover still to be eaten on the evening after that day, as John might seem to imply?

This question has been more or less a subject of discussion in the church ever since the earliest centuries; chiefly with a view to harmonize the difficulties. It is only in recent years, that the alleged difference between John and the other Evangelists, has been urged to the extreme of attempting to make it irreconcilable.

John obviously wrote his Gospel as supplementary to the other three. He had them then before him, and was acquainted with their contents. He was aware that the other three Evangelists had testified to the fact, that Jesus partook of the Passover with his disciples. Did John believe that their testimony on this point was wrong; and did he mean to correct it? If so, we should naturally expect to find some notice of the correction along with the mention of the meal itself, which John describes, as well as they. Indeed, that would have been the appropriate and only fitting place for such a correction. But John has nothing of the kind; and we are therefore authorized to maintain, that it was not John's purpose thus and there to correct or contradict the testimony of the other Evangelists; and if not there, then much less by mere implication in other places and connections.

Let us examine the passages referred to in John's Gospel; and see whether they require to be so understood or interpreted, as to present any appearance of discrepancy. They are the following:

a) John 13, 1 : "before the feast of the passover." This form of expression, it is said, shows that our Lord's last meal with his disciples took place before the Passover; and could not, therefore, itself have been the paschal supper.

But we must here take into account the meaning of the Greek word thus rendered feast, the true and only proper signification of which is festival; that is, it implies every where a yearly day or days of festive commemoration; never a single meal or entertainment. So in Num 28, 16. 17, where the paschal supper, prepared on the fourteenth of Nisan and eaten at evening, is distinguished from the festival, (Engl. Ver. feast,) which began on the fifteenth and continued for seven days. See farther Luke 2, 41. 22, 1. In this view, the phrase in question does not mean "before the paschal supper," but "before the festival of the Passover," i. e. of unleavened bread (Luke 22, 1). It is equivalent therefore to the Engl. festival-eve; and here marks the evening before the festival proper of seven days' continuance; on which evening, during the (paschal) supper, our Lord 'manifested his love for his disciples unto the end,' by the touching symbolical act of washing their feet. It is therefore evident, that this passage does not sustain the inference attempted to be drawn from it.

b) John 18, 28: "and they themselves [the Jews] went not into the judgment-hall, lest they should be defiled; but that they might eat the passover." From this last phrase, it has been inferred, that the Jews were expecting to partake of the paschal supper the ensuing evening; and of course had not eaten it already.

But to bring out this inference, the phrase "to eat the passover" must be taken in the most limited sense, "to eat the paschal supper." This certainly cannot be necessary, unless the context requires such a limitation; which is not the case here.

The word passover in the New Testament is found in no less than three main significations: a) The paschal lamb; Mark 14, 12. Luke 22, 7. 1 Cor. 5, 7. b) The paschal meal; Matth. 26, 18. 19. Luke 22, 8. 13. Heb. 11, 28. c) The paschal festival, comprising the seven days of unleavened bread; Luke 22, 1. 2, 41 comp. 43. Matth. 26, 2. John 2, 13. 6, 4, etc.—As now there is nothing in the circumstances or context of John 18, 28, to limit the meaning of the word passover in itself either to the paschal lamb or paschal meal, we certainly are not bound by any intrinsic necessity so to understand it here in the phrase "to eat the passover." If, on the other hand, we adopt for it in this place the wider sense of paschal festival, two modes of interpretation are admissible, either of which leaves no room for the above inference.

1. By modifying the force of the verb to eat, so as to make the phrase "to eat the passover" equivalent to the more common expression, "to keep or celebrate the passover." Precisely this form of expression occurs in the Hebrew in 2 Chron. 30, 22, literally: "and they did eat the festival seven days;" where the English Version has it: "throughout seven days." The Septuagint translates correctly according to the sense, though not according to the letter: "and they fulfilled (kept) the festival of unleavened bread seven days."

2. Or we may assign to the word passover (paschal festival), by metonymy, the sense of paschal sacrifices, that is, the voluntary peace-offerings and thank-offerings made in the temple during the paschal festival, and more especially on the fifteenth of Nisan; called in later times the Khagigah; see p. 198 above. A like metonymy is found in Ps. 118, 27: "bind the sacrifice (festive offering, lit. festival) with cords." See too Ex. 23, 18. Mal. 2, 3. The same metonymy is assumed by some in the passage above quoted, 2 Chr. 30, 22; which they then render thus: "and they did eat the festival offerings seven days."

It is manifest, that both the above methods of interpretation are founded on fair analogies; and that either of them relieves us from the necessity of referring the phrase in question to the paschal supper, and thus removes the alleged difficulty. The chief priests and other members of the Sanhedrim, on the morning of the first day of the festival, were unwilling to defile themselves by entering beneath the roof of the Gentile procurator; since in that way they would have been debarred from partaking of the sacrificial offerings and banquets, which were customary on that day in the temple and elsewhere; and in which they, from their station, were entitled and expected to participate.

This view receives some further confirmation from the circumstance, that the defilement which the Jews would thus have contracted by entering the dwelling of a heathen, could only have belonged to that class of impurities, from which a person might be cleansed the same day by ablution; the ablutions of a day, so called by the Talmudists. See Lev. 15, 5 sq. 17, 15. 22, 6. 7. Num. 19, 7 sq. Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on Joh. 18, 28. If now the passover in John 18, 28 was truly the mere paschal supper, and was not to take place until the evening after the day of the crucifixion, then this defilement of a day could have been no bar to their partaking of it; for at evening they were or might be clean. Their scruple, therefore, in order to be well-founded, could have had reference only to the Khagigah or paschal sacrifices offered during the same day before evening.

c) John 19, 14: "and it was the preparation of the passover, about the sixth hour." Does this "preparation" refer, as usual, to the Jewish Sabbath, which actually occurred the next day? or does it here refer to the festival of the Passover as such, and as distinct from the Sabbath? It is only on the latter supposition, that the passage can be made, in any way, to conflict with the testimony of the other Evangelists.

This "preparation" is defined by Mark (15, 42) to be "the day before the Sabbath," i. e. the fore-sabbath, the day or hours immediately preceding the weekly Sabbath, and devoted to preparation for that sacred day. No trace of any such observance is found in the Old Testament; though the strictness of the Mosaic law respecting the Sabbath, which forbade the kindling of fire and of course the preparation of food on that day (Ex. 35, 2. 3. comp. 16, 22-27), would very naturally lead to the subsequent introduction of such a custom; as we find it in the times of the New Testament. In the still later Hebrew of the Talmudists, it bore the specific appellation eve, as being the eve of the Sabbath; Buxtorf Lex. col. 1659. The Greek word "preparation," is also every where translated by the like Syriac form for eve, in the Syriac Version of the New Testament.

Primarily and strictly, this "preparation" or "eve" would seem to have commenced not earlier than the ninth hour of the preceding day; as is implied, perhaps, in the decree of Augustus in favour of the Jews, where it is directed that they shall not be held to give pledges on the Sabbath, nor during the preparation before the same after the ninth hour; see Jos. Ant. 16. 6. 2. But in process of time the same Hebrew word for "eve" or "preparation" came in popular usage to be the distinctive name for the whole day before the Jewish Sabbath, i. e. for the sixth day of the week or Friday; Buxtorf Lex. col. 1659. Scaliger Emend. Temp. VI. p. 569. The same was the case in Syriac; and we know, too, that the corresponding word in Arabic for eve was likewise an ancient name for Friday; see Golius' Arabic Lexicon, p. 1551. Freytag III. p. 130. It appears then, that among the Jews, Syrians, and Arabs, the common word for eve, to which corresponded the Greek word "preparation," meaning the preparation of the weekly Sabbath, became at an early date a current appellation for the sixth day of the week. That is, Friday was known as the Preparation or Fore-sabbath; just as in German the usual name for Saturday is now Sonnabend, i. e. "eve of Sunday."

In the later Talmudists a passover-eve is likewise spoken of; Buxtorf Lex. col. 1765. But what this could well have been, so long as the passover (paschal supper) continued to be regularly celebrated at Jerusalem, it is difficult to perceive. The eve before the passover-festival could have included, at most, only the evening and the few hours before sunset at the close of the fourteenth of Nisan; as in the primary usage in respect to the fore-sabbath, as we have just seen. But according to all usage of language, both in the Old and New Testament, those hours and that evening were part and parcel of the passover-festival itself, and not its preparation; unless indeed the paschal meal and its accompaniments be called the preparation of the subsequent festival of seven days; which again is contrary to all usage. It would seem most probable, therefore, that this mode of expression did not arise until after the destruction of the temple and the consequent cessation of the regular and legal passover-meal; when of course the seven days of unleavened bread became the main festival.

But even admitting that a passover-eve did exist in the time of our Lord; still, the expression could in no legitimate way be so far extended as to include more than a few hours before sunset. It could not have commenced apparently before the ninth hour, when they began to kill the paschal lamb; see p. 196 above. On the other hand, the Hebrew term for eve, for which the Greek “preparation” stands in the New Testament, was employed, as we have seen, as a specific name in popular usage for the whole sixth day of the week or Friday, not only by the Jews, but also by the Syrians and Arabs. Hence, when John here says: “and it was the preparation of the passover, about the sixth hour,” there is a twofold difficulty in referring his language to a preparation or eve of the regular Passover; first, because apparently no such eve or preparation did or could well then exist; and secondly, because, it being then the sixth hour or mid-day, the eve or time of preparation (supposing it to exist) had not yet come, and the language was therefore inapplicable. But if John be understood as speaking of the weekly preparation or fore-sabbath, which was a common name for the whole of Friday, then the mention of the sixth hour was natural and appropriate.

We come then to the conclusion, that if John, like Mark in c. 15, 42, had here defined the phrase in question, he would probably have written on this wise: “and it was the preparation of the passover, that is, the fore-sabbath of the passover,” implying that it was the paschal Friday, the day of preparation or fore-sabbath which occurred during the paschal festival. In a similar manner Ignatius writes: “Sabbath of the Passover,” Ep. ad Phil. c. 13; and Socrates also: “Sabbath of the festival,” Hist. Ecc. V. 22. And further, in the only other two instances where John uses the word “preparation” in this way, he applies it to this very same day of our Lord’s crucifixion, and in this very same sense of the weekly preparation preceding the weekly Sabbath; John 19, 31. 42.

d) John 19, 31: “for that sabbath-day was an high day.” Here, as is alleged, it is the coincidence of the first festival day with the Sabbath, that made the latter a “high” or more properly a “great” day. This would certainly be the effect of such a coincidence; but the Sabbath of the Passover would also be still a “great” day, even when it fell upon the second day of the festival. The last day of the festival of Tabernacles is called “that great day,” though in itself not more sacred than the first day; John 7, 37. comp. Lev. 23,

33-36. So the calling of assemblies, Is. 1, 13, is translated "a great day" by the Seventy, implying that in their estimation any day of solemn convocation was a great day. The Sabbath, then, upon which the sixteenth of Nisan or second day of the festival fell, might be called "great" or "high" for various reasons. First, as the Sabbath of the great national festival, when all Israel was gathered before the Lord. Secondly, as the day when the first fruits were presented with solemn rites in the temple; a ceremony paramount in its obligations even to the Sabbath; see above p. 197. Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on John 19, 31. Reland. Antiqq. Sac. 4. 2. 4. p. 227. Thirdly, because on that day they began to reckon the fifty days until the festival of Pentecost, Lev. 23, 15 sq. In all these circumstances there is certainly enough to warrant the epithet "great," as applied to the Sabbath on which the sixteenth of Nisan might fall, as compared with other Sabbaths. There exists, therefore, no necessity, and indeed no reason, for supposing, that John by this language meant to describe the Sabbath in question as coincident with the first paschal day or fifteenth of Nisan.

The preceding four passages are those mainly urged against the consistency of John with the other Evangelists. One or two other considerations are also sometimes brought forward.

e) John 13, 27-30. Here the words: "Buy that we have need of against the feast [festival]," having been spoken apparently near the close of the meal, imply, as some suppose, that the passover-meal was yet to come. But this again is to mistake the festival for the paschal supper, a signification which is quite foreign to the word; see p. 200 above. The disciples thought Judas was to buy the things necessary for the feast on the fifteenth and following days. If now our Lord's words were spoken on the evening preceding and introducing the fifteenth of Nisan, they were appropriate; for some haste was necessary, since it was already quite late to make purchases for the next day. But if they were uttered on the evening preceding and introducing the fourteenth of Nisan, they were not thus appropriate; for then a whole day was yet to intervene before the festival. This passage therefore confirms, rather than contradicts, the testimony of the other Evangelists.

f) There remains the objection sometimes brought forward, that a public judicial act, like that by which Jesus was condemned and executed, was unlawful upon the Sabbath and on all great festival days; see Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on Matth. 27, 1. This consideration has, at first view, some weight, and has been often and strenuously urged; yet it is counterbalanced by several circumstances which very greatly weaken its force.

The execution itself took place under Roman authority; and therefore does not here come into account. And as to the proceedings of the Sanhedrim, even admitting that the prohibitory precepts already existed at this early time, (which is very doubtful,) yet there are in the Talmud other precepts of equal antiquity and authority, which actually direct and regulate the meeting and action of that body on the Sabbath and on festival days; see Tholuck's Comm. on John, p. 304 sq. Edit. 6. But besides all this, the chief priests and Pharisees and scribes, who composed the Sanhedrim, are every where denounced by our Lord as hypocrites, 'who say, and do not; who bind heavy burdens upon others, but themselves touch them not with one of their fingers;' Matth. 23, 1 sq. Such men, in their rage against Jesus, would hardly have been restrained even by their own precepts. They professed likewise, and perhaps some of them believed, that they were doing God service; and regarded the condemnation of Jesus as a work of religious duty, paramount to the obligations of any festival. Nor are other examples of such a procedure by any means wanting. We learn from John 10, 22. 31, that on the festival of Dedication, as Jesus was teaching in the temple, “the Jews took up stones to stone him.” On the day after the crucifixion, which, as all agree, was a Sabbath and a “great day,” the Sanhedrim applied to Pilate for a watch; and themselves caused the sepulchre to be sealed, and the watch to be set; Matth. 27, 62 sq. A stronger instance still is recorded in John 7, 22. 37. 44. 45; where it appears, that on the last great day of the festival of Tabernacles, the Sanhedrim having sent out officers to seize Jesus, “some of them would have taken him, but no man laid hands on him;” so that the officers returned without him to the Sanhedrim, and were in consequence censured by that body. The circumstances show conclusively, that on this last great day of that festival, the Sanhedrim were in session and waiting for Jesus to be brought before them as a prisoner. Nor was it merely a casual or packed meeting, but one regularly convened; for Nicodemus was with them, v. 50. And finally, according to Matth. 26, 3-5, the Sanhedrim, when afterwards consulting to take Jesus and put him to death, decided not to do it on the festival. Why? because it would be unlawful? Not at all; but simply “lest there should be an uproar among the people.” But when, through the treachery of Judas, this danger was avoided, the occasion was too opportune not to be gladly seized upon even on a great festival day.

All these considerations seem to me to sweep away the whole force of this objection; on which Scaliger and Casaubon, as also Beza and Calov, laid much stress; and which Lücke has again brought forward and urged with no little parade.

Such then is a general review of the passages and arguments, on the strength of which the alleged discrepancy between John and the other Evangelists in respect to this Passover has usually been maintained. Nothing has here been assumed, and nothing brought forward, except as founded on just inference and safe analogy. After repeated and calm consideration, there rests upon my own mind a clear conviction, that there is nothing in the language of John, or in the attendant circumstances, which upon fair interpretation requires or permits us to believe, that the beloved disciple either intended to correct, or has in fact corrected or contradicted, the explicit and unquestionable testimony of Matthew, Mark, and Luke.

For a fuller discussion of the subject, see the Greek Harmony, p. 211-224. For a review of other proposed methods of conciliation, and for the literature of the subject, the student is referred to the author’s article above mentioned, in the Biblioth. Sacra, for Aug. 1845, p. 405-436.

The contention among the disciples had apparently occurred quite recently, perhaps even in the guest-chamber while taking their places at the table. That they were prone to yield to such a spirit, is evident from the instances recorded in § 79 and also § 108. Our Lord on this solemn occasion reproves them; especially by the touching act of washing their feet; see § 134.

§ 134. The washing of the disciples' feet by their Lord and Master was an impressive lesson, that they should live in harmony and love and humility one with another. The occasion of this act was their previous contention, as related by Luke in § 133. Compare Luke 24, 26 sq. with John 13, 16 sq. John's narrative is supplementary to that of Luke; and therefore he does not speak of the contention itself, because the latter had already described it.

On the phrase "before the feast of the passover," v. 1, see above in Introd. Note, p. 200.—The phrase "supper being come," v. 2, is here equivalent to "during supper;" see v. 4 and v. 12. The time of the action was probably after they had taken their places at table, and before they had partaken of the proper meal; perhaps between the first and second cups of wine; see p. 199 above.

§ 135. The sequence of the transactions during the supper appears to have been the following: The taking of their places at table; the contention; the first cup of wine; the washing of the disciples' feet and reproof (§§ 133, 134); the pointing out of the traitor and his departure (§ 135); the foretelling of Peter's denial (§ 136); institution of the Lord's Supper (§ 137), etc. Luke's order differs from that of Matthew and Mark, in placing by anticipation the institution of the Eucharist before the pointing out of the traitor, etc. He was apparently led to this by the mention of the first cup of wine, vv. 17, 18. Afterwards he returns and narrates the previous circumstances.

In the present section, Jesus first declares that one of the twelve shall betray him; they in amazement inquire, "Lord, is it I? is it I?" and Peter makes a sign to John, leaning on Jesus' bosom, that he should ask, who it was. John does so; and Jesus gives him privately a sign by which he may know the traitor, viz. the sop. The amazement and inquiry still continuing, Jesus gives the sop to Judas; who then conscience-smitten, but desiring to conceal his confusion, asks as the others had done, "Lord, is it I?" Jesus answers him, and he immediately goes out, before the institution of the Eucharist; comp. John 13, 26 sq.—For John 13, 28, 29, see Introd. Note, p. 204.

§ 136. Mark says, "Before the cock crow twice," v. 30; the other Evangelists have simply, "Before the cock crow;" see Note on § 144.

§ 137. The institution of the Lord's Supper took place obviously at the close of the passover-meal, and in connection with the "cup of blessing," or third cup, which terminated the meal proper; comp. 1 Cor. 10, 16, and see p. 199 above. With this view accords the expression "after supper," in Luke 22, 20; and so 1 Cor. 11, 25. Matthew and Mark speak of Jesus as breaking the bread "as they were eating;" which implies nothing more than "during the meal," while they were yet eating; and does not require the institution of the bread to be separated from that of the cup.

§ 142. Matthew relates that our Lord went away thrice and prayed. Mark speaks of his going away twice only, but mentions his coming again the third time, v. 41; and therefore accords with Matthew. According to Luke, Jesus goes away and prays, and an angel strengthens him; after which he prays the "more earnestly," v. 44. The three Evangelists, therefore, agree in their narratives.

§ 143. Jesus advances to meet the crowd, and declares himself to be the person whom they sought. At the same time Judas, in order to fulfil his bargain, comes up and salutes him with a kiss.

§ 144. An oriental house is usually built around a quadrangular interior court; into which there is a passage (sometimes arched) through the front part of the house, closed next the street by a heavy folding gate, with a smaller wicket for single persons, kept by a porter. In the text, the interior court, often paved or flagged, and open to the sky, is the place where the attendants made a fire; and the passage beneath the front of the house, from the street to this court, is the porch in Matth. 26, 71. Mark 14, 68. The place where Jesus stood before the high priest, may have been an open room or place of audience on the ground-floor, in the rear or on one side of the court; such rooms, open in front, being customary. It was close upon the court; for Jesus heard all that was going on around the fire, and turned and looked upon Peter; Luke 22, 61.

Peter's first denial took place at the fire in the middle of the court, on his being questioned by the female porter.—Peter then, according to Matthew and Mark, retreats into the porch or passage leading to the street, where he is again questioned, and makes his second denial. Luke and John do not specify the place. The Evangelists differ in their statements here, as to the person who now questioned him. Mark says the same maid saw him again, and began to question him, v. 69; Matthew has "another maid," v. 71; Luke writes "another," i. e. another man, v. 58; while John uses the indefinite form, they said. As, according to Matthew (v. 71) and Mark (v. 69), there were several persons present, Peter may have been interrogated by several.—The third denial took place an hour after, probably near the fire, or at least within the court, where our Lord and Peter could see each other; Luke 22, 61. Here Matthew and Mark speak of several interrogators, Luke has still "another," and John specifies the servant of the high priest.

The three denials are here placed together for convenience, although during the intervals between them the examination of Jesus was going on before the high priest; the progress of which is given in § 145.

Mark relates that the cock crowed twice, vv. 68. 72; the others speak only of his crowing once. This accords also with their respective accounts of our Lord's prophecy; see § 136. The cock often crows irregularly about midnight or not long after; and again always and regularly about the third hour or day-break. When therefore "the cock-crowing" is spoken of alone, this last is always meant. Hence the name cock-crowing, for the third watch of the night, which ended at the third hour after midnight; Mark 13, 35. Mark therefore here relates more definitely; the others more generally.

§ 145. This examination by Caiaphas, John 18, 19-23, took place soon after Peter's first denial; see § 144. Not improbably the high-priest again withdrew, after having sent off messengers to convoke the Sanhedrim, which met at early dawn, Luke 22, 66.—Luke 22, 63–65 is transposed, in accordance with Matthew and Mark.

§ 146. On John 18, 28, see Introd. Note, p. 201.

§ 149. The scarlet robe of Matth. 27, 28, and the purple robe of John 19, 2, are put for the paludamentum or red military cloak worn by officers; see Adam's Rom. Antiqq. p. 371. The Greek word in Matthew signifies properly coccus-dyed, crimson, and seems to be nearly synonymous with purple; just as purple-red and crimson are often interchanged in English.

§ 150. On the phrase “preparation of the passover,” v. 14, see the Introd. Note, p. 202. In the same verse, the expression “about the sixth hour,” does not accord with the “third hour” of Mark 15, 25; see in § 153. But the “third hour” of Mark, as the hour of the crucifixion, is sustained by the whole course of the transactions and circumstances; as also by the fact stated by Matthew, Mark, and Luke, that the darkness commenced at the sixth hour, after Jesus had already for some time hung upon the cross; see § 155. The reading sixth in John is therefore probably an early error of transcription for third, arising out of the similarity of the Greek numeral letters. Indeed, this last reading is found in two of the best manuscripts, as well as several other authorities; so that its external weight is marked by Griesbach as nearly or quite equal to that of the common reading; while the internal evidence in its favour is certainly far greater.—The suggestion of some commentators, that John here computes the hours from midnight, seems to be without any historical foundation. The time also which would thus result, viz. sunrise, would be much too early for the course of events.

§ 151. Judas repented, it would seem, as soon as he saw that Jesus was delivered over to be crucified. Till then he had hoped, perhaps, to enjoy the reward of his treachery, without involving himself in the guilt of his Master's blood.

According to Matthew (v. 5), Judas “strangled,” i. e. hanged himself. Luke says in Acts 1, 18, “falling headlong he burst asunder in the midst.” These two accounts are not inconsistent with each other; the rope breaking, the fall might easily be such as to cause the bursting of the abdomen.

In Acts 1, 18 the word “purchased” is to be taken as expressing the idea: he gave occasion to purchase, was the occasion of purchasing. For such an usage, see Matth. 27, 60. Rom. 14, 15. 1 Cor. 7, 16. 1 Tim. 4, 16. etc.

The quotation in Matth. 27, 9, 10, is found, not in Jeremiah, but in Zech. 11, 12 sq. The reading Jeremiah is therefore most probably an early error of a transcriber, misled by a reminiscence of Jer. 18, 1 sq. The Syriac version, the earliest of all, as also several other versions and manuscripts, have simply “by the prophet;” which is apparently the true reading. Other later authorities read Zechariah.

§ 152. Jesus bore his cross at first; but he being probably faint from exhaustion, Simon was compelled to bear it after him.

The “vinegar mingled with gall” of Matthew 27, 34, is the same with the "wine mingled with myrrh" of Mark 15, 23, viz. cheap acid wine mingled with bitter myrrh. Such a drink was given to persons about to be executed, in order to stupify them. See Lightfoot Hor. Heb. on Matth. 27, 34.

§ 153. Various slight transpositions in the verses are made in this Section, in order to present their parallelism to the eye.—On the four different forms of the title on the cross, see Note on § 15.

§ 154. According to Matthew and Mark, both the malefactors reviled Jesus; while according to Luke, one was penitent. In the former Evangelists, there is here an enallage of number; the plural being put for the singular. This is often done, where the predicate relates strictly to one subject, while yet the writer expresses the idea generally. So Matth. 26, 8 comp. John 12, 4. Matth. 2, 20. 9, 8. Mark 7, 17 comp. Matth. 15, 15. Mark 5, 31 comp. Luke 8, 45. Matth. 24, 1 comp. Mark 13, 1. John 19, 29 comp. Matth. 27, 48. etc.

For the "vinegar" in Luke 23, 36, see note on § 155.

In John 19, 25, the marginal reading of the English version is the proper one, viz. Clopas instead of Cleophas. It is strictly a Greek form of a Hebrew name, which is elsewhere represented by Alpheus.—The Cleopas of Luke 24, 18, is a different name of regular Greek derivation, and belongs to another person.

§ 155. In Matth. 27, 46 Eli is the Hebrew word for my God; and in Mark 15, 34 Eloi is the corresponding Aramaean word for the same.

The "vinegar" in Matth. 22, 48 and the parallel verses, is here the posca or common drink of the Roman soldiers, viz. cheap acid wine mingled with water. In Matthew and Mark the sponge is said to be put upon a reed; in John, upon hyssop. Here probably a stalk or stem of hyssop is to be understood; the cross not being of any great height. The particular plant designated by the hyssop of the Hebrews, has not yet been fully ascertained by botanists. It probably included not only the modern hyssop of the shops, but also other aromatic plants, as mint, wild marjoram, etc.

§ 156. Matth. 27, 55. 56, etc. refers to a later point of time than John 19, 25 sq. Mary and the other women had now retired to a distance from the scene of suffering.

It was according to custom among the Jews, that the bodies of persons publicly executed should be taken down and buried before sunset. Thus Josephus, B. J. 4. 5. 2: "So great care did the Jews take respecting sepulture, that even the bodies of those condemned to be crucified they took down and buried before sunset."

PART IX.

OUR LORD'S RESURRECTION, HIS SUBSEQUENT APPEARANCES, AND HIS ASCENSION.

§§ 159—173.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

A FULL discussion upon this part of the Gospel History, embracing a review of the main difficulties in the way of harmonizing the accounts of the four Evangelists, was published by the author of these Notes, in the Bibliotheca Sacra for Feb. 1845, p. 162 sq. To this the student is referred for a more complete examination of the subject.

It is no doubt true, that more of these apparent difficulties are found in this short portion of the Gospels, than in almost all the rest. This has its cause in the circumstance, that each of the sacred writers here follows an eclectic method, and records only what appertained to his own particular purpose or experience. Thus many of the minor and connecting facts have not been preserved; and the data are therefore wanting to make out a full and complete harmony of all the accounts, without an occasional resort to something of hypothesis. Had we all the facts, we may well rest assured, that this part of the sacred history would at once prove to be as exact, as consistent, and as complete, as any and every other portion of the Word of God.

The general results of the investigations upon which we are now entering, may be presented in the following summary view of the events and circumstances connected with our Lord's resurrection and ascension, in the order of their occurrence.

The resurrection took place at or before early dawn on the first day of the week; when there was an earthquake, and an angel descended and rolled away the stone from the sepulchre and sat upon it; so that the keepers became as dead men from terror. At early dawn, the same morning, the women who had attended on Jesus, viz. Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, Joanna, Salome, and others, went out with spices to the sepulchre in order further to embalm the Lord's body. They inquire among themselves, who should remove for them the stone which closed the sepulchre. On their arrival they find the stone already rolled away. The Lord had risen. The women knowing nothing of all that had taken place, were amazed; they enter the tomb, and find not the body of the Lord, and are greatly perplexed. At this time Mary Magdalene, impressed with the idea that the body had been stolen away, leaves the sepulchre and the other women, and runs to the city to tell Peter and John.

The other women remain still in the tomb; and immediately two angels appear, who announce unto them that Jesus is risen from the dead, and give them a charge in his name for the Apostles. They go out quickly from the sepulchre, and proceed in haste to the city to make this known to the disciples. On the way Jesus meets them, permits them to embrace his feet, and renews the same charge to the Apostles. The women relate these things to the disciples; but their words seem to them as idle tales, and they believe them not.

Meantime Peter and John had run to the sepulchre, and entering in had found it empty. But the orderly arrangement of the grave-clothes and of the napkin, convinced John that the body had not been removed either by violence or by friends; and the germ of a belief sprung up in his mind, that the Lord had risen. The two returned to the city. Mary Magdalene, who had again followed them to the sepulchre, remained standing and weeping before it; and looking in she saw two angels sitting. Turning around she sees Jesus; who gives to her also a solemn charge for his disciples.

The further sequence of events, consisting chiefly of our Lord's appearances, presents comparatively few difficulties. The various manifestations which the Saviour made of himself to his disciples and others, as recorded by the Evangelists and Paul, may accordingly be arranged and enumerated as follows:

1. To the women returning from the sepulchre. Reported only by Matthew. See § 162.
2. To Mary Magdalene, at the sepulchre. By John and Mark. § 164.
3. To Peter, perhaps early in the afternoon. By Luke and Paul. § 166.
4. To the two disciples going to Emmaus, towards evening. By Luke and Mark. § 166.
5. To the Apostles (except Thomas) assembled at evening. By Mark, Luke, John, and Paul. § 167.
N. B. These five appearances all took place at or near Jerusalem, upon the first day of the week, the same day on which the Lord arose.
6. To the Apostles, Thomas being present, eight days afterwards at Jerusalem. Only by John. § 168.
7. To seven of the Apostles on the shore of the Lake of Tiberias. Only by John. § 169.
8. To the eleven Apostles and to five hundred other Brethren, on a mountain in Galilee. By Matthew and Paul. § 170.
9. To James, probably at Jerusalem. Only by Paul. § 171.
10. To the eleven at Jerusalem, immediately before the ascension. By Luke in Acts, and by Paul. § 171.

Then follows the ascension. § 172.

§ 159. The women had rested on the seventh day, according to Luke 23, 56; and the Sabbath being past, Mark relates (v. 1) that they brought spices to anoint the body. This purchase would seem to have been made before the Sabbath; see Luke 23, 56.

The angel had descended and the earthquake had taken place, before the arrival of the women. Our Lord therefore had arisen from the tomb at or before early dawn. See the next Note.—Verses 2–4 of Matthew are here transposed into their natural order. As they stand in Matthew, they should be read as in the pluperfect: “had been” and “had rolled away.”

The body of our Lord was laid in the sepulchre before sunset on Friday; and he rose early on the morning of Sunday. He therefore rose on the third day; having lain in the tomb during one whole day and a part of two others; in all not far from thirty-six hours. On the expressions: the third day and after three days, see Note on § 49.

§ 160. The point of time when the women visited the sepulchre is very definitely marked by all four of the Evangelists, by expressions which all go to fix the time at what we call early dawn, or early twilight; after the break of day, but while the light is yet struggling with darkness.

But Mark, in v. 2, has added the phrase: “at the rising of the sun.” These words seem, at first, to be directly at variance with the language of the other three Evangelists, and with the “very early” of Mark himself. Yet as Mark, by the expression “very early,” has definitely fixed the time in accordance with all the other Evangelists, we cannot suppose that by the subsequent phrase “at the rising of the sun,” he meant to contradict himself and them. He must therefore have employed this latter expression in a broader and less definite sense, not inconsistent with the other. As the sun is the source of light and day, and his earliest rays produce the contrast between night and dawn, so the term sun-rising might easily come in popular usage, by a metonymy of cause for effect, to be put for all that earlier interval, when his rays still struggling with darkness do yet usher in the day.

Accordingly, we find such a popular usage existing among the Hebrews and in the Old Testament. Thus in Judg. 9, 33, Zebul, after directing Abimelech to lie in wait with his people in the field during the night, goes on to say: “And it shall be, in the morning, as soon as the sun is up, thou shalt rise early and set upon the city.” Here we have the very same reference to the sun-rising; and yet we cannot for a moment suppose that Abimelech was to wait till the sun actually appeared above the horizon, before he made his onset. So the Psalmist, Ps. 104, 22, speaking of the young lions that by night roar after their prey, proceeds thus: “The sun ariseth, they gather themselves together, and lay them down in their dens.” But beasts of prey do not wait for the actual appearance of the sun above the horizon ere they shrink away to their lairs; the break of day, the dawning light, is the signal for their retreat. See also Sept. 2 K. 3, 22. 2 Sam. 23, 4. In all these passages the language is entirely parallel to that of Mark 16, 2; and they fully illustrate and confirm the principle, that the sun-rising is here used by Mark in a popular sense, as equivalent to the rising of the day, or early dawn.

There was probably something in respect to Mary Magdalene, which gave her a peculiar prominence in these transactions. This may be inferred from the fact, that John mentions Mary Magdalene, and her alone; while the other Evangelists likewise name her first, as if holding the most conspicuous place.—On the different names and number of the women, as narrated by the different Evangelists, see Note on § 57.

Mary Magdalene, amazed at not finding the body of Jesus, and supposing it to have been stolen, leaves the other women, probably in the sepulchre, and returns to the city to tell Peter and John. To them she uses the phrase “we know not,” v. 2, meaning herself and the other women; but afterwards, when she speaks to the angels, it is “I know not,” v. 13.

§ 161. Luke speaks of two angels; Matthew and Mark of only one; see the Note on § 57.—Mark says he was sitting; Luke speaks of them apparently as standing, v. 4. But the Greek word, in its appropriate and acknowledged usage, is to appear suddenly, to be suddenly present, without reference to its etymology; comp. Luke 2, 9. Acts 12, 7.

In Matthew, the angel addresses the women apparently while still sitting on the stone outside of the sepulchre; in Mark and Luke, on the contrary, the conversation takes place in the sepulchre. But although Matthew does not speak of the women as entering the tomb, yet in v. 8 he describes them as coming out of it; so that of course his account too implies, that the interview took place within the tomb, as narrated by Mark and Luke.

In recording the charge sent by the angels to the Apostles, Matthew and Mark dwell more upon Galilee; and Luke more upon the Lord's previous announcement of his resurrection.

§ 162. It is evident that Mary Magdalene was not with the other women, when Jesus thus met them on their return. Her language to Peter and John forbids the supposition, that she had already seen the Lord; see John 20, 2. See too Biblioth. Sacra, Feb. 1845, p. 171.

§ 163. Mary Magdalene had gone to Peter and John only; who would seem to have lodged by themselves in a different part of the city. The other women went apparently to the rest of the disciples. When therefore it is here said of John, on his entering the sepulchre (v. 8), that "he saw and believed," this is not at variance with v. 9, nor yet with Luke 24, 11. What was it that John thus believed? Not the mere report of Mary Magdalene, that the body had been taken away; for so much he must have known and believed, when he stooped down and looked into the sepulchre. His belief must have been of something more and greater. The grave-clothes lying orderly in their place, and the napkin folded together by itself, made it evident that the tomb had not been rifled, nor the body stolen by violent hands; for these garments and the spices would have been of more value to thieves, than merely a naked corpse; at least, thieves would not have taken the pains thus to fold the garments together. The same circumstances showed also that the body had not been removed by friends; for they would not thus have left the grave-clothes behind. All these considerations excited in the mind of John the germ of a belief, that Jesus was risen from the dead. He believed because he saw; "for as yet they knew not the Scripture," v. 9. He now began to recall and understand our Lord's repeated declaration, that he was to rise again on the third day; a declaration on which the Jews had already acted in setting a watch. See Matth. 16, 21, 17, 23. Luke 9, 22. 24, 6, 7. etc. Matth. 27, 63 sq. In this way, the apparent want of connection (sometimes urged) between verses 8 and 9, disappears.

§ 164. Mary Magdalene now manifestly sees the angels for the first time; and this circumstance also goes to show, that she had previously left the other women at the sepulchre before the angels appeared to them.

A main difficulty occurs here in fixing the order of time, between our Lord's appearance to Mary Magdalene and that to the other women in § 162. This arises from the use of the word first in Mark 16, 9, which seems to imply that this appearance to Mary Magdalene was the first of all: "he appeared first to Mary Magdalene." Yet the whole course of events and circumstances shows conclusively, that Jesus had previously appeared to the other women. We are therefore compelled, and that in accordance with good and ordinary usage, to regard "first" as put here not absolutely, but relatively. That is to say, Mark narrates three and only three appearances of our Lord; of these three that to Mary Magdalene takes place first, and that to the assembled disciples the same evening occurs last, Mark 16, 14, where our translators have used the word afterward, which is less correct. Now as the word for last is here put relatively, and does not exclude the subsequent appearances of our Lord to Thomas and in Galilee; so too first stands here relatively, and does not exclude the previous appearance to the other women.

In this way the whole difficulty in the case before us vanishes; and the complex and cumbrous machinery of earlier commentators becomes superfluous. See more in the Greek Harmony, p. 232.

§ 166. This appearance of our Lord to Peter, is mentioned only by Paul and by Luke, v. 34. It had not taken place when the two disciples left Jerusalem for Emmaus; or at least they had not heard of it. It had occurred when they returned; and that long enough before to have been fully reported to all the disciples and believed by them. It may perhaps have happened about the time the two disciples set off, or shortly afterwards.

On the name Cleopas, see Note on § 154. This is a different person from the Cleophas (Clopas) of John 19, 26.

§ 167. Paul speaks of the Apostles by their usual appellation, as the twelve, 1 Cor. 15, 5; Matthew, Mark, and Luke here speak of them as the eleven; Matth. 28, 16. Mark 16, 14. Luke 24, 33. Yet on this particular occasion, only ten were actually present; see John 20, 24.

When the disciples beheld their risen Lord, they thought they saw a spirit. Jesus reassures them; and presents to them indubitable evidence, that the same body of flesh and bones which had been crucified and laid in the sepulchre, was now risen and alive before them. On the general subject of the nature of our Lord's resurrection body, see a full discussion by the author of these Notes in the Bibliotheca Sacra for May, 1845, p. 292 sq.

Then follows our Lord's charge and commission to the eleven Apostles, delivered to them here in private by themselves; and distinct from the public and more general commission recorded in Matth. 28, 19, 20.—As a symbol of this commission to them in particular, and of the power which they should shortly receive through the Spirit imparted from on high, "he breathed on them, and said, Receive ye the Holy Ghost;" John 20, 22. There was in this emblem a recognition and reiteration of the gracious promise of the Spirit before made; which was to be abundantly fulfilled on the day of Pentecost. See John 14, 26, 16, 7 sq. Acts 2, 1 sq.

§ 169. This appearance of our Lord to the seven disciples at the Lake of Galilee, is shown to have preceded that upon the mountain, by John 21, 14. It was his third appearance to the Apostles; see §§ 167, 168. They were now waiting the appointed time, to meet Jesus upon a certain mountain; Matth. 28, 16.

§ 170. The set time had now come; and the eleven disciples went away into the mountain, "where Jesus had appointed them." It would seem probable, that this time and place had been appointed by our Lord for a solemn and more public interview, not only with the eleven whom he had already met more than once, but with all his disciples in Galilee; and that therefore it was on this same occasion, when, according to Paul, “he was seen of above five hundred brethren at once.” That the interview in Matthew was not confined to the eleven alone, seems evident from the fact that “some doubted;” for this could hardly be supposed true of any of the eleven, after what had already happened to them in Jerusalem and Galilee, and after having been appointed to meet their risen Lord at this very time and place. The appearance to the five hundred must at any rate be referred to Galilee; for even after our Lord’s ascension, the number of the names in Jerusalem were together only about an hundred and twenty; Acts 1, 15. And further, Paul in enumerating the appearances of Jesus, in 1 Cor. 15, 5–8, specifies only those to Apostles, with this one single exception; which therefore seems of itself to imply, that the eleven also were here included. I therefore, with many leading commentators, do not hesitate to regard the interviews thus described by Matthew and Paul, as identical. It was a great and solemn occasion. Our Lord had directed, that the eleven and all his disciples in Galilee should thus be convened upon the mountain. It was the closing scene of his ministry in Galilee. Here his life had been spent. Here most of his mighty works had been done and his discourses held. Here his followers were as yet most numerous. He therefore here takes leave on earth of those among whom he had lived and laboured longest; and repeats to all his disciples in public the solemn charge, which he had already given in private to the Apostles: “Go ye therefore and teach all nations;—and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.” It was doubtless the Lord’s last interview with his disciples in that region; his last great act in Galilee.

§ 171. Luke relates, in Acts 1, 3, that Jesus showed himself alive to the Apostles “after his passion, by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days, and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God.” This would seem to imply interviews and communications, as to which we have little more than this very general notice. One of these may have been the appearance to James, mentioned only by Paul (1 Cor. 15, 7), and subsequent to that to the five hundred brethren. It may be referred with most probability to Jerusalem, after the return of the Apostles from Galilee.

Afterwards, our Lord again, according to Paul, “was seen of all the Apostles.” This was apparently an appointed meeting; the same which Luke speaks of in Jerusalem, immediately before the ascension. It was of course the Lord’s last interview with his Apostles.

§ 172. During the preceding discourse, Acts 1, 7, 8 (§ 171), or in immediate connection with it, our Lord leads the Apostles out as far as to Bethany; and lifting up his hands he blessed them; Luke 24, 50. This act of blessing must be understood, by all the laws of language, as having taken place at or near Bethany. “And it came to pass, WHILE he blessed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into heaven.” Our Lord’s ascension, then, took place at or near Bethany. Indeed, the sacred writer could hardly have found words to express the fact more definitely and fully; and a doubt on this point could never have suggested itself to the mind of any reader, but for the language of the same sacred writer in Acts 1, 12, where he relates that after the ascension the disciples “returned unto Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet.” Luke obviously did not mean to contradict himself; and the most that this expression can be made to imply, is, that from Bethany, where their Lord had ascended, which lies on the eastern slope of the Mount of Olives, a mile or more below the summit of the ridge, the disciples returned to Jerusalem by a path across the mount. Indeed, Bethany is described in the New Testament as connected with, or as part of, the Mount of Olives; as “at the Mount of Olives,” Mark 11, 1. Luke 19, 29. And further, where Matthew and Mark speak of Jesus, during the week of his passion, as going out at evening from Jerusalem to lodge at Bethany, Luke says expressly that he went out at night and abode in the Mount of Olives; see Matth. 21, 17. Mark 11, 11. 19. 20. Luke 21, 37. This serves to show, that Luke, in c. 24, 50 and Acts 1, 12, uses the terms Bethany and Mount of Olives interchangeably, and almost as synonymous.

Yet from this remark in Acts there arose, probably early in the fourth century, the legend which fixed the place of the ascension on the reputed summit of the Mount of Olives. If that was indeed the true spot, then our Lord ascended from it in full view of all the inhabitants of Jerusalem; a circumstance not hinted at by the sacred writers, nor at all in accordance with the life and character of the Saviour.
